United Nations Council Defers Arms Question

Albanian Issue Is Kept On Calendar

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 20—(AP)—Overriding Russian and Polish opposition, the United Nations Security Council today approved an American request to put off consideration of world-wide arms reduction for two weeks.

The 9 to 2 vote on the arms motion came after the Soviet Union lost a fight to keep British charges against Albania off the council's agenda. The ballot there was 10 to 0 with Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko abstaining.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, asked for arms postponement because of Gen. George C. Marshall's taking over as Secretary of State and to enable the delegation to study more carefully a series of preliminary proposals already submitted by other countries.

Not Trying To Delay Decision

Austin stressed that he was not attempting to delay a decision but felt that a period of consideration might in the long run hasten and expedite consideration of a final plan.

He declared that the United States regarded "disarmament as one of the most important ways of putting an end to war."

Gromyko indicated that the United States merely wanted more time to prepare to push its original suggestion that control of atomic energy be given priority over arms reduction plans. He demanded that the council immediately continue the arms debate.

Dr. Oscar Lange, the Polish delegate, did not speak but voted with Russia.

After Gromyko lost the fight to keep the Albanian case off the calendar, a debate developed over when the council should take up the complaint. Delegates agreed that Albania, not a member of the United Nations, should be invited to send a representative to take part in the debate and Gromyko insisted that the case be held up until such an envoy arrived.

Makin Is Upheld

Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate, asked that the case be opened Wednesday whether Albania was present or not. Gromyko renewed his objection and Chairman Norman J. O. Makin, of Australia, finally called for a "vote of confidence" on his proposal to set the date himself. Makin was upheld 10 to 0, with Gromyko abstaining, and the time of the next session thus was left in the hands of Makin, probably Friday.

In its complaint, the British charged Albania with responsibility for sowing mines in the Corfu channel just off the Albanian coast. Last October 22 two British destroyers struck mines there with 44 casualties.

The British contended that they had made fruitless efforts at direct negotiations with the Albanian government, which rejected the charges and in turn accused the British of invading territorial waters.

Four Children Perish In Fire At Farm Home

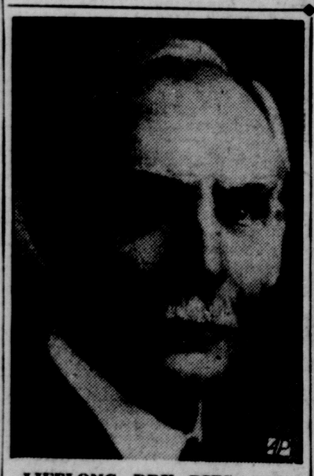
CHESANING, Mich., Jan. 20—(AP)—Four children were reported burned to death and their 26-year-old mother was critically burned in an explosion and fire at their farm home north of here tonight.

The four dead were children of Mrs. Mary Courter, 26, who was taken to Saginaw General Hospital suffering from severe burns, over most of her body. The children ranged in age from seven months to four years but their names were not immediately available.

Two other children were reported to have suffered burns, but their condition was not believed serious.

Sheriff William A. Munroe said the blast occurred when the father of the children poured kerosene into a coal stove to start a fire.

Andrew Volstead, Father Of Prohibition Act, Dies



LIFELONG DRY DIES—Andrew J. Volstead, above, who fathered the Volstead Prohibition Act, died yesterday at Granite Falls, Minn. He was 87.

Former Minnesota Congressman Was 87

GRANITE FALLS, Minn., Jan. 20. (AP)—Andrew J. Volstead, former Minnesota congressman and father of the Volstead Prohibition Act, died today. He was 87.

Volstead, a lifelong dry, had been in poor health for years and had abandoned daily visits to his Granite Falls law office four years ago. He had lived the life of a country lawyer, devoting himself largely to probate cases and took little part in community activities. Even appeals from his friends that he lead the fight against establishment of a municipal liquor store in 1942 went unheeded. The "wets" won.

A native Minnesotan, Volstead was elected to Congress on the Republican ticket in 1903, after serving as mayor, city attorney and county attorney in his home community. In Congress, he sponsored measures to repeal broad powers granted the President during World War I, fathered the Farmers' Cooperative Act, in addition to the Prohibition Act.

He resumed his law practice in 1922 following defeat by Paul J. Kvale, also a dry. All during his life he declined to be interviewed or photographed and refused numerous offers to write about his life, the Volstead Act and his philosophy.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Carl Lomen. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

For seven years following his retirement from Congress he helped to enforce the prohibition law as legal adviser to the Northwest prohibition office in St. Paul.

He was a staunch defender of prohibition right up to the time of repeal, declaring the liquor ban had improved moral conditions and insisting that "law does regulate morality, has regulated morality ever since the Ten Commandments were given."

"Gag Rule" Cry Heard As Budget Group Organizes

Subcommittee To Do Actual Work Named

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—A Democratic cry of "gag rule" mingled with renewed Republican demands for budget and tax cutting today as an unprecedented congressional committee organized to review President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget and put its own ceiling on spending.

Tempers flared as the 102-member Senate-House Budget Committee, created by the new Reorganization Act, held its first meeting behind closed doors and named a 20-man sub-committee to do the actual work—12 Republicans and eight Democrats.

O'Mahoney Shouts "Gag Rule"

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) emerged from the executive session shouting to newsmen:

"A gag rule has been adopted at the beginning of this Congress. The committee has voted to give carte blanche authority to a 20-man subcommittee, with members of the full committee denied an opportunity to voice their views. The subcommittee will not even tell the whole committee when it is meeting."

To which Rep. Keefe (R-Wis), who was not named to the subcommittee, replied:

"O'Mahoney is crazy as a bedbug if he says it's a gag rule."

Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill), of the subcommittee, explained it was set up to expedite the work. The full committee is required to arrive at a spending ceiling before February 15. Dirksen emphasized that the subcommittee will report to the full committee before the recommendations are presented to the Senate and House.

Taber Chosen Chairman

Tall, white-haired Chairman Taber (R-NY), of the House Appropriations Committee, who has promised to use a "sledgehammer and meat-axe" on Mr. Truman's spending program, was chosen chairman of the budget committee and this, too, aroused controversy.

Some urged that the chairmanship be rotated among the chairmen of the two Senate and two House committees whose members make up the 102-man joint group. These are in addition to Taber, Rep. Knutson, of Ways and Means, and Sen. Bridges (R-NH), of Appropriations, and Millikin (R-Colo), of Finance.

This matter was put off to a future session. Bridges was named vice-chairman.

Police, Probing Murder Of Girl, Free Salesman

Manley Is Cleared In Mutilation Killing

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20 (AP)—Robert Manley, red-haired salesman and former Army musician, was released from custody late today after he had been questioned for hours and subjected to lie detector tests in connection with the mutilation slaying of attractive Elizabeth Short, 22.

The police homicide squad said Manley had been cleared of connection with the slaying.

Capt. Jack Donahoe had said early in the questioning that "most of the evidence seems to be on Manley's side."

Knew Girl In San Diego

Manley, 25, who was booked on suspicion of murder when he returned last night from a trip to San Francisco, was quoted by officers as saying he knew Miss Short, 22, in San Diego and drove her to Los Angeles January 9, six days before her nude and bisected body was found on a vacant lot.

Capt. Donahoe said Manley told detectives that he had a date with Miss Short in San Diego about December 16. Manley, Donahoe added, said he met the girl again on another trip to San Diego January 8 and that he drove her to Los Angeles, arriving the following day. Manley told officers he left her at a Los Angeles hotel "and that's the last I've ever seen of poor Beth."

At his home in South Gate, near Los Angeles, Manley's wife, Harriet, 22, declared he worked all day last Tuesday, the day before the body was discovered, and visited friends with her Tuesday night.

Relatives Of Victim Questioned

Meantime Detective Lt. Ray Geise, of the homicide squad, questioned relatives of the slain girl in an attempt to throw light on her background.

The mother, Mrs. Phoebe May Short, Medford, Mass., told Geise: "She was a very friendly girl." Both the mother and a sister, Mrs. Virginia West, said they would prefer not to identify the body unless it was "absolutely necessary." They said they wanted to remember their daughter and sister as she was when they last saw her.

U. S. Steel, Union Will Begin Talks Next Friday

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20. (AP)—The once-postponed collective bargaining negotiations between the United States Steel Corporation and the CIO-United Steel Workers for 175,000 workers will begin in Pittsburgh next Friday, the corporation said tonight.

The bargaining conferences originally were set for a week ago Thursday but were called off by "mutual agreement."

United States Steel said in a statement the conferences will open in the William Penn Hotel at 9:30 a. m. (EST). The negotiations will cover five United States Steel subsidiaries.

PLANE CRASHES, BURNS—A WAVE medical corpsman was killed and 20 others were injured when a four-engine Navy hospital plane crashed and burned while making a radar-controlled landing at Oakland, Calif., airport yesterday. The undercarriage was sheared off by a four-foot rock dike at the edge of the field and the ship skidded an estimated 1,000 feet, disintegrating as it slewed about, before it came to rest in flames.

Portal-To-Portal Pay Controversy Is Kept Bubbling

Judge Picard Probe Urged By Eastland

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—An investigation "with a view to impeachment" of Federal Judge Frank Picard, author of the basic portal pay decision, was suggested today by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss).

Eastland, member of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee considering bills to outlaw more than $4,000,000,000 of portal pay suits, proposed the action after a Chrysler Corporation attorney, Theodore R. Iserman, testified the judge declared himself "pro-labor" and tried to get a jury to reverse a verdict, which was in favor of the company.

Picard commented in New York that he is both "pro-labor" and "pro-capital" but his decisions never have been "influenced by those feelings."

Controversy Kept Bubbling

Two other developments, too, kept the portal pay controversy bubbling:

1. Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), of the House Labor Committee, announced he will introduce legislation in that chamber tomorrow to outlaw the suits. His statement declared the Supreme Court "misinterpreted the plain intent of Congress" in its portal decision and that his bill will "prohibit legalized grand larceny."

2. Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel, named Tom Patton, attorney for the Republic Steel Corporation, as the industry representative to whom he referred in Saturday testimony which startled the senators.

He testified then that the CIO had proposed collective bargaining on the portal claims and that an industry spokesman replied:

Pressman Names Patton

"We have no need to because we have discussed this with representatives of Congress and we feel certain there will be legislation amending the Fair Labor Act and depriving the employes of any rights to which they may be entitled under the court decision."

When senators asked the representative's name, Pressman refused to tell it on the ground that it would violate collective bargaining confidences. Chairman Donnell (R-Mo) then demanded that Pressman reveal the name by today or cite legal authority for his refusal.

Students Plan To March On Ga. Capitol Today As Talmadge Stands Pat

Seven Men Laboring Night, Day To Save Dog Trapped In Cave

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Jan. 20—(AP)—Seven men, working day and night since early Saturday, were fighting against time today in their efforts to rescue a small fox terrier trapped in a mountain cave near here.

The men, attracted by the dog's frightened barking, crawled into the cave and found the only way the dog could be rescued was by digging around a large boulder.

Considerable digging remained to be done today before the dog could be set free.

Rival Tells Thompson There's "No Vacancy"

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 20 (AP)—Herman Talmadge stood pat today on claim to Georgia's disputed governorship, and Lt.-Gov. M. E. Thompson immediately established rival executive offices on another floor of the state Capitol, pending court adjudication.

Talmadge rebuffed Thompson in a brief, face-to-face exchange when Thompson demanded surrender of the executive offices and Governor's mansion lately occupied by Gov. Ellis Arnall, who resigned Saturday.

Said Talmadge: "You have no right to claim this office. There is no vacancy. The General Assembly of Georgia has elected me as governor."

Students to March

Talmadge, elected by the Legislature last Wednesday morning to the four-year term of his father, the late Eugene Talmadge, has held the executive offices and mansion since ousting Arnall. Thompson, who was sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor last Saturday, said he was taking over as acting Governor upon resignation of Arnall.

The bitter controversy flared into direct action on another front as students from five Atlanta colleges and the University of Georgia at Athens, 70 miles distant, announced plans to march on the Capitol tomorrow. Leaders said "hundreds" would protest Talmadge's seizure of power "by force and violence."

A public mass meeting, sponsored by 25 Atlanta lay and clerical leaders, was arranged for tomorrow night to hear Arnall outline what he described as the case of constitutional government.

Talmadge forces meanwhile won another test of strength in the Legislature when both branches accepted a concurrent resolution inviting Talmadge to address a joint session tomorrow noon.

Thompson leaders unsuccessfully sought to have him invited to talk too. During heated debate, Rep. Adie Durden shouted that Talmadge was a man "who has only squatters' rights to the governorship."

Cook Recognizes Thompson

Both Thompson and Talmadge have announced they will abide by decision of the Georgia courts, although Talmadge continued to insist that the dispute is beyond court jurisdiction as an act of a sovereign body.

Attorney General Eugene Cook announced he had recognized Thompson as chief executive, and had accepted direction to substitute his name for Arnall's in a suit enjoining Talmadge from exercising authority of Governor. The litigation is set for hearing in Superior (circuit) Court February 7.

Cook said prompt appeal might permit final adjudication by the Georgia Supreme Court by March, but commented: "Neither the defendant, Herman Talmadge, nor his attorneys have indicated a desire to expedite the trial of the suit."

Rival revenue commissioners and rival highway directors occupied adjoining offices across from the Capitol today, but there were no incidents.

Byrnes Keeps His Office Extra Day

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes signed the peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria as his last official act today but kept his office an extra day when bad flying weather delayed Gen. George C. Marshall.

Marshall, flying from the West coast, was grounded at Chicago by the weather. He and his party transferred to a train which will bring them here tomorrow morning.

The swearing-in ceremony, scheduled at the White House at 11 a. m., was put off until tomorrow.

Byrnes' signature of the four peace treaties which he negotiated during 16 difficult months was only a formality. Another ceremony will be held in Paris on February 10 when all the Allies will sign. Then the treaties will be submitted to the Senate for ratification.

Sens. Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Connally (D-Tex) of the Foreign Relations Committee, who aided Byrnes in the negotiations, were at his side for the two-minute ceremony.

Lane Bill Would Limit Governor To Two Terms

Would Put Question To Voters In 1948

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 20 (AP)—Limitation of the tenure of Maryland Governors to two consecutive elected terms was proposed to the General Assembly tonight by Gov. Lane in the first administration measure he has sponsored.

Senate President Byrnes introduced the bill, which calls for submission of a constitutional amendment to the voters in 1948, to place a limit on the number of consecutive terms.

A Governor who had served two terms could, however, wait out one four-year period and run again.

Actually, Lane is in his second term, since he was sworn in January 3 to fill out the last five days of the term of former Gov. O'Conor, now a Senator.

Opening the fourth week of the 1947 session, the Senate devoted itself strictly to routine, and only 13 minutes of that.

After opening preliminaries and introduction of the Lane bill, the senators went into executive session to confirm the Governor's nomination of John T. Farrell, Halethorpe, as trial magistrate of the 13th District, Baltimore County. He succeeds Charles E. Doing, resigned.

House Meets 22 Minutes

The House, meeting only 22 minutes, also received but a single bill—one to require blood tests for venereal disease before issuance of marriage licenses.

The measure, similar to one which has been offered in other sessions, was sponsored by Delegate Reed (D-Balto. 5th).

Delegate Simon L. Downey, (R-Washington), who had not yet appeared at the session because of illness, was sworn in.

An outline of how operations will be carried on for the present, at least, was given to the delegates by Majority Floor Leader Pumphrey (D-Prince George's).

Pumphrey said that since there is little actual floor work to be done just now, the House would meet for brief periods each day and thereby allow committees more time to get their work done.

Those committees which meet in the morning can file their reports that afternoon. Others may meet after the short hour House sessions.

Passengers, Wreckage Scattered Like Chaff

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 20—(AP)—A four-engine Navy hospital plane crashed and burned while making a radar-controlled landing at fog-shrouded Oakland airport today, killing a WAVE medical corpsman and injured the 20 other passengers and crew.

Passengers and wreckage were scattered like chaff over the runway when the big plane struck an embankment at the southeast edge of the airport, exploded and burned.

The plane, flown by the Naval Air Transport Service, was en route east on a regularly scheduled flight from Moffett Field, Calif., near Sunnyvale, only about 40 miles south of Oakland. In addition to its crew of seven, it carried 14 patients and attending nurses.

Four women, two WAVE corpsmen and two Navy nurses, were among the occupants.

Plane's Back Broken

Making what the Navy described as a normal radar, ground-controlled approach to the fog-obscured airport, the plane's back was broken by the impact of the landing. Ensuing explosions shook it for nearly an hour as gasoline-fed fire swept the wreckage.

The injured were picked up from the runway and rushed to the Navy Oak Knoll Hospital after emergency treatment.

Among those escaping with only minor injuries were L. E. Pinkerton, 19, storekeeper third class, Marion, Ohio, and Arthur Chandler, machinist's mate third class (no address).

The plane loaded patients and passengers aboard at Moffett Field, and was landing at Oakland to pick up additional passengers for the flight east.

It roared in over the field area under radar control and an eye witness said it appeared to be making the approach too low, with the pilot correcting a low right wing by slipping to the left. It struck the embankment, or levee, at the southeast edge of the field and exploded.

Visibility Zero

Visibility was virtually zero as the plane came in under control of the radar approach unit. It touched 150 feet short of the runway in the mudflats, and ran evenly for about 50 feet before crashing into the four-foot rock dike at the edge of the field.

The undercarriage was sheared off and the plane skidded an estimated 1,000 feet, disintegrating as it slewed about, before it came to rest in flames. Passengers and wreckage were scattered in its wake.

The Navy said its planes had more than 65,000 "ground-control-approach" radar landings by instrument without an accident until today. This was also the first crash resulting in injury to passengers in more than 1,400,000,000 miles of passenger flying by NATS, the Navy added.

B-29 Crashes; Two Dead

ROTAN, Tex., Jan. 20—(AP)—Two persons were killed and three injured in the crash of an Army B-29 nine miles southwest of Rotan about noon today.

Six survivors parachuted from the craft, which was being ferried from Smoky Hill Army Air Field, Salina, Kan., to Pyote, Tex., Army Air Field. Three of these received only minor injuries.

Lt. E. R. Henningsen, Salina, pilot of the plane, said that a propeller shaft came off and cut into the fuselage, sending the plane out of control. The pilot said he ordered the crew to abandon ship and six members did so. He could not explain why the two men did not jump.

Relations Between Soviet And U. S. Have Improved, Roosevelt Told By Stalin

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt says Josef Stalin told him in a personal interview that "relations have improved" between the Russian and American peoples and "the danger of a new war is not real."

Reporting in the current issue of Look magazine 12 questions Stalin answered when Roosevelt and his wife visited him December 21 in the Kremlin, the son of the late President also quoted Stalin as saying that in the matter of atomic control:

"Russia should be subject to the same rules of inspection and control as any other nation must."

In answer to a question as to the present state of relations between the United States and Russia, Stalin was quoted as saying:

"x x x Between the American and Russian peoples, no deterioration has taken place, but on the contrary relations have improved.

"As to relations between the two governments, there have been misunderstandings. Certain deterioration has taken place and then great noise was raised that their relations would even deteriorate still further. But I see nothing frightful about this in the sense of a violation of peace or military conflict.

"Not a single great power, even if its government were anxious to do so, could now raise a large army to fight another Allied power, another great power, because now one cannot possibly fight without one's people—and the people are unwilling to fight. They are tired of war.

"And besides, there are no understandable objectives to justify a new war. One will not know for what he has to fight and, therefore, I see nothing frightful that some representatives of the United States government are talking about the deterioration of relations between us.

"In view of all these considerations, I think that the danger of a new war is not real."

Police Sell Liquor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Police Department put up for sale today a dust-covered, 18-month accumulation of 1,720 assorted bottles of liquor. In 20 minutes they were "sold out."

Three Washington liquor dealers paid $2,325 for the lot, acquired by police in raids or through abandonment.

Flying To Mexico

Laraine Day, Granted Divorce, Will Become Leo Durocher's Bride Today

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20 (AP)—Movie Atress Laraine Day, obtaining a California divorce today from Airport Executive Ray Hendricks, planned to fly to Mexico tonight with Brooklyn Baseball Manager Leo Durocher and be married to him tomorrow.

Miss Day's agent, Marty Martin, said the actress informed him that she and Durocher planned to be married at once.

"It'll be somewhere in Mexico; Juarez, I think," Martin quoted the actress. "I don't know just where or when, but I know we are going to be married."

Although Miss Day and Durocher were unavailable, her publicity man, Henry Rogers, said she was to get a Mexican divorce tomorrow in Juarez so that she could comply with the Mexican law for marriage.

Courtroom Turnabout

Widow Charged With Slaying Mate After Man She Accused Is Freed

BROCKTON, Mass., Jan. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Surprise Cote, 28-year-old widow, was held on a charge of murdering her husband today in a court which only a few minutes earlier freed the man she said was the slayer and her lover.

The swift courtroom turnabout in the "Christmas tree" bludgeoning of Rene Cote, 34, garage foreman, brought a gasped "not guilty" from Mrs. Cote when the murder charge was read to her just after the order releasing Walter E. Steele, 24-year-old mechanic.

Steele entered the courtroom charged with the murder and Mrs. Cote, mother of a four-year-old daughter, came in as a material witness and refused to testify.

Slight, brown-haired Mrs. Cote sat across the courtroom from Steele and heard a police stenographer read a statement in which she said Steele was her lover. The statement added that in the early morning of December 28 Steele went into the room where her husband was sleeping and then she heard "three thuds."

Attorney Walter J. MacDonald, counsel for Steele, objected to the statement as evidence. Judge William G. Rowe heard his arguments and those of Assistant District Attorney John R. Wheatley and then ruled:

"I don't consider the evidence sufficient to hold a man."

He recessed the court and a few minutes after reopening court Clerk Anthony J. Kupka read the order releasing Steele.

Some courtroom spectators were rising to leave as Kupka then picked up and read a complaint signed by Police Lt. D. Edward Sullivan alleging that Mrs. Cote "did assault and beat with intent to murder Rene Cote x x x and did kill him."

Capt. Jack Donahoe had said early in the questioning that "most of the evidence seems to be on Manley's side."

Knew Girl In San Diego

Manley, 25, who was booked on suspicion of murder when he returned last night from a trip to San Francisco, was quoted by officers as saying he knew Miss Short, 22, in San Diego and drove her to Los Angeles January 9, six days before her nude and bisected body was found on a vacant lot.

Capt. Donahoe said Manley told detectives that he had a date with Miss Short in San Diego about December 16. Manley, Donahoe added, said he met the girl again on another trip to San Diego January 8 and that he drove her to Los Angeles, arriving the following day. Manley told officers he left her at a Los Angeles hotel "and that's the last I've ever seen of poor Beth."

At his home in South Gate, near Los Angeles, Manley's wife, Harriet, 22, declared he worked all day last Tuesday, the day before the body was discovered, and visited friends with her Tuesday night.

Relatives Of Victim Questioned

Meantime Detective Lt. Ray Geise, of the homicide squad, questioned relatives of the slain girl in an attempt to throw light on her background.

The mother, Mrs. Phoebe May Short, Medford, Mass., told Geise: "She was a very friendly girl." Both the mother and a sister, Mrs. Virginia West, said they would prefer not to identify the body unless it was "absolutely necessary." They said they wanted to remember their daughter and sister as she was when they last saw her.

U. S. Steel, Union Will Begin Talks Next Friday

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20. (AP)—The once-postponed collective bargaining negotiations between the United States Steel Corporation and the CIO-United Steel Workers for 175,000 workers will begin in Pittsburgh next Friday, the corporation said tonight.

The bargaining conferences originally were set for a week ago Thursday but were called off by "mutual agreement."

United States Steel said in a statement the conferences will open in the William Penn Hotel at 9:30 a. m. (EST). The negotiations will cover five United States Steel subsidiaries.

PLANE CRASHES, BURNS—A WAVE medical corpsman was killed and 20 others were injured when a four-engine Navy hospital plane crashed and burned while making a radar-controlled landing at Oakland, Calif., airport yesterday. The undercarriage was sheared off by a four-foot rock dike at the edge of the field and the ship skidded an estimated 1,000 feet, disintegrating as it slewed about, before it came to rest in flames.

Portal-To-Portal Pay Controversy Is Kept Bubbling

Judge Picard Probe Urged By Eastland

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—An investigation "with a view to impeachment" of Federal Judge Frank Picard, author of the basic portal pay decision, was suggested today by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss).

Eastland, member of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee considering bills to outlaw more than $4,000,000,000 of portal pay suits, proposed the action after a Chrysler Corporation attorney, Theodore R. Iserman, testified the judge declared himself "pro-labor" and tried to get a jury to reverse a verdict, which was in favor of the company.

Picard commented in New York that he is both "pro-labor" and "pro-capital" but his decisions never have been "influenced by those feelings."

Controversy Kept Bubbling

Two other developments, too, kept the portal pay controversy bubbling:

1. Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), of the House Labor Committee, announced he will introduce legislation in that chamber tomorrow to outlaw the suits. His statement declared the Supreme Court "misinterpreted the plain intent of Congress" in its portal decision and that his bill will "prohibit legalized grand larceny."

2. Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel, named Tom Patton, attorney for the Republic Steel Corporation, as the industry representative to whom he referred in Saturday testimony which startled the senators.

He testified then that the CIO had proposed collective bargaining on the portal claims and that an industry spokesman replied:

Pressman Names Patton

"We have no need to because we have discussed this with representatives of Congress and we feel certain there will be legislation amending the Fair Labor Act and depriving the employes of any rights to which they may be entitled under the court decision."

When senators asked the representative's name, Pressman refused to tell it on the ground that it would violate collective bargaining confidences. Chairman Donnell (R-Mo) then demanded that Pressman reveal the name by today or cite legal authority for his refusal.

Students Plan To March On Ga. Capitol Today As Talmadge Stands Pat

Seven Men Laboring Night, Day To Save Dog Trapped In Cave

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Jan. 20—(AP)—Seven men, working day and night since early Saturday, were fighting against time today in their efforts to rescue a small fox terrier trapped in a mountain cave near here.

The men, attracted by the dog's frightened barking, crawled into the cave and found the only way the dog could be rescued was by digging around a large boulder.

Considerable digging remained to be done today before the dog could be set free.

Rival Tells Thompson There's "No Vacancy"

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 20 (AP)—Herman Talmadge stood pat today on claim to Georgia's disputed governorship, and Lt.-Gov. M. E. Thompson immediately established rival executive offices on another floor of the state Capitol, pending court adjudication.

Talmadge rebuffed Thompson in a brief, face-to-face exchange when Thompson demanded surrender of the executive offices and Governor's mansion lately occupied by Gov. Ellis Arnall, who resigned Saturday.

Said Talmadge: "You have no right to claim this office. There is no vacancy. The General Assembly of Georgia has elected me as governor."

Students to March

Talmadge, elected by the Legislature last Wednesday morning to the four-year term of his father, the late Eugene Talmadge, has held the executive offices and mansion since ousting Arnall. Thompson, who was sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor last Saturday, said he was taking over as acting Governor upon resignation of Arnall.

The bitter controversy flared into direct action on another front as students from five Atlanta colleges and the University of Georgia at Athens, 70 miles distant, announced plans to march on the Capitol tomorrow. Leaders said "hundreds" would protest Talmadge's seizure of power "by force and violence."

A public mass meeting, sponsored by 25 Atlanta lay and clerical leaders, was arranged for tomorrow night to hear Arnall outline what he described as the case of constitutional government.

Talmadge forces meanwhile won another test of strength in the Legislature when both branches accepted a concurrent resolution inviting Talmadge to address a joint session tomorrow noon.

Thompson leaders unsuccessfully sought to have him invited to talk too. During heated debate, Rep. Adie Durden shouted that Talmadge was a man "who has only squatters' rights to the governorship."

Cook Recognizes Thompson

Both Thompson and Talmadge have announced they will abide by decision of the Georgia courts, although Talmadge continued to insist that the dispute is beyond court jurisdiction as an act of a sovereign body.

Attorney General Eugene Cook announced he had recognized Thompson as chief executive, and had accepted direction to substitute his name for Arnall's in a suit enjoining Talmadge from exercising authority of Governor. The litigation is set for hearing in Superior (circuit) Court February 7.

Cook said prompt appeal might permit final adjudication by the Georgia Supreme Court by March, but commented: "Neither the defendant, Herman Talmadge, nor his attorneys have indicated a desire to expedite the trial of the suit."

Rival revenue commissioners and rival highway directors occupied adjoining offices across from the Capitol today, but there were no incidents.

Byrnes Keeps His Office Extra Day

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes signed the peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria as his last official act today but kept his office an extra day when bad flying weather delayed Gen. George C. Marshall.

Marshall, flying from the West coast, was grounded at Chicago by the weather. He and his party transferred to a train which will bring them here tomorrow morning.

The swearing-in ceremony, scheduled at the White House at 11 a. m., was put off until tomorrow.

Byrnes' signature of the four peace treaties which he negotiated during 16 difficult months was only a formality. Another ceremony will be held in Paris on February 10 when all the Allies will sign. Then the treaties will be submitted to the Senate for ratification.

Sens. Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Connally (D-Tex) of the Foreign Relations Committee, who aided Byrnes in the negotiations, were at his side for the two-minute ceremony.

Lane Bill Would Limit Governor To Two Terms

Would Put Question To Voters In 1948

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 20 (AP)—Limitation of the tenure of Maryland Governors to two consecutive elected terms was proposed to the General Assembly tonight by Gov. Lane in the first administration measure he has sponsored.

Senate President Byrnes introduced the bill, which calls for submission of a constitutional amendment to the voters in 1948, to place a limit on the number of consecutive terms.

A Governor who had served two terms could, however, wait out one four-year period and run again.

Actually, Lane is in his second term, since he was sworn in January 3 to fill out the last five days of the term of former Gov. O'Conor, now a Senator.

Opening the fourth week of the 1947 session, the Senate devoted itself strictly to routine, and only 13 minutes of that.

After opening preliminaries and introduction of the Lane bill, the senators went into executive session to confirm the Governor's nomination of John T. Farrell, Halethorpe, as trial magistrate of the 13th District, Baltimore County. He succeeds Charles E. Doing, resigned.

House Meets 22 Minutes

The House, meeting only 22 minutes, also received but a single bill—one to require blood tests for venereal disease before issuance of marriage licenses.

The measure, similar to one which has been offered in other sessions, was sponsored by Delegate Reed (D-Balto. 5th).

Delegate Simon L. Downey, (R-Washington), who had not yet appeared at the session because of illness, was sworn in.

An outline of how operations will be carried on for the present, at least, was given to the delegates by Majority Floor Leader Pumphrey (D-Prince George's).

Pumphrey said that since there is little actual floor work to be done just now, the House would meet for brief periods each day and thereby allow committees more time to get their work done.

Those committees which meet in the morning can file their reports that afternoon. Others may meet after the short hour House sessions.

Passengers, Wreckage Scattered Like Chaff

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 20—(AP)—A four-engine Navy hospital plane crashed and burned while making a radar-controlled landing at fog-shrouded Oakland airport today, killing a WAVE medical corpsman and injured the 20 other passengers and crew.

Passengers and wreckage were scattered like chaff over the runway when the big plane struck an embankment at the southeast edge of the airport, exploded and burned.

The plane, flown by the Naval Air Transport Service, was en route east on a regularly scheduled flight from Moffett Field, Calif., near Sunnyvale, only about 40 miles south of Oakland. In addition to its crew of seven, it carried 14 patients and attending nurses.

Four women, two WAVE corpsmen and two Navy nurses, were among the occupants.

Plane's Back Broken

Making what the Navy described as a normal radar, ground-controlled approach to the fog-obscured airport, the plane's back was broken by the impact of the landing. Ensuing explosions shook it for nearly an hour as gasoline-fed fire swept the wreckage.

The injured were picked up from the runway and rushed to the Navy Oak Knoll Hospital after emergency treatment.

Among those escaping with only minor injuries were L. R. Pinkerton, 19, storekeeper third class, Marion, Ohio, and Arthur Chandler, machinist's mate third class (no address).

The plane loaded patients and passengers aboard at Moffett Field, and was landing at Oakland to pick up additional passengers for the flight east.

It roared in over the field area under radar control and an eye witness said it appeared to be making the approach too low, with the pilot correcting a low right wing by slipping to the left. It struck the embankment, or levee, at the southeast edge of the field and exploded.

Visibility Zero

Visibility was virtually zero as the plane came in under control of the radar approach unit. It touched 150 feet short of the runway in the mudflats, and ran evenly for about 50 feet before crashing into the four-foot rock dike at the edge of the field.

The undercarriage was sheared off and the plane skidded an estimated 1,000 feet, disintegrating as it slewed about, before it came to rest in flames. Passengers and wreckage were scattered in its wake.

The Navy said its planes had more than 65,000 "ground-control-approach" radar landings by instrument without an accident until today. This was also the first crash resulting in injury to passengers in more than 1,400,000,000 miles of passenger flying by NATS, the Navy added.

B-29 Crashes; Two Dead

ROTAN, Tex., Jan. 20—(AP)—Two persons were killed and three injured in the crash of an Army B-29 nine miles southwest of Rotan about noon today.

Six survivors parachuted from the craft, which was being ferried from Smoky Hill Army Air Field, Salina, Kan., to Pyote, Tex., Army Air Field. Three of these received only minor injuries.

Lt. E. R. Henningsen, Salina, pilot of the plane, said that a propeller shaft came off and cut into the fuselage, sending the plane out of control. The pilot said he ordered the crew to abandon ship and six members did so. He could not explain why the two men did not jump.

Relations Between Soviet And U. S. Have Improved, Roosevelt Told By Stalin

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt says Josef Stalin told him in a personal interview that "relations have improved" between the Russian and American peoples and "the danger of a new war is not real."

Reporting in the current issue of Look magazine 12 questions Stalin answered when Roosevelt and his wife visited him December 21 in the Kremlin, the son of the late President also quoted Stalin as saying that in the matter of atomic control:

"Russia should be subject to the same rules of inspection and control as any other nation must."

In answer to a question as to the present state of relations between the United States and Russia, Stalin was quoted as saying:

"x x x Between the American and Russian peoples, no deterioration has taken place, but on the contrary relations have improved.

"As to relations between the two governments, there have been misunderstandings. Certain deterioration has taken place and then great noise was raised that their relations would even deteriorate still further. But I see nothing frightful about this in the sense of a violation of peace or military conflict.

"Not a single great power, even if its government were anxious to do so, could now raise a large army to fight another Allied power, another great power, because now one cannot possibly fight without one's people—and the people are unwilling to fight. They are tired of war.

"And besides, there are no understandable objectives to justify a new war. One will not know for what he has to fight and, therefore, I see nothing frightful that some representatives of the United States government are talking about the deterioration of relations between us.

"In view of all these considerations, I think that the danger of a new war is not real."

Flying To Mexico

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20 (AP)—Movie Atress Laraine Day, obtaining a California divorce today from Airport Executive Ray Hendricks, planned to fly to Mexico tonight with Brooklyn Baseball Manager Leo Durocher and be married to him tomorrow.

Miss Day's agent, Marty Martin, said the actress informed him that she and Durocher planned to be married at once.

"It'll be somewhere in Mexico; Juarez, I think," Martin quoted the actress. "I don't know just where or when, but I know we are going to be married."

Although Miss Day and Durocher were unavailable, her publicity man, Henry Rogers, said she was to get a Mexican divorce tomorrow in Juarez so that she could comply with the Mexican law for marriage.

Courtroom Turnabout

Widow Charged With Slaying Mate After Man She Accused Is Freed

BROCKTON, Mass., Jan. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Surprise Cote, 28-year-old widow, was held on a charge of murdering her husband today in a court which only a few minutes earlier freed the man she said was the slayer and her lover.

The swift courtroom turnabout in the "Christmas tree" bludgeoning of Rene Cote, 34, garage foreman, brought a gasped "not guilty" from Mrs. Cote when the murder charge was read to her just after the order releasing Walter E. Steele, 24-year-old mechanic.

Steele entered the courtroom cnarged with the murder and Mrs. Cote, mother of a four-year-old daughter, came in as a material witness and refused to testify.

Slight, brown-haired Mrs. Cote sat across the courtroom from Steele and heard a police stenographer read a statement in which she said Steele was her lover. The statement added that in the early morning of December 28 Steele went into the room where her husband was sleeping and then she heard "three thuds."

Attorney Walter J. MacDonald, counsel for Steele, objected to the statement as evidence. Judge William G. Rowe heard his arguments and those of Assistant District Attorney John R. Wheatley and then ruled:

"I don't consider the evidence sufficient to hold a man."

He recessed the court and a few minutes after reopening court Clerk Anthony J. Kupka read the order releasing Steele.

Some courtroom spectators were rising to leave as Kupka then picked up and read a complaint signed by Police Lt. D. Edward Sullivan alleging that Mrs. Cote "did assault and beat with intent to murder Rene Cote x x x and did kill him."

Police Sell Liquor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Police Department put up for sale today a dust-covered, 18-month accumulation of 1,720 assorted bottles of liquor. In 20 minutes they were "sold out."

Three Washington liquor dealers paid $2,325 for the lot, acquired by police in raids or through abandonment.

Bloc's Majority In Polish Voting Nears Landslide

May Win 80 Per Cent Of Parliament Seats

WARSAW, Jan. 20 (AP)—Landslide votes in cities and heavily populated industrial areas gave a mounting majority tonight to the pro-Communist government bloc parties, apparently assuring them of 80 per cent of the seats in Poland's new Parliament.

More than 100,000 volunteer militiamen stood guard as election boards continued canvassing the ballots from yesterday's voting—Poland's first parliamentary election since 1935. A near-maximum vote of 12,000,000 was indicated.

138 Persons Killed

A compilation of election violence, meanwhile, showed that 138 persons were killed in anti-government underground attacks during the campaign, including 23 on election day.

Although complete official returns from the balloting will not be published until January 31, unofficial results indicated that the bloc had captured about 355 of the 444 parliamentary seats.

Most of the remaining seats were won by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's Polish Peasant (PSL) Party, the Labor Party, and the new Liberation Party.

The provisional government expressed itself as "quite satisfied" with the results, and said balloting was orderly despite "numerous attempts by the underground to break up elections and terrorize people, which did not succeed."

Disagree On Effect Of Boycott

A spokesman for the government said it also was significant "that in the 10 districts where the Polish Peasant Party called for a boycott, the vote was very heavy."

Mikolajczyk, however, said the boycott was effective, and that the only Peasants who voted were "those forced to do so by security police and militia."

The government spokesman also described as "astonishing" an announcement by Mikolajczyk that he would demand that the elections be declared voided because of alleged irregularities.

Laraine Day

As soon as the divorce is granted, he said, she plans to marry Durocher.

Rogers said he believed the marriage would take place in El Paso, Tex., because it was his understanding a Juarez divorce would be considered legal in the United States, but a Mexican marriage would not be recognized.

Reservations were reported made on a late airliner for El Paso for the actress under the name of Betty Johnson, and for Durocher under the name of L. Johnson.

Miss Day's divorce from Hendricks was uncontested. She won custody of their adopted son, Christopher, 15 months. A property settlement was effected.

No mention was made in the hearing of Durocher, whom Hendricks had accused of "clandestinely pursuing the love" of Miss Day while posing as a family friend. Later Hendricks withdrew the sharply-worded answer to the divorce suit implicating the Brooklyn Dodgers' pilot and entered no contest.

After the hearing Miss Day was asked by reporters if she had plans to marry Durocher.

"What does he do?" was her response to the questions.

Lane Bill

sources Committee has scheduled a hearing for 2 p. m. tomorrow on game and fish laws, but it was pointed out that the House will be adjourned in time to allow the hearing to get under way early in the afternoon.

Chairman Bolton (D-Balto. county), of the Senate Judiciary Committee, announced temporary postponement of a hearing on workmen's compensation law revisions, which had been set for 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Both houses adjourned until 2 p. m. Tuesday.

Introduction of Lane's bill was by far the most important activity of the Monday night session.

Former Gov. O'Conor, in his 1938 campaign, advocated a one-term amendment and it was submitted by the 1939 legislature. The amendment was defeated, however, in the 1940 election.

Early in his campaign, Lane spoke out against the fact that Maryland Governors could succeed themselves indefinitely, and advocated a limit of two terms.

Silk Hosiery Prices Skid From $3.50 Pair To $1 In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP) — Silk Stockings, which started out bravely last May at $3.50 a pair in their first postwar appearance, have dropped to as little as $1 a pair in some stores here.

"You can sell silk stockings at $1 a pair, but you certainly can't get much more than that for them today," said one retailer.

Silk hose sold at around $3 a pair without much trouble during the acute shortage. But when nylons came along at $1.35 up under OPA, the ladies decided to hold out for them.

From that point on silk hosiery prices declined. Retailers marked them down and manufacturers followed suit.

W. Va. Legislature Gets "Hot Potato"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 20—(AP)—The West Virginia Legislature started juggling today the political "hot potato" Gov. Clarence Meadows handed it in a proposal that the fee system of feeding county jail prisoners be abolished.

Into both House and Senate went resolutions proposing that a 10-member joint committee be raised to study the question.

This was exactly what the Governor had proposed in his biennial message opening the 48th Legislature January 8, saying that the fee system was "the root of the present evil" in West Virginia's jail system.

To accomplish reform, the Governor suggested "the immediate establishment of a special legislative committee to study this problem, instructed to make its report and recommendations to this session of the legislature in ample time to permit full debate and voting upon such measure or measures as may be the result of such study."

Cigaret Tax Proposed

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 20—(AP)—A two-cents-a-pack tax on cigarets as a means of raising new revenue to balance the pending $122,000,000 biennial West Virginia budget was proposed in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Sen. A. R. Winters (D-Cabell).

Winters declared the "money must come from some source" if the salaries of teachers and other state employes are to be raised, funds provided for road improvements and the generally higher costs of state government are to be met.

Relations Between

Roosevelt said Stalin was "very emphatic" in this statement.

Asking Stalin whether he believed the United Nations should control atomic energy in both its peaceful and military potentialities through inspection, Roosevelt said Stalin asked him, "in general?"

Roosevelt said he replied, "especially as to agreement in principle by Russia to such a plan."

Then, according to Roosevelt, Stalin declared:

"Of course. On the principle of equality no exceptions should be made in the case of Russia. Russia should be subject to the same rules of inspection and control as any other nation must."

Rock Slide Threatens To Close Huge Quarry

PEN ARGYL, Pa., Jan. 20 (AP)—A slide of 25,000 tons of rock at the Parsons Brothers Slate Company today threatened to close the 800-foot deep workings, one of the deepest open quarries in the world.

A partition gave way late Saturday night or Sunday morning cascading the rock into the deep excavation. No one was in the quarry at the time.

The quarry bottom was covered with 100 feet of rock and about $25,000 damage was caused, Parsons Brothers reported.

U. S. Urged To Aid Other Countries In Atom Research

British Scientists Say It's Control Step

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP) — The United States, Britain and Canada, the "know how" nations, were urged today by the British Atomic Scientists Association to aid other countries in setting up non-military atomic research plants as a step in achieving world control of atomic energy.

A 2,400-word report issued by the council for the association, made up of 150 of Britain's leading atomic scientists, suggested a world accounting of fissile materials as a means of reconciling differences between Russia and the United States over control of the atom bomb.

Commenting on the Soviet proposal to require destruction within a limited time of existing stocks of bombs as against the United States plan to postpone such action until international safeguards are established, the council said:

"On this question it is easy to understand the reasons for either point of view, but we think it would be reasonable to ask at least for a declaration by all countries of the amounts of fissile materials in their possession and of the production rates in existing or projected plants.

"Such a declaration might materially contribute to a spirit of confidence, while not appreciably impairing the security of the United States. We hope, in particular, that it may be possible to make these valuable materials available for productive uses rather than to destroy them."

Volcano Erupts Again

MANILA, Tuesday, Jan. 21 (AP)—Mighty Mayon volcano erupted again this morning—its 14th day of fiery activity—spewing molten rock up 1,500 feet above its 7,943-foot peak, the master of the merchant ship Greenville Victory, reported.

Sailor Admits He Killed Divorcee

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (AP)— Police said a 19-year-old sailor today signed a statement that he fatally beat a 39-year-old divorcee and expectant mother whose snowbank slaying January 2 had been attributed by police to a factory worker charged with manslaughter.

Acting State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley ordered exhumation of the body of the victim, Mrs. Amelia Wardenga, from a grave near her former farm home at Hayward, Wis., to determine whether the sailor's companion, could identify her.

The sailor, Edward Sullivan, Chicago, a seaman at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, was held without charge. Crowley said he would ask the grand jury "in a few days" to indict Sullivan on a murder charge.

Meanwhile William Kiss, 30, charged with manslaughter in the brutal beating, was freed on $5,000 bond. Police said Kiss signed a statement January 6 that he killed Mrs. Wardenga, but last Saturday repudiated his story after Sullivan was detained.

Ship Runs Aground; Crewmen Are Removed

ASTORIA, Ore., Jan 20 (AP)—Crew members of the distressed Drexel Victory are being taken off the ship by the Columbia river pilot's schooner, the Coast Guard reported tonight.

The ship, outbound for Yokohama with a cargo of relief grain, ran aground off the Columbia river mouth late this afternoon and reported it was listing after freeing itself from the sands of Peacock Spit.

Sailor Found Slain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—William Ralph Lowe, 30, chief aviation machinists mate stationed at the Anacostia Naval Air Station, was found fatally shot in his apartment today. Beside the body, police said, was a revolver and a letter from Lowe's wife, who has been in Galveston, Tex., since January 2 visiting her mother. Police refused to disclose contents of the letter.

Southern Streams Leave Their Banks

ATLANTA, Jan. 20. (AP)—Swollen by nearly three weeks of almost steady rain, streams throughout the South surged from their banks today, flooding lowlands and driving many families from their homes.

Rome, Ga., was hardest hit. There the Oostanaula river flooded into the west section of the city driving out at least 100 families and threatening another 500 homes. A mixup of orders caused by dual control of Georgia's military department delayed arrival of 20 National Guard trucks ordered to Rome to aid evacuation.

A forecast of colder weather tomorrow brought hope for a letup in the rains which have totaled 13 inches in North Georgia since January 1.

In Alabama, the Warrior river was 13.5 feet above flood stage of 60.5 feet at Tuscaloosa. Three streets at Northport were blocked by high water.

Rising waters of the Tombigbee river sent lowland dwellers along its course in Southwest Alabama scurrying for higher ground, and overflowing creeks caused closing of Choctaw county schools.

The Tennessee river was out of its banks at several points. At Chattanooga it was expected to crest tonight at 31.8 feet, 1.8 feet above flood stage, and at Guntersville, Ala., it was nine feet over the banks.

Italian Premier Resigns, Bringing Crisis To A Head

Peace Treaty Terms Protested By Rome

ROME, Jan. 20—(AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi, bringing to a head a governmental crisis which developed during his recent visit to the United States, submitted his resignation tonight. He was expected, however, to form a new government—perhaps one in which the leftist would have less voice.

Almost simultaneously, the Italian political situation was further complicated with the announcement by the Foreign Minister that Italy had filed a strong protest with the United States, Great Britian, Russia and France against terms of the proposed Italian peace treaty. The pact will be signed at Paris February 10.

De Gasperi's resignation was handed to President Enrico De Nicola, who said in a communique that consultations had begun to form the new government. The first person the President is scheduled to see is De Gasperi himself.

Twice in the last year, the 55-year old De Gasperi, leader of the centrist predominatly Catholic Christian Democratic Party, has been called to form a government. Each lasted about six months.

In his resignation today, the Premier elected to precipitate a crisis which developed when the Italian Socialist Party broke apart over the question of collaboration with the Communist Party.

This break up was followed by two resignations: Guiseppe Saragat, leader of the insurgent Socialists, said he would step down as president of the Constituent Assembly. Pietro Nenni, Socialist leader accused by Saragat of taking orders from the Communists, subsequently announced his intention of quitting as Foreign Minister.

One Killed When Truck Runs Into Three Autos

REISTERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 20. (AP)—One person was killed and four others were injured today when an oil truck careened out of control down a slippery hill near here, colliding with three automobiles.

James Milburn, 53-year old Baltimore negro, was killed and Reisterstown police identified those hurt as:

Miss M. Katherine Sierer, 37, Chambersburg, Pa.; her mother, Mrs. Mary H. Sierer, 69; Mrs. Edith S. White, 58, Chambersburg, and Mrs. Alice Smith, 54, Westminister, Md. None were hurt seriously.

Patrolman Clarence Knight said the truck had just topped a hill, when the driver found he could not put the vehicle in gear.

Bilbo "Doing Fine" Following Operation

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 20 — (AP) — Sen. Theo. G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, rested in a hospital room tonight, his face heavily bandaged following a mouth operation, but "doing fine" according to his doctors.

The fiery exponents of white supremacy was rolled to his flower-banked room by a negro attendant following an operation which doctors described as "not a major one." Attendants said "a little dead bone and two glands" were removed in a followup operation to one performed several months past when a malignant growth was cut from Bilbo's mouth.

FAMILY MESSAGE NUMBER 10

Discontented Little Rich Girl

Not the amount of money spent on your child, but how you spend it, is important, says this authority

One man who has many chances to see what does and does not help make contented, happy children is Dr. James S. Plant, Director of the Essex County Juvenile Clinic, in Newark, N. J.

So we asked Dr. Plant what he thought about the part money played in making childhood the joyous time we all want our own kids to remember.

"The problem, of course," he said, "is one of the wise use of money, within the parents' means. I have seen children spoiled by parents who were too carelessly generous; and I have seen them soured by parents who seemed to begrudge them every nickel.

"It is very much worth-while to plan family finances so that a child can have some money regularly for the right kind of fun, so he can hold up his end in his own group life, and so he can learn to be a responsible individual in managing money.

Toys that Teach

"In the beginning, many of us buy too many and too expensive playthings for our children. This tends to focus the child's ideas on buying instead of doing as the source of happiness. A better idea is to give simple things which are an invitation to activity and ingenuity, such as checker boards, building, sewing and craft sets.

"But don't forget that the happy child, like the happy grownup, must have normal group activities, and will have a natural pride in playing his part in them. Try, for example, to see that he has enough money for that baseball bat or glove, those sneakers or gym clothes, that will enable a boy or girl to 'join the team.'

"And, finally, as the child grows up, give him increasing 'freedom of choice' in the ways his share of the family money is spent. This teaches the invaluable lesson that some things must be foregone to get others, and that saving for a more distant reward is often more satisfying than grasping at immediate ones."

HOW TO PLAN FOR FAMILY HAPPINESS

Regardless of the size of income, any family can have more happiness and fewer worries by planning the use of the family money:

First: provide in advance for payments coming due, such as rent, taxes, mortgage charges, life insurance and other insurance. The easiest way is to bank small amounts each payday that will add up to the totals when due.

Second: set aside something extra each payday in the savings account until you build up an emergency fund.

Then you know what is left to spend on everyday family needs such as food, clothing, recreation—and what you can afford to set aside for such future family plans as a new home, education, travel.

Because the life insurance companies and their agents have long helped people to plan for family security and happiness, they are conducting this program of information as a public service to the 72,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American family.

Bloc's Majority In Polish Voting Nears Landslide

May Win 80 Per Cent Of Parliament Seats

WARSAW, Jan. 20 (AP)—Landslide votes in cities and heavily populated industrial areas gave a mounting majority tonight to the pro-Communist government bloc parties, apparently assuring them of 80 per cent of the seats in Poland's new Parliament.

More than 100,000 volunteer militiamen stood guard as election boards continued canvassing the ballots from yesterday's voting—Poland's first parliamentary election since 1935. A near-maximum vote of 12,000,000 was indicated.

138 Persons Killed

A compilation of election violence, meanwhile, showed that 138 persons were killed in anti-government underground attacks during the campaign, including 23 on election day.

Although complete official returns from the balloting will not be published until January 31, unofficial results indicated that the bloc had captured about 355 of the 444 parliamentary seats.

Most of the remaining seats were won by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's Polish Peasant (PSL) Party, the Labor Party, and the new Liberation Party.

The provisional government expressed itself as "quite satisfied" with the results, and said balloting was orderly despite "numerous attempts by the underground to break up elections and terrorize people, which did not succeed."

Disagree On Effect Of Boycott

A spokesman for the government said it also was significant "that in the 10 districts where the Polish Peasant Party called for a boycott, the vote was very heavy."

Mikolajczyk, however, said the boycott was effective, and that the only Peasants who voted were "those forced to do so by security police and militia."

The government spokesman also described as "astonishing" an announcement by Mikolajczyk that he would demand that the elections be declared voided because of alleged irregularities.

LACY SWORN IN—Gov. Preston Lane (left) is shown swearing in James J. Lacy, Baltimore industrialist, as State Comptroller at the State House in Annapolis yesterday. Lacy succeeds J. One Killed When Truck Runs Into Three Autos

REISTERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 20. (AP)—One person was killed and four others were injured today when an oil truck careened out of control down a slippery hill near here, colliding with three automobiles.

James Milburn, 53-year old Baltimore negro, was killed and Reisterstown police identified those hurt as:

Miss M. Katherine Sierer, 37, Chambersburg, Pa.; her mother, Mrs. Mary H. Sierer, 69; Mrs. Edith S. White, 58, Chambersburg, and Mrs. Alice Smith, 54, Westminister, Md. None were hurt seriously.

Patrolman Clarence Knight said the truck had just topped a hill, when the driver found he could not put the vehicle in gear.

Bilbo "Doing Fine" Following Operation

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 20 — (AP) — Sen. Theo. G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, rested in a hospital room tonight, his face heavily bandaged following a mouth operation, but "doing fine" according to his doctors.

The fiery exponents of white supremacy was rolled to his flower-banked room by a negro attendant following an operation which doctors described as "not a major one." Attendants said "a little dead bone and two glands" were removed in a followup operation to one performed several months past when a malignant growth was cut from Bilbo's mouth.

Laraine Day

As soon as the divorce is granted, he said, she plans to marry Durocher.

Rogers said he believed the marriage would take place in El Paso, Tex., because it was his understanding a Juarez divorce would be considered legal in the United States, but a Mexican marriage would not be recognized.

Reservations were reported made on a late airliner for El Paso for the actress under the name of Betty Johnson, and for Durocher under the name of L. Johnson.

Miss Day's divorce from Hendricks was uncontested. She won custody of their adopted son, Christopher, 15 months. A property settlement was effected.

No mention was made in the hearing of Durocher, whom Hendricks had accused of "clandestinely pursuing the love" of Miss Day while posing as a family friend. Later Hendricks withdrew the sharply-worded answer to the divorce suit implicating the Brooklyn Dodgers' pilot and entered no contest.

After the hearing Miss Day was asked by reporters if she had plans to marry Durocher.

"What does he do?" was her response to the questions.

Lane Bill

sources Committee has scheduled a hearing for 2 p. m. tomorrow on game and fish laws, but it was pointed out that the House will be adjourned in time to allow the hearing to get under way early in the afternoon.

Chairman Bolton (D-Balto. county), of the Senate Judiciary Committee, announced temporary postponement of a hearing on workmen's compensation law revisions, which had been set for 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Both houses adjourned until 2 p. m. Tuesday.

Introduction of Lane's bill was by far the most important activity of the Monday night session.

Former Gov. O'Conor, in his 1938 campaign, advocated a one-term amendment and it was submitted by the 1939 legislature. The amendment was defeated, however, in the 1940 election.

Early in his campaign, Lane spoke out against the fact that Maryland Governors could succeed themselves indefinitely, and advocated a limit of two terms.

Silk Hosiery Prices Skid From $3.50 Pair To $1 In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP) — Silk Stockings, which started out bravely last May at $3.50 a pair in their first postwar appearance, have dropped to as little as $1 a pair in some stores here.

"You can sell silk stockings at $1 a pair, but you certainly can't get much more than that for them today," said one retailer.

Silk hose sold at around $3 a pair without much trouble during the acute shortage. But when nylons came along at $1.35 up under OPA, the ladies decided to hold out for them.

From that point on silk hosiery prices declined. Retailers marked them down and manufacturers followed suit.

W. Va. Legislature Gets "Hot Potato"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 20—(AP)—The West Virginia Legislature started juggling today the political "hot potato" Gov. Clarence Meadows handed it in a proposal that the fee system of feeding county jail prisoners be abolished.

Into both House and Senate went resolutions proposing that a 10-member joint committee be raised to study the question.

This was exactly what the Governor had proposed in his biennial message opening the 48th Legislature January 8, saying that the fee system was "the root of the present evil" in West Virginia's jail system.

To accomplish reform, the Governor suggested "the immediate establishment of a special legislative committee to study this problem, instructed to make its report and recommendations to this session of the legislature in ample time to permit full debate and voting upon such measure or measures as may be the result of such study."

Cigaret Tax Proposed

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 20—(AP)—A two-cents-a-pack tax on cigarets as a means of raising new revenue to balance the pending $122,000,000 biennial West Virginia budget was proposed in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Sen. A. R. Winters (D-Cabell).

Winters declared the "money must come from some source" if the salaries of teachers and other state employes are to be raised, funds provided for road improvements and the generally higher costs of state government are to be met.

Roosevelt said Stalin was "very emphatic" in this statement.

Asking Stalin whether he believed the United Nations should control atomic energy in both its peaceful and military potentialities through inspection, Roosevelt said Stalin asked him, "in general?"

Roosevelt said he replied, "especially as to agreement in principle by Russia to such a plan."

Then, according to Roosevelt, Stalin declared:

"Of course. On the principle of equality no exceptions should be made in the case of Russia. Russia should be subject to the same rules of inspection and control as any other nation must."

Rock Slide Threatens To Close Huge Quarry

PEN ARGYL, Pa., Jan. 20 (AP)—A slide of 25,000 tons of rock at the Parsons Brothers Slate Company today threatened to close the 800-foot deep workings, one of the deepest open quarries in the world.

A partition gave way late Saturday night or Sunday morning cascading the rock into the deep excavation. No one was in the quarry at the time.

The quarry bottom was covered with 100 feet of rock and about $25,000 damage was caused, Parsons Brothers reported.

U. S. Urged To Aid Other Countries In Atom Research

British Scientists Say It's Control Step

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP) — The United States, Britain and Canada, the "know how" nations, were urged today by the British Atomic Scientists Association to aid other countries in setting up non-military atomic research plants as a step in achieving world control of atomic energy.

A 2,400-word report issued by the council for the association, made up of 150 of Britain's leading atomic scientists, suggested a world accounting of fissile materials as a means of reconciling differences between Russia and the United States over control of the atom bomb.

Commenting on the Soviet proposal to require destruction within a limited time of existing stocks of bombs as against the United States plan to postpone such action until international safeguards are established, the council said:

"On this question it is easy to understand the reasons for either point of view, but we think it would be reasonable to ask at least for a declaration by all countries of the amounts of fissile materials in their possession and of the production rates in existing or projected plants.

"Such a declaration might materially contribute to a spirit of confidence, while not appreciably impairing the security of the United States. We hope, in particular, that it may be possible to make these valuable materials available for productive uses rather than to destroy them."

Volcano Erupts Again

MANILA, Tuesday, Jan. 21 (AP)—Mighty Mayon volcano erupted again this morning—its 14th day of fiery activity—spewing molten rock up 1,500 feet above its 7,943-foot peak, the master of the merchant ship Greenville Victory, reported.

Sailor Admits He Killed Divorcee

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (AP)— Police said a 19-year-old sailor today signed a statement that he fatally beat a 39-year-old divorcee and expectant mother whose snowbank slaying January 2 had been attributed by police to a factory worker charged with manslaughter.

Acting State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley ordered exhumation of the body of the victim, Mrs. Amelia Wardenga, from a grave near her former farm home at Hayward, Wis., to determine whether the sailor's companion, could identify her.

The sailor, Edward Sullivan, Chicago, a seaman at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, was held without charge. Crowley said he would ask the grand jury "in a few days" to indict Sullivan on a murder charge.

Meanwhile William Kiss, 30, charged with manslaughter in the brutal beating, was freed on $5,000 bond. Police said Kiss signed a statement January 6 that he killed Mrs. Wardenga, but last Saturday repudiated his story after Sullivan was detained.

Ship Runs Aground; Crewmen Are Removed

ASTORIA, Ore., Jan 20 (AP)—Crew members of the distressed Drexel Victory are being taken off the ship by the Columbia river pilot's schooner, the Coast Guard reported tonight.

The ship, outbound for Yokohama with a cargo of relief grain, ran aground off the Columbia river mouth late this afternoon and reported it was listing after freeing itself from the sands of Peacock Spit.

Sailor Found Slain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—William Ralph Lowe, 30, chief aviation machinists mate stationed at the Anacostia Naval Air Station, was found fatally shot in his apartment today. Beside the body, police said, was a revolver and a letter from Lowe's wife, who has been in Galveston, Tex., since January 2 visiting her mother. Police refused to disclose contents of the letter.

Southern Streams Leave Their Banks

ATLANTA, Jan. 20. (AP)—Swollen by nearly three weeks of almost steady rain, streams throughout the South surged from their banks today, flooding lowlands and driving many families from their homes.

Rome, Ga., was hardest hit. There the Oostanaula river flooded into the west section of the city driving out at least 100 families and threatening another 500 homes. A mixup of orders caused by dual control of Georgia's military department delayed arrival of 20 National Guard trucks ordered to Rome to aid evacuation.

A forecast of colder weather tomorrow brought hope for a letup in the rains which have totaled 13 inches in North Georgia since January 1.

In Alabama, the Warrior river was 13.5 feet above flood stage of 60.5 feet at Tuscaloosa. Three streets at Northport were blocked by high water.

Rising waters of the Tombigbee river sent lowland dwellers along its course in Southwest Alabama scurrying for higher ground, and overflowing creeks caused closing of Choctaw county schools.

The Tennessee river was out of its banks at several points. At Chattanooga it was expected to crest tonight at 31.8 feet, 1.8 feet above flood stage, and at Guntersville, Ala., it was nine feet over the banks.

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 20 (AP) — Rear Adm. Henry F. Bruns, 57, director of navy yards and dock installations of the Pacific, died in Oak Knoll Naval Hospital today after several weeks illness.

Adm. Bruns was born in Ceredo, W. Va., November 24, 1889, and was graduated from the Annapolis Naval Academy in 1911.

Italian Premier Resigns, Bringing Crisis To A Head

Peace Treaty Terms Protested By Rome

ROME, Jan. 20—(AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi, bringing to a head a governmental crisis which developed during his recent visit to the United States, submitted his resignation tonight. He was expected, however, to form a new government—perhaps one in which the leftist would have less voice.

Almost simultaneously, the Italian political situation was further complicated with the announcement by the Foreign Minister that Italy had filed a strong protest with the United States, Great Britian, Russia and France against terms of the proposed Italian peace treaty. The pact will be signed at Paris February 10.

De Gasperi's resignation was handed to President Enrico De Nicola, who said in a communique that consultations had begun to form the new government. The first person the President is scheduled to see is De Gasperi himself.

Twice in the last year, the 55-year old De Gasperi, leader of the centrist predominatly Catholic Christian Democratic Party, has been called to form a government. Each lasted about six months.

In his resignation today, the Premier elected to precipitate a crisis which developed when the Italian Socialist Party broke apart over the question of collaboration with the Communist Party.

This break up was followed by two resignations: Guiseppe Saragat, leader of the insurgent Socialists, said he would step down as president of the Constituent Assembly. Pietro Nenni, Socialist leader accused by Saragat of taking orders from the Communists, subsequently announced his intention of quitting as Foreign Minister.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Should A Girl Break Off With Her Boy Friend While He's Overseas?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a fellow for a year who is in service. We don't get along very well, as he likes to argue, and every time he does, I go out for a walk or go home, as he gets me all upset.

He came home on leave, and gave me a friendship ring. In the two weeks he was home we did nothing but fight, and his mother always made him apologize to me. Since he has gone back, I have been having dates with different fellows, and his mother is mad at me, so she says I'm engaged and shouldn't have dates.

I would like to break up with him, but I don't think I should do it while he is overseas. Should I wait until he comes home to break up with him, and do you think I'm doing wrong in going out on dates and enjoying myself?

"BEWILDERED"

I certainly think it would be better to break off with this boy at once if you are going to go around with other boys as though you were a completely free agent. It can hardly hurt him as much to hear directly from yourself that your feelings have changed as it would to hear from others that you are running around with other young men while letting him believe you are still his girl. Do you think that's a fair thing to do?

Anyhow, if you and this young man do nothing at this point but fight, it seems perfectly silly for you to think of getting married. Now, when you fight, you can always go for a walk or go to your own home, as you say. But if you continue the same tactics when the two of you were married and living in the same house, what sort of life would that be?

I would think that the only sensible thing for you to do would be to clear up the whole situation by writing your boy friend the truth about how you feel, and settling things once and for all. Then you can go out with all the boys you like with a free conscience, instead of knowing in your heart that you're trying to lead a sort of "double life" which is fair to no one.

The boy, George Cole, was taken to the Annapolis Emergency Hospital, where physicians said that despite a night evidently spent in the open he suffered only minor frostbite of the hands and feet.

Listen World

By ELSIE ROBINSON

MOTHERS-IN-LAW

She is a mother-in-law. And of course she is misunderstood. Likewise, according to all traditions, daughter-in-law is an illbred, ungrateful, disrespectful, stupid, selfish young nincompoop. So won't I write something based on the immortal tale of Ruth and Naomi showing how noble mothers-in-law really are? Then maybe she can clip it and won't her daughter-in-law's face be red!

Yes, sister, I'll gladly write about Ruth and Naomi. But as for my interpretation of this classic instance of love and loyalty I warn you you've stuck your neck out. And if you get what you don't expect it's your own bad luck.

So now we come to those immortal words which Naomi uttered to her dead son's widow when the time had come for them to part. But instead of leaving her, Ruth clung to her.

"Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God, my God:

"Whither thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me."

Never in human history has there been a greater or more beautiful example of love than the widowed Ruth gave to her mother-in-law, Naomi. Nor was that love based on shallow sentimentality. Her mother-in-law had stood by the girl during her bitter days of shock and bereavement. She had comforted her in her loneliness. She had left her oud home to speed the girl's departure into a new and happier land. She had literally sacrificed her own life that this daughter by marriage should be a daughter in reality.

Indeed, she had done much more than this. By a shrewd device she had made it possible for Ruth to marry Boaz, a man of wealth, and sensitive affection. And by doing so she had opened the gates on a darkened life and set Ruth free from the shadows of death.

And the girl had repaid her with all the adoration and respect of her grateful young heart. In very truth she had turned to Naomi as she had turned to her own mother and clung to her with a love that was as deep as any blood bond.

I often think of Ruth and Naomi when I hear mothers-in-law complain that they are misunderstood . . . that their daughters-in-law are ignorant, ungrateful and ill bred. I think particularly of that ancient love when I hear said mothers-in-law use the Bible to ratify their claim for loyalty and I wonder just how near they approach Naomi in their great sacrifice and tenderness.

Naomi worked for what she got. She did not sit around and criticize Ruth's dusty mantlepiece. Nor did she bustle into Ruth's pantry and suggest that the cream pitchers be placed where the bread and butter plates stood . . . nor compare unfavorably her housewifely skill with the clumsiness and general inefficiency of the young widow.

She did not expect affection and gratitude merely because she was a mother-in-law. She gave affection and gratitude because that was her job and because she gave it, willingly and abundantly, she received it in return.

You can't give spitballs and expect orchids. You can't crush a young woman's self respect and expect her to admire you or your superior status. If you want to get you've got to give.

Which little hunk of poison I commend to all mothers-in-law who expect that gray hairs and wrinkles give them a right to ride roughshod over young and inexperienced hearts.

Be a good guy, lady, and you won't have to worry about being misunderstood. Be a sourpuss and you'll get it right where you deserve—in the middle of your upper plate.

If you serve honorably on active duty for a period of 90 days, one day of which is served between September 16, 1940, and the date of termination of the present war, or you are discharged because of an actual service-incurred injury or disability incurred within that first 90-day period of service, you are, upon discharge, entitled to one year of education in the college, trade or business school of your choice for which you can qualify. In addition, each month of active duty, including the first three, prior to the termination of the war, entitles you to another month of post-service education, up to 48 months.

Your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year will be paid by the government. Also, you will receive $65 a month living allowance; $90 a month if you have dependents.

Q. What about family allowances?

A. For men enlisting or reenlisting now, family allowances will continue until six months after the war is officially ended.

Q. What are my chances of going overseas?

A. If you enlist for 3 years, you may select to serve in any overseas theater which has openings, especially Japan or Korea.

Q. Can I still choose the branch of service I want to serve in?

A. Yes. You can pick any branch which has quotas to be filled, if you enlist for 3 years.

Q. Is there any way I can reenlist in my old grade?

A. Yes you can, if you reenlist for a 3-year term within 20 days after your honorable discharge.

Q. Is there any other way I can reenlist in grade?

A. Yes, if you held one of certain military occupational specialties, and were discharged on or after May 12, 1945, you can reenlist in a grade depending on the length of time you held the desired M. O. S.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Should A Girl Break Off With Her Boy Friend While He's Overseas?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a fellow for a year who is in service. We don't get along very well, as he likes to argue, and every time he does, I go out for a walk or go home, as he gets me all upset.

He came home on leave, and gave me a friendship ring. In the two weeks he was home we did nothing but fight, and his mother always made him apologize to me. Since he has gone back, I have been having dates with different fellows, and his mother is mad at me, so she says I'm engaged and shouldn't have dates.

I would like to break up with him, but I don't think I should do it while he is overseas. Should I wait until he comes home to break up with him, and do you think I'm doing wrong in going out on dates and enjoying myself?

"BEWILDERED"

I certainly think it would be better to break off with this boy at once if you are going to go around with other boys as though you were a completely free agent. It can hardly hurt him as much to hear directly from yourself that your feelings have changed as it would to hear from others that you are running around with other young men while letting him believe you are still his girl. Do you think that's a fair thing to do?

Anyhow, if you and this young man do nothing at this point but fight, it seems perfectly silly for you to think of getting married. Now, when you fight, you can always go for a walk or go to your own home, as you say. But if you continue the same tactics when the two of you were married and living in the same house, what sort of life would that be?

I would think that the only sensible thing for you to do would be to clear up the whole situation by writing your boy friend the truth about how you feel, and settling things once and for all. Then you can go out with all the boys you like with a free conscience, instead of knowing in your heart that you're trying to lead a sort of "double life" which is fair to no one.

Missing Boy Is Found

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 20—(AP)—A 7-year-old deaf mute, object of a 22-hour search by approximately 100 policemen, firemen, naval personnel and others, was found unharmed and lying in a ditch off the Davidsonville road yesterday.

The boy, George Cole, was taken to the Annapolis Emergency Hospital, where physicians said that despite a night evidently spent in the open he suffered only minor frostbite of the hands and feet.

MOTHERS-IN-LAW

She is a mother-in-law. And of course she is misunderstood. Likewise, according to all traditions, daughter-in-law is an illbred, ungrateful, disrespectful, stupid, selfish young nincompoop. So won't I write something based on the immortal tale of Ruth and Naomi showing how noble mothers-in-law really are? Then maybe she can clip it and won't her daughter-in-law's face be red!

Yes, sister, I'll gladly write about Ruth and Naomi. But as for my interpretation of this classic instance of love and loyalty I warn you you've stuck your neck out. And if you get what you don't expect it's your own bad luck.

So now we come to those immortal words which Naomi uttered to her dead son's widow when the time had come for them to part. But instead of leaving her, Ruth clung to her.

"Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God, my God:

"Whither thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me."

Never in human history has there been a greater or more beautiful example of love than the widowed Ruth gave to her mother-in-law, Naomi. Nor was that love based on shallow sentimentality. Her mother-in-law had stood by the girl during her bitter days of shock and bereavement. She had comforted her in her loneliness. She had left her oud home to speed the girl's departure into a new and happier land. She had literally sacrificed her own life that this daughter by marriage should be a daughter in reality.

Indeed, she had done much more than this. By a shrewd device she had made it possible for Ruth to marry Boaz, a man of wealth, and sensitive affection. And by doing so she had opened the gates on a darkened life and set Ruth free from the shadows of death.

And the girl had repaid her with all the adoration and respect of her grateful young heart. In very truth she had turned to Naomi as she had turned to her own mother and clung to her with a love that was as deep as any blood bond.

I often think of Ruth and Naomi when I hear mothers-in-law complain that they are misunderstood . . . that their daughters-in-law are ignorant, ungrateful and ill bred. I think particularly of that ancient love when I hear said mothers-in-law use the Bible to ratify their claim for loyalty and I wonder just how near they approach Naomi in their great sacrifice and tenderness.

Naomi worked for what she got. She did not sit around and criticize Ruth's dusty mantlepiece. Nor did she bustle into Ruth's pantry and suggest that the cream pitchers be placed where the bread and butter plates stood . . . nor compare unfavorably her housewifely skill with the clumsiness and general inefficiency of the young widow.

She did not expect affection and gratitude merely because she was a mother-in-law. She gave affection and gratitude because that was her job and because she gave it, willingly and abundantly, she received it in return.

You can't give spitballs and expect orchids. You can't crush a young woman's self respect and expect her to admire you or your superior status. If you want to get you've got to give.

Which little hunk of poison I commend to all mothers-in-law who expect that gray hairs and wrinkles give them a right to ride roughshod over young and inexperienced hearts.

Be a good guy, lady, and you won't have to worry about being misunderstood. Be a sourpuss and you'll get it right where you deserve—in the middle of your upper plate.

Portal-to-Portal Suits And Arithmetic Involved

Further examination of the proceedings leading to the United States Supreme Court decision on which labor unions are basing suits for billions in overtime pay only adds to the confusion. There is confusion not only about what has been decided, but what may be decided if the ruling sticks.

Apparently the original question was whether men should be paid for time spent in line while punching time clocks and getting to the work stations. The judge accepted a finding of a master that the men did not necessarily work while in the plant prior to and after regular worked hours, but he compromised on a theory that they probably worked part of the time. It was this surmise that the Supreme Court approved in language which inspired the unions to go after the big money.

The implication is that if employes can collect triple time for these odd minutes, even though on piece work, the employer may have grounds for attempting to recover money paid out for time spent within the plant away from actual production and unaccounted for, such as time spent on slow-down strikes.

A survey of the cost of back triple-time payments to 1938 reveals some shocking possibilities. Portal-to-portal suits now filed in the United States amount, at "face value," to about $5,000,000,000. It's the interest on the national debt, about which the nation is worrying. In fact, its twice what the national debt was before the First World War. More to the point, it exceeds the dividends paid by all incorporated businesses and industries in a year, even the war years. It exceeds the savings of all corporations, in all but the very best of years.

In Cumberland, to give some idea of cost, the portal-to-portal suit filed by employes against the Celanese Corporation of America totals $3,500,000, or triple time payment of $7,000,000. That is approximately one-third of the yearly payroll to these workers, which is in the neighborhood of $23,000,000, and is about one-seventh of the $47,000,000 assessed valuation of all real estate in this city—quite a hunk of cash.

To carry this further, the cost to the motor car industry, based on the portal-to-portal suits filed against that industry, would be more than twice the plant investment.

But still, every day, unions file more portal-to-portal suits adding millions of dollars to the already stupendous total. The situation has become absurd, and union leaders must recognize it as such. But many rank and file workers, who haven't bothered with the arithmetic involved, are expecting to collect. There are going to be a lot of disappointed workers if, as seems very likely, this portal-to-portal business collapses—of its own weight, if for no other reason. And their resentment will be directed as much at their union leaders as at anyone else. Perhaps more.

But the fuzzy thinking of the courts does not absolve Congress from blame for writing a law into which judges could read fantastic meanings that led to the suits. It is now up to Congress to set a limit on such suits.

One proposal is to reduce the national debt, which we owe only to ourselves, at the rate of five billions a year. What! Dig up all that money to pay ourselves?

Condemned Louisiana Negro And The Law Of The Nation

In 1937 when the country rocked in controversy over the Supreme Court, Willie Francis, an 18-year-old negro in Louisiana, was only a child. He probably doesn't understand now any of the great social and economic issues at stake when the "nine old men" were denounced for their 5 to 4 decisions.

But nobody could understand more clearly than Willie Francis the issue involved in last week's 5 to 4 decision by the younger successors to the "nine old men." For that issue is Willie Francis's life. The youth, condemned to death for murder, was placed in the electric chair last May 3. The current was switched on, but didn't do the job. His lawyers carried an appeal to the highest court, contending it would be "cruel and unusual punishment" to send him again to the chair.

Of the nine justices, four agreed, saying the law required instantaneous electrocution, and that if carried out by running current through his body at intervals "not sufficient, until the final time, to kill him, such a form of torture would rival that of burning at the stake." In language equally judicial, the majority decision held that failure of the electric chair to work was an "unforeseenable accident," not offensive to constitution guarantees against cruel punishment, so the state could proceed to successful execution of the sentence.

The separate opinion of one of the majority—Mr. Justice Frankfurter—who said he was "strongly drawn" by the views of the majority, but voted the other way because the Supreme Court has no legal right to interfere with "a state's insistence in its pound of flesh," was a crowning irony.

If the chair works the next time, Willie Francis will be just as dead as if the high judges had agreed 9 to 0 on what the law requires and permits. Then he won't have to worry about ironies.

If the last of the Christmas cigars have been smoked and the Good Woman wonders whether the house is burning down, it probably is.

One-Way Bottles

Something apparently has to be done if goods that come in bottles are to continue to come in bottles.

There is a serious shortage of bottles affecting principally dairymen, brewers and makers of soft drinks. It's so serious they have hired public relations experts to start a campaign.

The campaign is aimed at getting the empties returned. Bottle makers cannot get enough materials to meet the demand for bottles. The answer lies in laying hands on as many as possible of the amazing total of 25,000,000 milk, 10,000,000 soft drink and nobody knows how many beer bottles that went out and never came back.

It is estimated that from six to two dozen empty bottles are gathering dust in virtually every house in the country. It would cost nothing and help much if they were turned in.

Luxury taxes are not to be reduced after all. But it was a beautiful dream while it lasted.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

PENCILLIN IN SYPHILIS

FOR centuries man has been plagued by social diseases, but, with the advent of penicillin, the two most important types have been dealt a knockout blow. Gonorrhea frequently is controlled by a single injection and the early manifestations of syphilis require only a few weeks in contrast to 2½ years by the older methods.

It was just a comparatively few years ago that the subject was taboo and the names of these disorders rarely appeared in print. There were so many good reasons why this attitude was taken, since it is necessary to attach some stigma in order to discourage promiscuity. But when the concept failed, and too many innocent victims were involved, a different viewpoint was necessary.

Forewarning thru education and examinations, both voluntary and compulsory, have helped remarkably. Blood tests are performed in industry, hospitals, offices, on expectant mothers, and applicants for marriage licenses. In addition, adequate and early care of the afflicted has minimized its spread.

The public health services deserve considerable credit for the campaign. They have made treatment centers available to those who cannot afford to see private physicians and have in fact become specialists in this field. Their program was extremely beneficial prior to the discovery of the effect of penicillin. Many drugs were available and several plans were avocated for using various combinations. A patient received 12 injections of this, then 12 of that; meanwhile taking a third variety in tablet form. Some shots were given once a week; others every five days. Reactions were common and the length of treatment was so disheartening that many were content to abide by their fate. A few medical men had trouble keeping up to date and consequently were not taking advantage of advances.

Penicillin brought about a change particularly in the early stages where the product is most effective. The best results are obtained when the procedure is used in conjunction with some of the older drugs. In addition to the numerous doses of penicillin, smaller amounts of arsenic and bismuth are also employed. This extends the treatment time to at least six weeks. But since they are nt given as often as the wonder drug, hospitalization beyond 10 days is not necessary. Thereafter, blood tests are made at intervals for two years in order to be certain that cure has occurred.

Recently more potent preparations of penicillin in beeswax have been utilized. These compounds absorb more slowly so that only one or two hypos daily are needed, which means that the patient can go to the doctor's office and not be obliged to take time off from work.

Penicillin is not as useful in late cases, especially when the malady has wrought permanent damage or has affected the nervous system. This does not imply that the victim should not be given the benefit of a trial because sometimes extremely large doses, over a long period, have merit. Should the remedy fail, the physician resorts to the more conventional measures.

MASSAGE AND WATER

F. G. writes: Is massage classified as hydrotherapy?

REPLY

No. "Hydrotherapy" means treatment by water. Sometimes the two agents are combined as when an arm or a leg is placed in a whirlpool bath. Both procedures are grouped under the term "physiotherapy."

WEEPING SINEW

R. E. writes: What cases a ganglion?

REPLY

No one knows how these cystic tumors begin. They develop close to joints and tendon sheaths and may follow injury or infection. Nevertheless, these factors have never been proved as causative.

TWISTED HEELS

J. K. writes: What causes rotating heels?

REPLY

I never heard of this expression but if you refer to the fact that the heels bend outward, flat feet or improper footwear are the most likely causes.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

THE "HOME MOVIE"

There's a device that allows you to amuse yourself at home and drive away the guests at the same time. It's called the "home movie."

It's great for Hollywood people. Now they can see their own films in safety.

"I wouldn't say it bores my friends but I hear yawns that boom out of the darkness like the sound track of a Tarzan picture.

Of course, when the guests forget that they're not in a real movie house it's hard on the furniture.

I keep finding gum under the seats.

Last week I had trouble with the machine and put the film in backward. "Temptation" came out in "who needs you?"

And one night I thought I was showing the "Jolson Story" and in the second reel I discovered I was running off a typewriter ribbon.

Of course, everything comes out smaller with the 16 mm film. Gary Cooper looks like Butch Jenkins, and we had to use two screens to show Sydney Greenstreet's pictures. Both chins wouldn't fit on one screen.

And whenever it gets cold in the house we run off two or three reels of "Forever Amber."

Just for the fun of it, though, we tried holding a big preview like one of those Hollywood openings. We couldn't get the usual spotlight so I had my kids out on the lawn lighting matches.

ELECTION RETURNS IN POLAND

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—At the exact moment President Truman's tightrope-walking Secretary of War Bob Patterson was refusing to help beleaguered Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia, President Truman himself was blasting Arnall's chief foe, the Ku Klux Klan.

Truman's blast took place at the first meeting of his Committee on Civil Rights, organized to combat bigotry and race prejudice. The President talked straight-from-the-shoulder and the chiurchmen, businessmen and educators who comprise his committee were greatly impressed.

Livest member of the new committee turned out to be Charles Luckman, head of the giant Lever Brothers Soap Company. Dullest was Charles E. Wilson, pontifical head of General Electric. Appointed Chairman of the civil rights group because he knew Truman back in the days of the old Truman Committee, Wilson seemed more engrossed in details than in big objectives.

New York Attorney Morris Ernst, author of "The Four Freedoms," caused a buzz of discussion at the closed-door meeting when he proposed:

"Why not invite the Ku Klux Klan, the Columbians and Gerald L. K. Smith to give us their views on racial prejudice also? There is no reason why we should shut our ears and hear only one side. Our final report will be stronger if we hear both sides."

Another proposal the Civil Rights Committee considered was withholding federal funds from state universities which discriminated against racial or religious groups. Such a provision, introduced by Republican Senator Langer of North Dakota two years ago, killed the Federal Education Fund, aimed at aiding public schools and raising teachers' salaries. When Langer introduced his non-discrimination amendment, Southern Congressmen threatened a filibuster.

Note—Mainspring behind the organization of the Civil Rights Committee was Attorney General Tom Clark who, though from the south, has consistently crusaded for protection of civil rights.

Will Marshall Get Tough?

Friends of new Secretary of State Marshall report that while resting in Hawaii he was also studying plans for reorganization of the State Department, including a knock-down, drag-out battle with the so-called white-spat career diplomats who for years have had a closed shop on U. S. foreign policy.

General Marshall already has had the benefit of a thorough State Department study made for him by the former Secretary of the U. S. General Staff, Col. Frank McCarthy who, like Marshall, is a Virginia Military Institute graduate. Originally Jimmie Byrnes appointed McCarthy Assistant Secretary of State with the job of reorganizing the State Department. But the career clique, just as skillful at closed-shop techniques as John L. Lewis, bogged him down.

Tenderly and adroitly they cut McCarthy off from Byrnes. Sick and disgusted, McCarthy finally resigned.

In the interim, Byrnes' South Carolina law partner, efficient Donald Russell, has carried on in McCarthy's place. Even he, however, has had trouble bucking the kingpins of career diplomacy. Russell has championed the principle of the career service, has tried to boost the younger, live-wire diplomats, has set up joint diplomatic schools with the Army-Navy and has demanded that all diplomats get a chance to come home on occasional visits so they won't forget they're still Americans.

Diplomatic Closed Shop

However, not even Russell, good as he is and close as he is to Jimmie Byrnes, could budge the career kingpins' closed shop. In the last two weeks of Byrnes' rule, they succeeded in:

1. Blocking Russell's plan to move the State Department out of its ancient palace to a more efficient building.

2. Starting a boom for Freeman Mathews, detailed and dull, to become Undersecretary of State.

3. Putting a few road-blocks in the path of hard-working Assistant Secretary Bill Benton.

Finally the kingpins almost put their man, Sam Reber, in the Office of International Conferences. Reber is sometimes referred to as "the so--called Sam Reber" because he authored Cordell Hull's wartime statement blasting DeGaulle's forces as the "so-called Free French."

With the USA now trying to build up middle-of-the-road and deGaulle Frenchmen as against Communist French, Reber's appointment to a job handling international conferences was frowned upon.

This is some of the finagling inside the State Department reported to Marshall during his so-called vacation. Meanwhile, Marshall is on the lookout for some hard-headed aides who can recognize deadwood when they see it.

Georgia Fascism

Six months ago, this writer, challenging the Ku Klux Klan from the steps of the State Capitol in Atlanta,, wrote a column on the new "Cracker Dictator" and his son, who had just started their return to power in Georgia. To get the full picture of what is going on in Georgia today, excerpts from that column may be worth repeating.

"Already Herman Talmadge," this column reported in July, "is preparing to run for the U. S. Senate or succeed his father . . . Like Hitler, once Talmadge gets into power, no opposition party can ever stop him. No better plan for Fascism has ever been devised in the United States . . . The Georgia election looks like the most alarming political development in the nation . . . Like Hitler, elected by a minority of the voters, Talmadge also has a great radio technique. A total of 125 Georgia newspapers were against him; seven for, but his radio technique won out . . . Just as big business in Germany put up the money to finance Hitler, big business in Georgia financed Talmadge . . . As Governor, he had put textile workers behind a barbed-wire concentration camp, and big business expects Talmadge to do it again.

Mein Kampf In Georgia

"Now that they have elected their 'Cracker Dictator' however, some businessmen are already worried for fear they have a bear by the tail . . . Talmadge boasts of having read 'Mein Kampf' seven times. He makes no secret of being a student of Hitlerian methods. During his previous 'reigns' as Governor, Talmadge called out the militia 17 different times.

"For a while no one could get into the Highway Department without a military pass. Talmadge's chief use of the militia was to oust elected officials. It made no difference that the State Treasurer had been duly elected by the people of Georgia. Talmadge called out the military and forcibly evicted him from office. When the Treasurer locked the vault where state money was kept, Talmadge blew the door off the vault . . . For a while Talmadge spent the state's funds on a cash basis, with no record of expenditures. He employed an ex-racketeer to inspect the books of the universities and if he didn't like them, they were burned . . . Talmadge has promised to run Georgia just the way he did before. Those who know him say he is ruthless enough to do it."

Key To Economic Condition Now And In Future

By MARK SULLIVAN

To the country's economic condition, both for the coming year and in the longer term, there is a key. It is more than a key, it is the determining factor — about prices, wages, volume of business, practically every aspect of industry, and in the long range some aspects of the social structure.

The key is the negotiation, postponed last week but expected during the coming week, between heads of CIO and heads of the steel industry, over a demand by the CIO United Steel Workers for a wage raise. Steel is a key industry, what is done in it will affect all industry. Besides, the demand in steel is part of a broad demand by CIO in other industries, a general demand spoken of as "the second round," in reference to the successful demands last year as the first round. In the automobile industry, the demand is specific, 23½ cents per hour. In the electrical and other industries the demands while not in specific figures, are large. A statement put out by CIO some weeks ago spoke of 25 per cent.

Basic Propaganda of CIO

The first question for the country to grasp about this demand is whether these wage raises, if granted, would result in increases in prices. That is hardly a question at all, except that CIO says there can be such wage raises without price increases. This indeed is the basic propaganda of CIO, formally and conspiculously proclaimed as an economic formula, and vigorously sprayed upon the country, especially workers, by CIO agencies of publicity.

The assertion, that there can be such wage raises as CIO demands, without price increases, has been thoroughly refuted by many authorities, including the other great labor organization, AFL. The AFL Bulletin last week said that "to deceive workers by leading them to believe they should receive such a general increase is a most irresponsible policy."

Clear and absolute refutation of the CIO assertion is made difficult by a negligible exception. It is a fact that a limited number of companies, in a limited number of industries, have profits which could enable them, for the immediate present, to grand limited wage raises without increasing the prices of what they make. But that could last only so long as the existing profits of these particular companies last. For the long range the question can be answered by any reader by putting it simply and concretely. Will an automobile, made with labor paid $1.23½ cents an hour cost more to manufacture than the same automobile made with labor at $1 an hour?

Answered By Recent Experience

The question is convincingly answered by recent experience. A year ago the CIO steel workers' union demanded a wage raise, and got one of 18½ cents per hour. Immediately the price of steel was increased $5 a ton, with corresponding increases in goods made of steel. About the same time Mr. John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers demanded and got a wage raise, and this was immediately followed by an increase in the price of coal. Both these price increases were made, not by the industries concerned, but by decree of the Truman Administration. They were acknowledgments by an Administration reluctant to increase prices that if a wage raise is made a price increase must follow. As CIO's first round of wage demands last year was followed by a round of price increases, so would the same result follow this second round of wage demands if they are successful.

The far-reaching significance of this is that it would run counter to, indeed reverse the present economic trend, which moves powerfully toward a lower price level of goods generally, a lower cost of living. That this lower cost of living is desirable for the country, that it is essential to a wholesome and stable economic condition, is affirmed by authori-

Biggest Virtue Of 'Merger' Problem Is That It Contains Flexible Clauses

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 — Only those who never really understood the so-called "merger" problem are surprised by the new plan for unification of the armed services. And, it might be added, only those who have been talking as if the United States lost the war and have been criticising the U. S. joint chiefs of staff may be disappointed by the new plan.

For the truth is the new plan is very much like the plan which won the biggest war in all history—a war that covered all continents and the seven seas, a war in which the United States fought off enemies on both seacoasts and concurrently transported by sea arms and munitions to all the countries allied with us.

The new plan, it is hoped, will put an end to bickering. This came largely from a grab for power inside the armed services by officers who became panicky over the prospect of reduced appropriations and who sincerely became worried that the "merger" would weaken instead of strengthen our defense system.

The new plan is a good plan because it doesn't materially disturb the old plan. The executive order merely affirms what has been done before with one or two exceptions—and the exceptions are too vague to be appraised or evaluated properly as yet.

The army, navy and air forces, respectively, are to be independent and autonomous but they are ordered to "coordinate" their "joint" operations whenever necessary. The U. S. joint chiefs of staff will do the "coordinating" in case of war because a splendid job was done by that same directing group during the last war. The "divided command" propaganda was really very much exaggerated.

Net Gain Of New Plan

The net gain in the new plan is that some avoidance of duplication in purchasing may be possible. Likewise the Army Air Forces get what they really have wanted and deserve—an autonomous position with respect to the army and navy.

What the Army Air Forces do not get—and should not have been given—is command of tactical operations when engaged in by the Army or Navy, respectively, and when air cover or Marine reconnaissance is desired.

It remains yet to be determined whether a ground commander or a naval commander can get the help of Army Air Force planes in an emergency operation. It is this chapter of war history which needs to be revealed, for some of the saddest days of the war were those when Army Air Forces refused to turn away from their absorption in strategic bombing to help in specific tactical operations needed by the Navy unless explicitly ordered to do so by the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

The Army Air Forces should have complete control of strategic bombing, while airplanes needed for tactical operations should be directed by commanders on the ground or on ships in fleet task forces, respectively. That lesson was demonstrated again and again in the last war.

The new plan does give the appearance of four separate air forces for tactical operations, but this will surprise only those who oversimplified the "merger" problem and, by analogy, might have argued that all guns, for instance, should be in one department whether used on land or sea or in the air. Neither guns nor planes constitute a common denominator. The new developments in warfare suggest a specialized task force suitable to perform specific missions and using all weapons. The demands of fleet operations or ground-army operations are properly specialized, as are the demands of Amphibious operations such as those in which the Marine Corps has achieved so much glory.

Not In Single Department

The new plan, fortunately, does not plunge all our armed services into the confusion of a single department of defense but permits autonomy and specialization. That's the best way to insure efficiency in the changing techniques of war. The camouflage of a single secretary of defense is meaningless, for the two civilian secretaries in the past have also played a secondary role. The true command in war is placed where it has been and ought to be—in the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

As for peacetime budgets, these will present a real problem. Each service will request what it needs through civilian secretaries and each will have a spokesman of high rank. Until the "Buck Rogers era" is actually here and some of the fanciful weapons talked about are a reality, the American defense mechanism necessarily takes on for a while at least the same pattern that was used so successfully in fighting the last war to victory.

The new plan happily contains flexible provisions. That is its biggest virtue. There will be some economies—not much in the end. But where lives are likely to be at stake, economy in dollars has again and again been proved costly

The biggest advantage about the new "merger" plan is that it may, for the time being anyway, stop the friction between the services and spare Congress the embarrassment of deciding inter-service debates. It would be desirable, however, if Congress did go a bit further and delineate a lot more carefully the functions of the different services than is apparently covered by the executive order. This order seems to have been a typical compromise in order to move the matter along to Congress, where the necessary legislation must be passed anyway to change existing functions.

TODAY'S TALK — Key To Appraisal Of Character Is Human Voice

By GEO. MATTHEW ADAMS

Pleasant Voices

One of the most accurate keys to the appraisal of character is that of the human voice. Once a voice is heard, the man or woman begins to radiate—to spread himself or herself out. Undoubtedly it was the voice, and expression of the late President Roosevelt, that had more to do with keeping him in the White House than any other factor. He began with "My Friends"—and the listeners felt that he was their friend, and so followed him to the end.

Portal-to-Portal Suits And Arithmetic Involved

Further examination of the proceedings leading to the United States Supreme Court decision on which labor unions are basing suits for billions in overtime pay only adds to the confusion. There is confusion not only about what has been decided, but what may be decided if the ruling sticks.

Apparently the original question was whether men should be paid for time spent in line while punching time clocks and getting to the work stations. The judge accepted a finding of a master that the men did not necessarily work while in the plant prior to and after regular worked hours, but he compromised on a theory that they probably worked part of the time. It was this surmise that the Supreme Court approved in language which inspired the unions to go after the big money.

The implication is that if employes can collect triple time for these odd minutes, even though on piece work, the employer may have grounds for attempting to recover money paid out for time spent within the plant away from actual production and unaccounted for, such as time spent on slow-down strikes.

A survey of the cost of back triple-time payments to 1938 reveals some shocking possibilities. Portal-to-portal suits now filed in the United States amount, at "face value," to about $5,000,000,000. It's the interest on the national debt, about which the nation is worrying. In fact, its twice what the national debt was before the First World War. More to the point, it exceeds the dividends paid by all incorporated businesses and industries in a year, even the war years. It exceeds the savings of all corporations, in all but the very best of years.

In Cumberland, to give some idea of cost, the portal-to-portal suit filed by employes against the Celanese Corporation of America totals $3,500,000, or triple time payment of $7,000,000. That is approximately one-third of the yearly payroll to these workers, which is in the neighborhood of $23,000,000, and is about one-seventh of the $47,000,000 assessed valuation of all real estate in this city—quite a hunk of cash.

To carry this further, the cost to the motor car industry, based on the portal-to-portal suits filed against that industry, would be more than twice the plant investment.

But still, every day, unions file more portal-to-portal suits adding millions of dollars to the already stupendous total. The situation has become absurd, and union leaders must recognize it as such. But many rank and file workers, who haven't bothered with the arithmetic involved, are expecting to collect. There are going to be a lot of disappointed workers if, as seems very likely, this portal-to-portal business collapses—of its own weight, if for no other reason. And their resentment will be directed as much at their union leaders as at anyone else. Perhaps more.

But the fuzzy thinking of the courts does not absolve Congress from blame for writing a law into which judges could read fantastic meanings that led to the suits. It is now up to Congress to set a limit on such suits.

One proposal is to reduce the national debt, which we owe only to ourselves, at the rate of five billions a year. What! Dig up all that money to pay ourselves?

Condemned Louisiana Negro And The Law Of The Nation

In 1937 when the country rocked in controversy over the Supreme Court, Willie Francis, an 18-year-old negro in Louisiana, was only a child. He probably doesn't understand now any of the great social and economic issues at stake when the "nine old men" were denounced for their 5 to 4 decisions.

But nobody could understand more clearly than Willie Francis the issue involved in last week's 5 to 4 decision by the younger successors to the "nine old men." For that issue is Willie Francis's life. The youth, condemned to death for murder, was placed in the electric chair last May 3. The current was switched on, but didn't do the job. His lawyers carried an appeal to the highest court, contending it would be "cruel and unusual punishment" to send him again to the chair.

Of the nine justices, four agreed, saying the law required instantaneous electrocution, and that if carried out by running current through his body at intervals "not sufficient, until the final time, to kill him, such a form of torture would rival that of burning at the stake." In language equally judicial, the majority decision held that failure of the electric chair to work was an "unforeseenable accident," not offensive to constitution guarantees against cruel punishment, so the state could proceed to successful execution of the sentence.

The separate opinion of one of the majority—Mr. Justice Frankfurter—who said he was "strongly drawn" by the views of the majority, but voted the other way because the Supreme Court has no legal right to interfere with "a state's insistence in its pound of flesh," was a crowning irony.

If the chair works the next time, Willie Francis will be just as dead as if the high judges had agreed 9 to 0 on what the law requires and permits. Then he won't have to worry about ironies.

If the last of the Christmas cigars have been smoked and the Good Woman wonders whether the house is burning down, it probably is.

One-Way Bottles

Something apparently has to be done if goods that come in bottles are to continue to come in bottles.

There is a serious shortage of bottles affecting principally dairymen, brewers and makers of soft drinks. It's so serious they have hired public relations experts to start a campaign.

The campaign is aimed at getting the empties returned. Bottle makers cannot get enough materials to meet the demand for bottles. The answer lies in laying hands on as many as possible of the amazing total of 25,000,000 milk, 10,000,000 soft drink and nobody knows how many beer bottles that went out and never came back.

It is estimated that from six to two dozen empty bottles are gathering dust in virtually every house in the country. It would cost nothing and help much if they were turned in.

Luxury taxes are not to be reduced after all. But it was a beautiful dream while it lasted.

PENCILLIN IN SYPHILIS

FOR centuries man has been plagued by social diseases, but, with the advent of penicillin, the two most important types have been dealt a knockout blow. Gonorrhea frequently is controlled by a single injection and the early manifestations of syphilis require only a few weeks in contrast to 2½ years by the older methods.

It was just a comparatively few years ago that the subject was taboo and the names of these disorders rarely appeared in print. There were so many good reasons why this attitude was taken, since it is necessary to attach some stigma in order to discourage promiscuity. But when the concept failed, and too many innocent victims were involved, a different viewpoint was necessary.

Forewarning thru education and examinations, both voluntary and compulsory, have helped remarkably. Blood tests are performed in industry, hospitals, offices, on expectant mothers, and applicants for marriage licenses. In addition, adequate and early care of the afflicted has minimized its spread.

The public health services deserve considerable credit for the campaign. They have made treatment centers available to those who cannot afford to see private physicians and have in fact become specialists in this field. Their program was extremely beneficial prior to the discovery of the effect of penicillin. Many drugs were available and several plans were avocated for using various combinations. A patient received 12 injections of this, then 12 of that; meanwhile taking a third variety in tablet form. Some shots were given once a week; others every five days. Reactions were common and the length of treatment was so disheartening that many were content to abide by their fate. A few medical men had trouble keeping up to date and consequently were not taking advantage of advances.

Penicillin brought about a change particularly in the early stages where the product is most effective. The best results are obtained when the procedure is used in conjunction with some of the older drugs. In addition to the numerous doses of penicillin, smaller amounts of arsenic and bismuth are also employed. This extends the treatment time to at least six weeks. But since they are nt given as often as the wonder drug, hospitalization beyond 10 days is not necessary. Thereafter, blood tests are made at intervals for two years in order to be certain that cure has occurred.

Recently more potent preparations of penicillin in beeswax have been utilized. These compounds absorb more slowly so that only one or two hypos daily are needed, which means that the patient can go to the doctor's office and not be obliged to take time off from work.

Penicillin is not as useful in late cases, especially when the malady has wrought permanent damage or has affected the nervous system. This does not imply that the victim should not be given the benefit of a trial because sometimes extremely large doses, over a long period, have merit. Should the remedy fail, the physician resorts to the more conventional measures.

MASSAGE AND WATER

F. G. writes: Is massage classified as hydrotherapy?

REPLY

No. "Hydrotherapy" means treatment by water. Sometimes the two agents are combined as when an arm or a leg is placed in a whirlpool bath. Both procedures are grouped under the term "physiotherapy."

WEEPING SINEW

R. E. writes: What cases a ganglion?

REPLY

No one knows how these cystic tumors begin. They develop close to joints and tendon sheaths and may follow injury or infection. Nevertheless, these factors have never been proved as causative.

TWISTED HEELS

J. K. writes: What causes rotating heels?

REPLY

I never heard of this expression but if you refer to the fact that the heels bend outward, flat feet or improper footwear are the most likely causes.

It Says Here

THE "HOME MOVIE"

There's a device that allows you to amuse yourself at home and drive away the guests at the same time. It's called the "home movie."

It's great for Hollywood people. Now they can see their own films in safety.

"I wouldn't say it bores my friends but I hear yawns that boom out of the darkness like the sound track of a Tarzan picture.

Of course, when the guests forget that they're not in a real movie house it's hard on the furniture.

I keep finding gum under the seats.

Last week I had trouble with the machine and put the film in backward. "Temptation" came out in "who needs you?"

And one night I thought I was showing the "Jolson Story" and in the second reel I discovered I was running off a typewriter ribbon.

Of course, everything comes out smaller with the 16 mm film. Gary Cooper looks like Butch Jenkins, and we had to use two screens to show Sydney Greenstreet's pictures. Both chins wouldn't fit on one screen.

And whenever it gets cold in the house we run off two or three reels of "Forever Amber."

Just for the fun of it, though, we tried holding a big preview like one of those Hollywood openings. We couldn't get the usual spotlight so I had my kids out on the lawn lighting matches.

ELECTION RETURNS IN POLAND

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—At the exact moment President Truman's tightrope-walking Secretary of War Bob Patterson was refusing to help beleaguered Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia, President Truman himself was blasting Arnall's chief foe, the Ku Klux Klan.

Truman's blast took place at the first meeting of his Committee on Civil Rights, organized to combat bigotry and race prejudice. The President talked straight-from-the-shoulder and the chiurchmen, businessmen and educators who comprise his committee were greatly impressed.

Livest member of the new committee turned out to be Charles Luckman, head of the giant Lever Brothers Soap Company. Dullest was Charles E. Wilson, pontifical head of General Electric. Appointed Chairman of the civil rights group because he knew Truman back in the days of the old Truman Committee, Wilson seemed more engrossed in details than in big objectives.

New York Attorney Morris Ernst, author of "The Four Freedoms," caused a buzz of discussion at the closed-door meeting when he proposed:

"Why not invite the Ku Klux Klan, the Columbians and Gerald L. K. Smith to give us their views on racial prejudice also? There is no reason why we should shut our ears and hear only one side. Our final report will be stronger if we hear both sides."

Another proposal the Civil Rights Committee considered was withholding federal funds from state universities which discriminated against racial or religious groups. Such a provision, introduced by Republican Senator Langer of North Dakota two years ago, killed the Federal Education Fund, aimed at aiding public schools and raising teachers' salaries. When Langer introduced his non-discrimination amendment, Southern Congressmen threatened a filibuster.

Note—Mainspring behind the organization of the Civil Rights Committee was Attorney General Tom Clark who, though from the south, has consistently crusaded for protection of civil rights.

Will Marshall Get Tough?

Friends of new Secretary of State Marshall report that while resting in Hawaii he was also studying plans for reorganization of the State Department, including a knock-down, drag-out battle with the so-called white-spat career diplomats who for years have had a closed shop on U. S. foreign policy.

General Marshall already has had the benefit of a thorough State Department study made for him by the former Secretary of the U. S. General Staff, Col. Frank McCarthy who, like Marshall, is a Virginia Military Institute graduate. Originally Jimmie Byrnes appointed McCarthy Assistant Secretary of State with the job of reorganizing the State Department. But the career clique, just as skillful at closed-shop techniques as John L. Lewis, bogged him down.

Tenderly and adroitly they cut McCarthy off from Byrnes. Sick and disgusted, McCarthy finally resigned.

In the interim, Byrnes' South Carolina law partner, efficient Donald Russell, has carried on in McCarthy's place. Even he, however, has had trouble bucking the kingpins of career diplomacy. Russell has championed the principle of the career service, has tried to boost the younger, live-wire diplomats, has set up joint diplomatic schools with the Army-Navy and has demanded that all diplomats get a chance to come home on occasional visits so they won't forget they're still Americans.

Diplomatic Closed Shop

However, not even Russell, good as he is and close as he is to Jimmie Byrnes, could budge the career kingpins' closed shop. In the last two weeks of Byrnes' rule, they succeeded in:

1. Blocking Russell's plan to move the State Department out of its ancient palace to a more efficient building.

2. Starting a boom for Freeman Mathews, detailed and dull, to become Undersecretary of State.

3. Putting a few road-blocks in the path of hard-working Assistant Secretary Bill Benton.

Finally the kingpins almost put their man, Sam Reber, in the Office of International Conferences. Reber is sometimes referred to as "the so-called Sam Reber" because he authored Cordell Hull's wartime statement blasting DeGaulle's forces as the "so-called Free French."

With the USA now trying to build up middle-of-the-road and deGaulle Frenchmen as against Communist French, Reber's appointment to a job handling international conferences was frowned upon.

This is some of the finagling inside the State Department reported to Marshall during his so-called vacation. Meanwhile, Marshall is on the lookout for some hard-headed aides who can recognize deadwood when they see it.

Georgia Fascism

Six months ago, this writer, challenging the Ku Klux Klan from the steps of the State Capitol in Atlanta,, wrote a column on the new "Cracker Dictator" and his son, who had just started their return to power in Georgia. To get the full picture of what is going on in Georgia today, excerpts from that column may be worth repeating.

"Already Herman Talmadge," this column reported in July, "is preparing to run for the U. S. Senate or succeed his father . . . Like Hitler, once Talmadge gets into power, no opposition party can ever stop him. No better plan for Fascism has ever been devised in the United States . . . The Georgia election looks like the most alarming political development in the nation . . . Like Hitler, elected by a minority of the voters, Talmadge also has a great radio technique. A total of 125 Georgia newspapers were against him; seven for, but his radio technique won out . . . Just as big business in Germany put up the money to finance Hitler, big business in Georgia financed Talmadge . . . As Governor, he had put textile workers behind a barbed-wire concentration camp, and big business expects Talmadge to do it again.

Mein Kampf In Georgia

"Now that they have elected their 'Cracker Dictator' however, some businessmen are already worried for fear they have a bear by the tail . . . Talmadge boasts of having read 'Mein Kampf' seven times. He makes no secret of being a student of Hitlerian methods. During his previous 'reigns' as Governor, Talmadge called out the militia 17 different times.

"For a while no one could get into the Highway Department without a military pass. Talmadge's chief use of the militia was to oust elected officials. It made no difference that the State Treasurer had been duly elected by the people of Georgia. Talmadge called out the military and forcibly evicted him from office. When the Treasurer locked the vault where state money was kept, Talmadge blew the door off the vault . . . For a while Talmadge spent the state's funds on a cash basis, with no record of expenditures. He employed an ex-racketeer to inspect the books of the universities and if he didn't like them, they were burned . . . Talmadge has promised to run Georgia just the way he did before. Those who know him say he is ruthless enough to do it."

Key To Economic Condition Now And In Future

By MARK SULLIVAN

To the country's economic condition, both for the coming year and in the longer term, there is a key. It is more than a key, it is the determining factor — about prices, wages, volume of business, practically every aspect of industry, and in the long range some aspects of the social structure.

The key is the negotiation, postponed last week but expected during the coming week, between heads of CIO and heads of the steel industry, over a demand by the CIO United Steel Workers for a wage raise. Steel is a key industry, what is done in it will affect all industry. Besides, the demand in steel is part of a broad demand by CIO in other industries, a general demand spoken of as "the second round," in reference to the successful demands last year as the first round. In the automobile industry, the demand is specific, 23½ cents per hour. In the electrical and other industries the demands while not in specific figures, are large. A statement put out by CIO some weeks ago spoke of 25 per cent.

Basic Propaganda of CIO

The first question for the country to grasp about this demand is whether these wage raises, if granted, would result in increases in prices. That is hardly a question at all, except that CIO says there can be such wage raises without price increases. This indeed is the basic propaganda of CIO, formally and conspiculously proclaimed as an economic formula, and vigorously sprayed upon the country, especially workers, by CIO agencies of publicity.

The assertion, that there can be such wage raises as CIO demands, without price increases, has been thoroughly refuted by many authorities, including the other great labor organization, AFL. The AFL Bulletin last week said that "to deceive workers by leading them to believe they should receive such a general increase is a most irresponsible policy."

Clear and absolute refutation of the CIO assertion is made difficult by a negligible exception. It is a fact that a limited number of companies, in a limited number of industries, have profits which could enable them, for the immediate present, to grand limited wage raises without increasing the prices of what they make. But that could last only so long as the existing profits of these particular companies last. For the long range the question can be answered by any reader by putting it simply and concretely. Will an automobile, made with labor paid $1.23½ cents an hour cost more to manufacture than the same automobile made with labor at $1 an hour?

Answered By Recent Experience

The question is convincingly answered by recent experience. A year ago the CIO steel workers' union demanded a wage raise, and got one of 18½ cents per hour. Immediately the price of steel was increased $5 a ton, with corresponding increases in goods made of steel. About the same time Mr. John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers demanded and got a wage raise, and this was immediately followed by an increase in the price of coal. Both these price increases were made, not by the industries concerned, but by decree of the Truman Administration. They were acknowledgments by an Administration reluctant to increase prices that if a wage raise is made a price increase must follow. As CIO's first round of wage demands last year was followed by a round of price increases, so would the same result follow this second round of wage demands if they are successful.

The far-reaching significance of this is that it would run counter to, indeed reverse the present economic trend, which moves powerfully toward a lower price level of goods generally, a lower cost of living. That this lower cost of living is desirable for the country, that it is essential to a wholesome and stable economic condition, is affirmed by authori-

Biggest Virtue Of 'Merger' Problem Is That It Contains Flexible Clauses

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 — Only those who never really understood the so-called "merger" problem are surprised by the new plan for unification of the armed services. And, it might be added, only those who have been talking as if the United States lost the war and have been criticising the U. S. joint chiefs of staff may be disappointed by the new plan.

For the truth is the new plan is very much like the plan which won the biggest war in all history—a war that covered all continents and the seven seas, a war in which the United States fought off enemies on both seacoasts and concurrently transported by sea arms and munitions to all the countries allied with us.

The new plan, it is hoped, will put an end to bickering. This came largely from a grab for power inside the armed services by officers who became panicky over the prospect of reduced appropriations and who sincerely became worried that the "merger" would weaken instead of strengthen our defense system.

The new plan is a good plan because it doesn't materially disturb the old plan. The executive order merely affirms what has been done before with one or two exceptions—and the exceptions are too vague to be appraised or evaluated properly as yet.

The army, navy and air forces, respectively, are to be independent and autonomous but they are ordered to "coordinate" their "joint" operations whenever necessary. The U. S. joint chiefs of staff will do the "coordinating" in case of war because a splendid job was done by that same directing group during the last war. The "divided command" propaganda was really very much exaggerated.

Net Gain Of New Plan

The net gain in the new plan is that some avoidance of duplication in purchasing may be possible. Likewise the Army Air Forces get what they really have wanted and deserve—an autonomous position with respect to the army and navy.

What the Army Air Forces do not get—and should not have been given—is command of tactical operations when engaged in by the Army or Navy, respectively, and when air cover or Marine reconnaissance is desired.

It remains yet to be determined whether a ground commander or a naval commander can get the help of Army Air Force planes in an emergency operation. It is this chapter of war history which needs to be revealed, for some of the saddest days of the war were those when Army Air Forces refused to turn away from their absorption in strategic bombing to help in specific tactical operations needed by the Navy unless explicitly ordered to do so by the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

The Army Air Forces should have complete control of strategic bombing, while airplanes needed for tactical operations should be directed by commanders on the ground or on ships in fleet task forces, respectively. That lesson was demonstrated again and again in the last war.

The new plan does give the appearance of four separate air forces for tactical operations, but this will surprise only those who oversimplified the "merger" problem and, by analogy, might have argued that all guns, for instance, should be in one department whether used on land or sea or in the air. Neither guns nor planes constitute a common denominator. The new developments in warfare suggest a specialized task force suitable to perform specific missions and using all weapons. The demands of fleet operations or ground-army operations are properly specialized, as are the demands of Amphibious operations such as those in which the Marine Corps has achieved so much glory.

Not In Single Department

The new plan, fortunately, does not plunge all our armed services into the confusion of a single department of defense but permits autonomy and specialization. That's the best way to insure efficiency in the changing techniques of war. The camouflage of a single secretary of defense is meaningless, for the two civilian secretaries in the past have also played a secondary role. The true command in war is placed where it has been and ought to be—in the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

As for peacetime budgets, these will present a real problem. Each service will request what it needs through civilian secretaries and each will have a spokesman of high rank. Until the "Buck Rogers era" is actually here and some of the fanciful weapons talked about are a reality, the American defense mechanism necessarily takes on for a while at least the same pattern that was used so successfully in fighting the last war to victory.

The new plan happily contains flexible provisions. That is its biggest virtue. There will be some economies—not much in the end. But where lives are likely to be at stake, economy in dollars has again and again been proved costly

The biggest advantage about the new "merger" plan is that it may, for the time being anyway, stop the friction between the services and spare Congress the embarrassment of deciding inter-service debates. It would be desirable, however, if Congress did go a bit further and delineate a lot more carefully the functions of the different services than is apparently covered by the executive order. This order seems to have been a typical compromise in order to move the matter along to Congress, where the necessary legislation must be passed anyway to change existing functions.

Key To Appraisal Of Character Is Human Voice

Pleasant Voices

One of the most accurate keys to the appraisal of character is that of the human voice. Once a voice is heard, the man or woman begins to radiate—to spread himself or herself out. Undoubtedly it was the voice, and expression of the late President Roosevelt, that had more to do with keeping him in the White House than any other factor. He began with "My Friends"—and the listeners felt that he was their friend, and so followed him to the end.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Mr. Morgan L. Fitch, President Nat'l Ass'n of Real Estate Boards Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mr. Fitch:

I've been wanting to write you a fan letter for a long time. I thought I ought to compliment you real estate men on the public-spirited statements you've been making about the housing shortage. With no thought of personal gain, your members have been telling America the way to get a roof over people's heads is to knock off all the ceilings. It's obvious to anyone who listens why you want the government to stop appropriating money to build houses. It's because you real estaters want the honor of getting the veteran out of the Quonset hut, not to mention the dog house. You feel the country owes a lot to the kids who won the war, and you want to be the ones to give it to them.

Billy Rose

Well, before you give too much away, I think I ought to warn you it sometimes doesn't pay to be too kind-hearted. Let me tell you the story of Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe, and how he froze his feet. The next time your Board meets, it might be a good idea to relay this yarn to the members. You might even put it to music and use it for a theme song.

Jim Frisbe lived in Sequatchie, County, Tennessee. He was a fine figure of a man, standing six-foot-three with shoes on. One day he was sitting on a fence, whittling, when an old lady came by. "What time do you figure it's getting to be, Jim?" she asked.

Without a second's hesitation, Jim gave her the right time. That's how he got the name of Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe.

Jim never took a job. Figured it might deprive a fellowman of employment. Old Judge Collins used to say Jim would make a dandy farmer if he put his mind to it. But Jim was too kind for that. Figured he would raise such a big crop it would drive down prices for the other farmers.

When Kind-hearted Jim started courting Sary Sprague, everybody said she was the luckiest gal in Sequatchie County. Sary was a pretty little thing, with hair the color of shucked corn. Jim would come and sit on the Spragues' fence, and whittle while Sary toted water and fed the hogs. Sary's pappy was having a hard time feeding seven children and four hound dogs off one rock patch of ground. When Kind-hearted Jim offered to marry Sary, everybody said, wasn't that just like him.

The ceremony was performed on a snowy Christmas Eve. When the dominie said, "I now pronounce you," not even the bride's mother could cry. It was silly shedding tears over a girl who was marrying up with the kindest man in Sequatchie County.

After the ceremony, there was apple-bobbing and fiddle-playing. The less fortunate girls waved goodbye as the newlyweds started out on the cold, windy walk up to Jim's cabin on the mountain.

Christmas dawned on one of the meanest days Sequatchie County had ever seen. A cold wind was knifing through the chinks in Jim's cabin, and rattling the tin plates on the shelf.

Sary stuck an arm out of the covers and drew it back as if someone had bitten it. "Sure is cold," she said to Jim.

"Sure is," Jim agreed. "It's Christmas, and we ought to have a fire. There's matches on the table."

"Thank you," said Sary, and climbed out of bed.

She shivered as she walked across the cold floor in her thin cotton nightgown. She found an old piece of brown paper and put it in the stove. Her fingers were getting numb, and she had a hard time chopping the stove wood. She lit a match, but before she could put it to the paper, the wind blew it out.

"Try cupping your hands," said Kind-hearted Jim.

Sary struck another match, and then another, but the wind kept snuffing them out. Finally she was down to the last match. She lit it inside the stove and moved it carefully toward the paper. A corner of the paper caught fire and started to blacken. And then, poof!—a blast of wind shrilled through the room and put the fire out.

Sary sat down on the floor, covered her face with her stiff, sooty hands, and began to sob. Christmas morning without a fire in this strange cabin was too much for her. Tears ran down her cheeks and plopped on the dirt-streaked wedding nightgown. Her skinny little body trembled.

This was more than Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe could bear to see. He grabbed hold of the quilt, and pulled it over his head.

The quilt was six inches shorter than Jim.

And that's how Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe froze his feet.

Sincerely,
Billy Rose.

Today's Talk

The radio has been a marvelous medium for the introduction of voices that are now household favorites. A dozen years or so ago I always tuned in to get the news at eleven o'clock at night by Arthur Hale, and when his time and program changed, I stayed with him, for I liked his voice, his sincere way of expression, and his ending "your Friend, Arthur Hale."

The feeling and sincerity that Bing Crosby puts into his voice over the radio has endeared him to millions. And that famous drawl of Will Rogers did the same. You can very accurately detect a "phoney" from his voice alone!

The voice of William Jennings Bryan captivated millions who had no idea of voting for him. I once heard him say that if all who so enthusiastically listened to him had voted for him(he would have been elected President. He was sincere, but they could not follow his ideas, though their apparent radicalism then is almost conservatism today. People used to wildly applaud Wendell Phillips and wonder the next day, when they read his speech, why they had! The voice did it.

The quiet, well modulated voice carries, times over, the conviction that a loud explosive voice does. The honest voice also almost speaks from the eyes as well. I like to look into folk's eyes as they talk. The two work together! I am a lover of all sports, and if it is Red Barber or Bil Corum who does the broadcasting, one is sure to be thrilled in listening, for both drama and humor are in the voices of each.

A pleasant voice is one of man's greatest assets—it has led many a man and woman to the very heights! Cultivate that kind of a voice, and you will go far.

To one very large group, the savers with funds in war bonds, life insurance policies and the like, the present lowering of the cost of living in their first break after several years of detriment. To see it reversed could lead to a discouragement have psychological and aconomic effects dangerous to even our form of society.

Dear Mr. Fitch:

I've been wanting to write you a fan letter for a long time. I thought I ought to compliment you real estate men on the public-spirited statements you've been making about the housing shortage. With no thought of personal gain, your members have been telling America the way to get a roof over people's heads is to knock off all the ceilings. It's obvious to anyone who listens why you want the government to stop appropriating money to build houses. It's because you real estaters want the honor of getting the veteran out of the Quonset hut, not to mention the dog house. You feel the country owes a lot to the kids who won the war, and you want to be the ones to give it to them.

Billy Rose

Well, before you give too much away, I think I ought to warn you it sometimes doesn't pay to be too kind-hearted. Let me tell you the story of Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe, and how he froze his feet. The next time your Board meets, it might be a good idea to relay this yarn to the members. You might even put it to music and use it for a theme song.

Jim Frisbe lived in Sequatchie, County, Tennessee. He was a fine figure of a man, standing six-foot-three with shoes on. One day he was sitting on a fence, whittling, when an old lady came by. "What time do you figure it's getting to be, Jim?" she asked.

Without a second's hesitation, Jim gave her the right time. That's how he got the name of Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe.

Jim never took a job. Figured it might deprive a fellowman of employment. Old Judge Collins used to say Jim would make a dandy farmer if he put his mind to it. But Jim was too kind for that. Figured he would raise such a big crop it would drive down prices for the other farmers.

When Kind-hearted Jim started courting Sary Sprague, everybody said she was the luckiest gal in Sequatchie County. Sary was a pretty little thing, with hair the color of shucked corn. Jim would come and sit on the Sprague's fence, and whittle while Sary toted water and fed the hogs. Sary's pappy was having a hard time feeding seven children and four hound dogs off one rock patch of ground. When Kind-hearted Jim offered to marry Sary, everybody said, wasn't that just like him.

The ceremony was performed on a snowy Christmas Eve. When the dominie said, "I now pronounce you," not even the bride's mother could cry. It was silly shedding tears over a girl who was marrying up with the kindest man in Sequatchie County.

After the ceremony, there was apple-bobbing and fiddle-playing. The less fortunate girls waved goodbye as the newlyweds started out on the cold, windy walk up to Jim's cabin on the mountain.

Christmas dawned on one of the meanest days Sequatchie County had ever seen. A cold wind was knifing through the chinks in Jim's cabin, and rattling the tin plates on the shelf.

Sary stuck an arm out of the covers and drew it back as if someone had bitten it. "Sure is cold," she said to Jim.

"Sure is," Jim agreed. "It's Christmas, and we ought to have a fire. There's matches on the table."

"Thank you," said Sary, and climbed out of bed.

She shivered as she walked across the cold floor in her thin cotton nightgown. She found an old piece of brown paper and put it in the stove. Her fingers were getting numb, and she had a hard time chopping the stove wood. She lit a match, but before she could put it to the paper, the wind blew it out.

"Try cupping your hands," said Kind-hearted Jim.

Sary struck another match, and then another, but the wind kept snuffing them out. Finally she was down to the last match. She lit it inside the stove and moved it carefully toward the paper. A corner of the paper caught fire and started to blacken. And then, poof!—a blast of wind shrilled through the room and put the fire out.

Sary sat down on the floor, covered her face with her stiff, sooty hands, and began to sob. Christmas morning without a fire in this strange cabin was too much for her. Tears ran down her cheeks and plopped on the dirt-streaked wedding nightgown. Her skinny little body trembled.

This was more than Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe could bear to see. He grabbed hold of the quilt, and pulled it over his head.

The quilt was six inches shorter than Jim.

And that's how Kind-hearted Jim Frisbe froze his feet.

Sincerely,
Billy Rose.

The radio has been a marvelous medium for the introduction of voices that are now housenold favorites. A dozen years or so ago I always tuned in to get the news at eleven o'clock at night by Arthur Hale, and when his time and program changed, I stayed with him, for I liked his voice, his sincere way of expression, and his ending "your Friend, Arthur Hale."

The feeling and sincerity that Bing Crosby puts into his voice over the radio has endeared him to millions. And that famous drawl of Will Rogers did the same. You can very accurately detect a "phoney" from his voice alone!

The voice of William Jennings Bryan captivated millions who had no idea of voting for him. I once heard him say that if all who so enthusiastically listened to him had voted for him(he would have been elected President. He was sincere, but they could not follow his ideas, though their apparent radicalism then is almost conservatism today. People used to wildly applaud Wendell Phillips and wonder the next day, when they read his speech, why they had! The voice did it.

The quiet, well modulated voice carries, times over, the conviction that a loud explosive voice does. The honest voice also almost speaks from the eyes as well. I like to look into folk's eyes as they talk. The two work together. I am a lover of all sports, and if it is Red Barber or Bil Corum who does the broadcasting, one is sure to be thrilled in listening, for both drama and humor are in the voices of each.

A pleasant voice is one of man's greatest assets—it has led many a man and woman to the very heights! Cultivate that kind of a voice, and you will go far.

ties, including President Truman in his recent message to Congress. Probably this is sensed and believed by most of the people. Probably also workers are coming to realize that a lowering of the cost of living, if general, is the equivalent of a wage raise, and fundamentally more desirable.

To one very large group, the savers with funds in war bonds, life insurance policies and the like, the present lowering of the cost of living in their first break after several years of detriment. To see it reversed could lead to a discouragement have psychological and aconomic effects dangerous to even our form of society.

Hyndman Sports League To Seek Turkey Hatchery

Efforts are being made by the Isaac Walton League of Hyndman, Pa., to persuade the Pennsylvania Conservation Commission to locate a wild turkey hatchery and game refuge near Hyndman, Cyrus Bowers, secretary, announced yesterday.

Further plans for the project will be made at a meeting of the league Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Fireman's hall at Hyndman. E. J. Leap, president, will preside at the session.

Bowers said the Hyndman group has been working on the project for the last year and added officials have promised that the refuge will be established.

Tentative plans call for the hatchery to be established on a 1,000 acre farm near Hyndman which will provide not only space for breeding areas and a game refuge but for the clearing of several areas for growing grain and seed crops for feeding wildlife.

Game wardens have assured the club that the farm would be located in one of the best natural turkey regions of the east.

The old Shawnee hunting grounds includes Huntington and Bedford counties in Pennsylvania and game wardens have reported that wild turkeys, released as much as 20 miles away, soon drift into the sections, Bowers said.

When infantile paralysis last summer hit the nation the hardest blow in 30 years the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was able to send more than 2,000 nurses, 300 physical therapists and scores of physicians into stricken areas — thanks to funds given to the March of Dimes.

Chapter treasuries became depleted in caring for infantile paralysis victims, but more than $5,000,000 in supplementary funds were sent in promptly from National Headquarters so that no one need go without medical care and treatment.

Your dimes and dollars made all this possible. Polio will strike again but your contributions to the 1947 March of Dimes will enable the nation to strike back—hard!

Bedford Youth Flees Boys School

Bedford police were advised yesterday that John Nunenmaker, 16, Bedford, who was committed to the George Republic School for Boys, Grove City, Pa., ran away from the school "sometime Sunday afternoon."

Nunenmaker, according to police, was committed to the boys school, from Bedford County Juvenile Court December 24, after he was charged with several thefts in the area and one in Cumberland.

Police said the youth was implicated in the robbery at the home of Van Roby, physical director at the Y.M.C.A. when a pocketbook was stolen and also in breaking and entering at the Bedford High School and The City Skating Rink as well as two Bedford homes.

The school was described as a place where boys are sent to learn trades but where they are not fenced in or locked up. Bedford police said "it corresponds to "Boys Town" in Nebraska. A 1941 Dodge was stolen from Grove City yesterday also, but police said they are not sure there is any connection in the two incidents.

Kennedy said that after the New York-Pittsburgh game last Monday and during other games last week Birch had used abusive language to officials and opposing players and had acted in such a way as to incite disorderly action by the spectators.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20 (AP)—Josh Gibson, one of the greatest distance hitters in the history of baseball, died at the home of his mother yesterday of a stroke.

The great slugger—often called the Babe Ruth of negro baseball — played with the Homestead Grays for many years and poled out some of the longest hits ever to clear the Forbes Field fences during his tenure as top hitter of the Negro National League.

He started playing with the Grays in 1930 and immediately blossomed into one of the outstanding negro catchers and hitters.

Father Complains About Gaming Place

Charles Buzzard, North Mechanic street, arrested Saturday night by Officer A. E. Kennell on charges of maintaining a gaming device, forfeited $25 bond yesterday in Police Court, when he failed to appear.

Usually that is the end of such cases in Police court, but yesterday morning the father of one boy who reportedly "plays in games at Buzzards place," asked the court to "break the game up for good."

The Court pointed out that police had arrested Buzzard and that he had forfeited his bond. Nothing more could be done, the court added, unless Buzzard tries to operate again.

Stanley Lease, who gave a Glenwood street address, and Robert Earsorn, also Cumberland, were sent to jail for five days when they were unable to pay $5 fines for loitering. Police said both men had been loitering in the Perrin building.

Elta Puffenberger, Little Orleans, and Frieda Smith, Elkins, W. Va., were sentenced to "10 dollars or 10 days" on charges of street walking. Both girls were returned to their cells when they failed to pay the fines.

Charles McDonough, city, was also returned to a cell in the City Jail when he failed to pay a $10 fine on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct. He was sentenced to 10 days in default of the fine.

'Others Don't Pay Tax, Why This Man!'

The possibility that 14 property owners may begin to pay city taxes or one individual may cease arose yesterday before the City Council, when F. Brooke Whiting asked that his client be exempted.

According to Whiting his client is the only one in the neighborhood of 15 houses, located on Valley road that is taxed by the city. The home, Whiting pointed out has no city sewer, city water or city garbage collections.

The first question to be asked by the councilmen was presented by Finance Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller. "Why aren't they taxed?" he inquired.

Some city officials vaguely recalled the case had been mentioned before, and that it was discovered the 14 non-paying property owners are not with in the city limits.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, suggested that the 14 may not have secured building permits and that assessors had not yet put them on the tax books.

Possibility Of Producing Natural Gas In Garrett County Discussed

There has been considerable speculation in recent months over the possibility of Garrett county becoming a gas producing area.

Recently Dr. Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., director of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, Board of Natural Resources of the State of Maryland wrote an article on the possibility of occurrence of natural gas in Western Maryland. The article follows:

Dans Mountain and its northward continuation as Piney Mountain and Little Allegheny Mountain in westernmost Allegany County is the boundary between more highly folded older rocks on the east and more greatly folded younger rocks on the west. This dividing line is known as the Allegheny front. It is accepted as the extreme easternmost limit of probable oil and gas accumulations. Garrett County, on the other hand, has been regarded as possibly within the eastern boundary of the Appalachian oil and gas fields. Wells hitherto drilled in Garrett County have been failures, however, suggesting that the eastern boundary of oil and gas accumulations may lie west of Garrett County.

Recent successful gas wells at two localities in West Virginia make the prospects for Garrett County more favorable and should renew interest in the possibilities of commercial gas accumulations in that county. These wells are along the southwestward extension of the formations in Garrett County.

Three wells have recently been drilled by William E. Snee of Pennsylvania on Saltlick Creek, 2 miles southwest of Terra Alta. The first was a failure. The second produces enough gas to operate the drill for the third hole. At a depth of 5,600 feet, before reaching the most favorable rock, the third well was producing 500,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The northward extension of the line of this gas reservoir crosses into Garrett County in the extreme northwest corner.

Further east in Canaan Valley, five miles southeast of Davis, the Ohio Oil Company has completed two wells since 1944. The first well at a depth of 8,036 feet yielded 500,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The second well, at a depth of 8,410 feet yielded 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. A pipe line was complete in August to deliver 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily to Davis. The northward extension of the line of this gas reservoir enters Garrett County near Bradshaw and runs through the Upper Potomac Coal Basin in Garrett County and the Georges Creek Coal Basin in Western Allegany County.

All of Garrett County lies, therefore, geologically between these two new discoveries in West Virginia. There is consequently the possibility of commercial gas accumulations in structurally favorable areas in Garrett County. The still unknown factor in Garrett County is whether the sandstone that may contain the gas is sufficiently porous or sufficiently fractured to provide adequate reservoir space for the accumulation of gas in commercial quantities. The prospects warrant further drilling in Garrett County.

Local Company Gets Contract For Water Line

The Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company was awarded a contract amounting to $9,150.05 for certain fittings and parts for the auxiliary water line from Lake Gordon to the city yesterday by the Mayor and City Council.

Award was made for all items of one contract with the exception of a 36-inch circular sluice gate. William J. Edwards, water commissioner, explained bids for the gate may be readvertised. Regarding two other contracts, referred to as contracts A and C, Edwards said the department is considering amending specifications and readvertising in order to save considerable money.

The council stuck to its plan to receive bids next Monday for three lots on Elder street despite criticism from B. Fay Thompson, 206 Elder street, who offered $390 for the lots last week. Thompson also offered $310 for three lots on Mary street and sent a check for $700.

Yesterday a letter from Thompson asked for the return of the money and withdrawal of his offer. The check was ordered returned by the council.

A communication from Albert E. Miller, who said he had brought Lots 22 and 23 on Patterson avenue from the county, was ordered tabled. Miller asked that a sewer right-of-way obtained by the city some years ago be released. It was pointed out by Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, that the sewer was built to service Arnett Terrace property, but is no longer used.

George F. Loar, 225 Baltimore avenue, appeared before the council to request that his lot on Kentucky avenue be drained. Ralph L. Rizer was instructed to investigate further.

Wallace Keller, 1107 Virginia Avenue, was ordered refunded 52 cents representing taxes paid in error on a Clement Street lot. Mrs. W. T. Hurtler, 721 Shawnee Avenue, was refunded $4.45 for a water bill paid twice.

Commissioner Edwards was named acting mayor until Mayor Thomas S. Post returns Wednesday. Mayor Post and Commissioner Myers G. Light are attending the meeting of the U. S. Conference of Mayors in Washington.

Hyndman Sports League To Seek Turkey Hatchery

Efforts are being made by the Isaac Walton League of Hyndman, Pa., to persuade the Pennsylvania Conservation Commission to locate a wild turkey hatchery and game refuge near Hyndman, Cyrus Bowers, secretary, announced yesterday.

Further plans for the project will be made at a meeting of the league Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Fireman's hall at Hyndman. E. J. Leap, president, will preside at the session.

Bowers said the Hyndman group has been working on the project for the last year and added officials have promised that the refuge will be established.

Tentative plans call for the hatchery to be established on a 1,000 acre farm near Hyndman which will provide not only space for breeding areas and a game refuge but for the clearing of several areas for growing grain and seed crops for feeding wildlife.

Game wardens have assured the club that the farm would be located in one of the best natural turkey regions of the east.

The old Shawnee hunting grounds includes Huntington and Bedford counties in Pennsylvania and game wardens have reported that wild turkeys, released as much as 20 miles away, soon drift into the sections, Bowers said.

Available

When infantile paralysis last summer hit the nation the hardest blow in 30 years the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was able to send more than 2,000 nurses, 300 physical therapists and scores of physicians into stricken areas — thanks to funds given to the March of Dimes.

Chapter treasuries became depleted in caring for infantile paralysis victims, but more than $5,000,000 in supplementary funds were sent in promptly from National Headquarters so that no one need go without medical care and treatment.

Your dimes and dollars made all this possible. Polio will strike again but your contributions to the 1947 March of Dimes will enable the nation to strike back—hard!

Bedford Youth Flees Boys School

Bedford police were advised yesterday that John Nunenmaker, 16, Bedford, who was committed to the George Republic School for Boys, Grove City, Pa., ran away from the school "sometime Sunday afternoon."

Nunenmaker, according to police, was committed to the boys school, from Bedford County Juvenile Court December 24, after he was charged with several thefts in the area and one in Cumberland.

Police said the youth was implicated in the robbery at the home of Van Roby, physical director at the Y.M.C.A. when a pocketbook was stolen and also in breaking and entering at the Bedford High School and The City Skating Rink as well as two Bedford homes.

The school was described as a place where boys are sent to learn trades but where they are not fenced in or locked up. Bedford police said "it corresponds to "Boys Town" in Nebraska. A 1941 Dodge was stolen from Grove City yesterday also, but police said they are not sure there is any connection in the two incidents.

Daggert and Judge Frank Knarsborough had scored four rounds for Giosa and one for Montgomery while Judge Lou Tress scored three to two in favor of Montgomery.

The Associated Press score card awarded Giosa three rounds, Montgomery one and scored one even.

Mishap Victims Treated

Monty Stamp, 11, son of Dr. Frank Stamp, Route 2, city, was treated in Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon after suffering a fracture of the left shoulder when he fell while playing.

Kenneth Robey, 22, 403 Linden street, was treated Sunday night in Memorial Hospital for an injury to his left hand, suffered when he fell while boarding a train at Silver Spring. He will return to the hospital today for X-rays.

Local Company Gets Contract For Water Line

The Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company was awarded a contract amounting to $9,150.05 for certain fittings and parts for the auxiliary water line from Lake Gordon to the city yesterday by the Mayor and City Council.

Award was made for all items of one contract with the exception of a 36-inch circular sluice gate. William J. Edwards, water commissioner, explained bids for the gate may be readvertised. Regarding two other contracts, referred to as contracts A and C, Edwards said the department is considering amending specifications and readvertising in order to save considerable money.

The council stuck to its plan to receive bids next Monday for three lots on Elder street despite criticism from B. Fay Thompson, 206 Elder street, who offered $390 for the lots last week. Thompson also offered $310 for three lots on Mary street and sent a check for $700.

Yesterday a letter from Thompson asked for the return of the money and withdrawal of his offer. The check was ordered returned by the council.

A communication from Albert E. Miller, who said he had brought Lots 22 and 23 on Patterson avenue from the county, was ordered tabled. Miller asked that a sewer right-of-way obtained by the city some years ago be released. It was pointed out by Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, that the sewer was built to service Arnett Terrace property, but is no longer used.

George F. Loar, 225 Baltimore avenue, appeared before the council to request that his lot on Kentucky avenue be drained. Ralph L. Rizer was instructed to investigate further.

Wallace Keller, 1107 Virginia Avenue, was ordered refunded 52 cents representing taxes paid in error on a Clement Street lot. Mrs. W. T. Hurtler, 721 Shawnee Avenue, was refunded $4.45 for a water bill paid twice.

Commissioner Edwards was named acting mayor until Mayor Thomas S. Post returns Wednesday. Mayor Post and Commissioner Myers G. Light are attending the meeting of the U. S. Conference of Mayors in Washington.

Stock Market Leaders Beat Slow Retreat Before Profit Cashers

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Stock market leaders, with a handful of exceptions, beat a slow retreat before profit cashers in today's market as enthusiasm over the restoration of margin trading waned.

The direction was downward from the start. A little bidding in the third and fourth hours reduced real losses of one to two points. Trends again slipped at the last and many pivotals ended off one to three or so at the lows of the day. Transfers of 890,000 shares compared with 850,000 Friday.

New York Central was an isolated strong spot, climbing 1⅛ points at one time although emerging with a net advance of ½ at 18⅞.

On the down side were Dow Chemical, off 3⅞ at 164; du Pont three at 183, American Smelting two at 55, United States Rubber 1¾ at 50¾, Chrysler 1⅞ at 89 and United States Steel 1⅝ at 69⅝.

Other stumblers were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Schenley, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, American Telephone, Electric Power and Light, Kennecott, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, United States Gypsum and Texas Company.

In the minus section of the Curb were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Aireon, Gobel Inc., Mesabi Iron and Raytheon. Turnover here was 210,000 shares versus 230,000 in the previous full session.

Bonds followed irregular trends in the market, with some low priced rails spurting sharply while a large number of others gave ground moderately.

Volume picked up somewhat after a quiet morning but total sales of $3,720,000 were far below Friday's $5,120,000.

United States governments were quiet and steady in over-the-counter dealings with the 2½s of '65-'70 off 1-32 at 104 6-32 bid. There were no sales on the exchange.

INDONESIANS WERE AIDED BY AMERICAN

AP Newsfeatures

BATAVIA, Java—Return of peace to Indonesia has brought with it confirmation of long-prevalent rumors that a mysterious American was working with the republican revolutionaries at their Djogjakarta capital.

He's Bill Roberts, 30, a globe-trotting adventurer who says his home is "somewhere in Nevada."

Roberts is blond, of medium height, speaks with a western drawl and says he's spent the last seven months with the Indonesians "because I sympathized with their cause."

He came to Java as an American merchant seaman. Roberts declines to volunteer further details, but Indonesian co-workers say he served with the Canadian army as a machine-gunner before the United States entered the war.

For the past few weeks he had been working on propaganda broadcasts in a cosmopolitan company which includes an Arab, an Indian, a Spaniard and "Soerabaja Sue," plump, red-haired and middle-age Occidental who once owned a Bali resort hotel. She may be American, too—at various times she has told correspondents she was from Hollywood.

Designers Plans For Dressing Up College Girls Have Failed Again

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Day in, day out, she wears a pair of blue jeans;
She wears them in December
and in the month of May.
And when you ask her why on earth she wears them,
She replies that college girls
are just that way. . .
Vassar campus song.

The designers are desperate and the stylists are sad. All their bright plans for dressing up the college girl have gone awry, once again. Those trim little wool dresses and smart little suits shown so hopefully by college shops last summer rarely see the light of day, on eastern women's college campuses, at least.

Even the presence of male students on many previously all-female campuses has failed to change the college girl's clothes habits. Number one choice of costumes still is a pair of dungarees, a shirt or sweater and a pair of loafer shoes or ballet slippers, worn with or without socks.

As a slight concession to fashion, some girls are wearing gray flannel or wool plaid pedal pushers (long shorts) this season, while riding their bikes to and from class.

Pictures shown here were taken at random on campuses of leading eastern women's colleges this fall. The smart magazines may cajole and the designers may weep—but the college girl goes her own sweet way, and this is what she really is wearing.

CAMPUS FASHION—Alice Cullingham, of Bennington, Vt., wears gray pedal pushers and sweater.

ALL-TIME FAVORITE — Blue jeans and sweater are choice of Katherine Black for wear at Bennington.

BLUE JEANS remain the No. 1 style at eastern women's colleges. Elizabeth Tauslow, of Skidmore, adds corduroy jacket.

THE DRESSY TYPE. . .Gloria Rivers, of Smith, makes a concession to fashion with Scotch plaid pedal pushers.

Keep Foods Cool And Well Covered

"Keep cool and covered" is the one rule for safe storage of baby's foods which is a reminder that the little container must always be carefully covered when it is placed in the refrigerator. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is the authority for this reassurance on the safety of storing foods in this way—whether they are packed in tin or in glass.

It's an advantage to store leftovers right in the original can or jar, for these convenient containers are clearly labelled. Saves dishwashing, too.

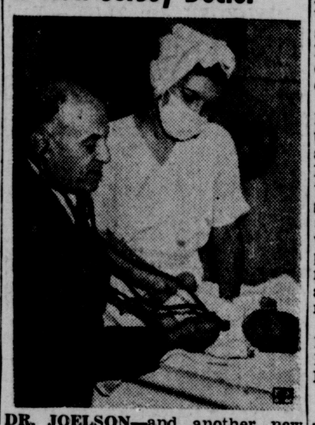
12,000 Babies Are Pride Of New Jersey Doctor



DR. JOELSON—and another new patient.

PATERSON, N. J.—A "horse-and-buggy doctor" meant a wealthy man to Dr. Morris S. Joelson 40 years ago when he was walking to visit his patients. But he has passed through the horse and buggy stage into the automobile era.

He has delivered 12,000 babies and performed thousands of tonsilectomies. Recently 500 attended a testimonial dinner for him and another 2,000 a reception. Many were his "babies," and no one would have been surprised if the guest of honor had been late—delayed by the birth of a child "across the tracks."

17 Clubs Raided, Permits Revoked

A new chapter in the problem of whether West Virginia clubs should be permitted to sell whisky by the drink and operate slot machines was written Saturday at Charleston as 17 Randolph county beer dealers, including ten fraternal and patriotic organizations, lost their licenses.

Revocation of the licenses was announced by Beer Commissioner Fred B. Watkins, the revocations being the result of charges pressed following raids by State Police in Companies "A" and "B", headquarters of which are at Shinnston, and Elkins, respectively.

Effective February 1

The action, effective February 1 in all cases, was taken after hearings on information gathered by State Police in raids on the establishments last fall, Watkins said. Some cases involved charges of whisky sales, some of gambling and some of both.

Club licenses revoked included Amvets, Eagles, American Legion, Moose, Elks, Maccabees, Red Men, Owls and Veterans of Foreign Wars at Elkins, and the Maccabees at Valley Head.

Other revocations were: William H. Bennett, "Anchors Aweigh", Elkins; Guy S. Hammer, "Club Aero", Elkins; Lester Hamrick, Hamrick's restaurant, Valley Head; John Hambley, "Hickory Lick beer garden" Monterville; The Chanticleer Club, Inc., Elkins; Jiggs Miller, "North Pole Inn", Monterville; and Helene George, Fossil Park Inn, Elkins.

Others Face Hearings

Fourteen other clubs in Marion, Monnogalia and Preston counties have been ordered to appear today and tomorrow for revocation hearings also based on evidence gathered in State Police raids, Watkins said.

State Police from Company "A" assisted with the raids in Randolph county. Company "A" troopers conducted the raids in Preston and Marion counties.

Following the raid in Preston county patriotic and fraternal clubs in most nearby towns removed all liquors from their premises and also dismantled and removed their slot machines.

Grocer Still "Running" For Emperor Of Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 20—(AP)—Hiromichi Kumazawa is still "running" for emperor of Japan but admitted today that his campaign was losing its public appeal.

The 53-year-old grocer claims he is descended from "legitimate" rulers who were pushed off the throne several centuries ago by ancestors of Emperor Hirohito.

Tried and acquitted on charges of lese majeste, he is stumping the country.

Recently, he admitted, he attracted an audience of 400 in a town in Central Japan. While he talked on and on, his listeners began to walk out, one by one.

"I don't care," he announced from the rostrum. "I'll speak to only five people if they are interested in my cause."

Then he looked again and sat down; there were only four persons left.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling
Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Stock Market Leaders Beat Slow Retreat Before Profit Cashers

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Stock market leaders, with a handful of exceptions, beat a slow retreat before profit cashers in today's market as enthusiasm over the restoration of margin trading waned.

The direction was downward from the start. A little bidding in the third and fourth hours reduced real losses of one to two points. Trends again slipped at the last and many pivotals ended off one to three or so at the lows of the day. Transfers of 800,000 shares compared with 850,000 Friday.

New York Central was an isolated strong spot, climbing 1⅛ points at one time although emerging with a net advance of ½ at 18⅞.

On the down side were Dow Chemical, off 3¾ at 164; du Pont three at 183, American Smelting two at 55, United States Rubber 1¾ at 50¾, Chrysler 1⅞ at 89 and United States Steel 1⅝ at 69⅝.

Other stumblers were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Schenley, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, American Telephone, Electric Power and Light, Kennecott, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, United States Gypsum and Texas Company.

In the minus section of the Curb were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Aireon, Gobel Inc., Mesabi Iron and Raytheon. Turnover here was 210,000 shares versus 230,000 in the previous full session.

Bonds followed irregular trends in the market, with some low priced rails spurting sharply while a large number of others gave ground moderately.

Volume picked up somewhat after a quiet morning but total sales of $3,720,000 were far below Friday's $5,120,000.

United States governments were quiet and steady in over-the-counter dealings with the 2½s of '65-'70 off 1-32 at 104 6-32 bid. There were no sales on the exchange.

INDONESIANS WERE AIDED BY AMERICAN

AP Newsfeatures

BATAVIA, Java—Return of peace to Indonesia has brought with it confirmation of long-prevalent rumors that a mysterious American was working with the republican revolutionaries at their Djogjakarta capital.

He's Bill Roberts, 30, a globe-trotting adventurer who says his home is "somewhere in Nevada."

Roberts is blond, of medium height, speaks with a western drawl and says he's spent the last seven months with the Indonesians "because I sympathized with their cause."

He came to Java as an American merchant seaman. Roberts declines to volunteer further details, but Indonesian co-workers say he served with the Canadian army as a machine-gunner before the United States entered the war.

For the past few weeks he had been working on propaganda broadcasts in a cosmopolitan company which includes an Arab, an Indian, a Spaniard and "Soerabaja Sue," plump, red-haired and middle-age Occidental who once owned a Bali resort hotel. She may be American, too—at various times she has told correspondents she was from Hollywood.

Designers Plans For Dressing Up College Girls Have Failed Again

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Day in, day out, she wears a
pair of blue jeans;
She wears them in December
and in the month of May.
And when you ask her why on
earth she wears them,
She replies that college girls
are just that way. . .
Vassar campus song.

The designers are desperate and the stylists are sad. All their bright plans for dressing up the college girl have gone awry, once again. Those trim little wool dresses and smart little suits shown so hopefully by college shops last summer rarely see the light of day, on eastern women's college campuses, at least.

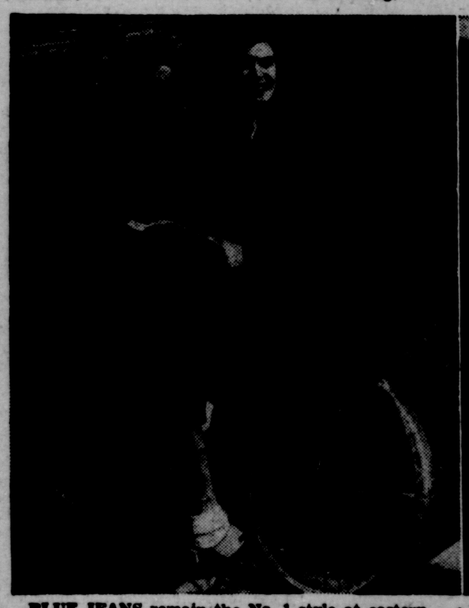
Even the presence of male students on many previously all-female campuses has failed to change the college girl's clothes habits. Number one choice of costumes still is a pair of dungarees, a shirt or sweater and a pair of loafer shoes or ballet slippers, worn with or without socks.

As a slight concession to fashion, some girls are wearing gray flannel or wool plaid pedal pushers (long shorts) this season, while riding their bikes to and from class.

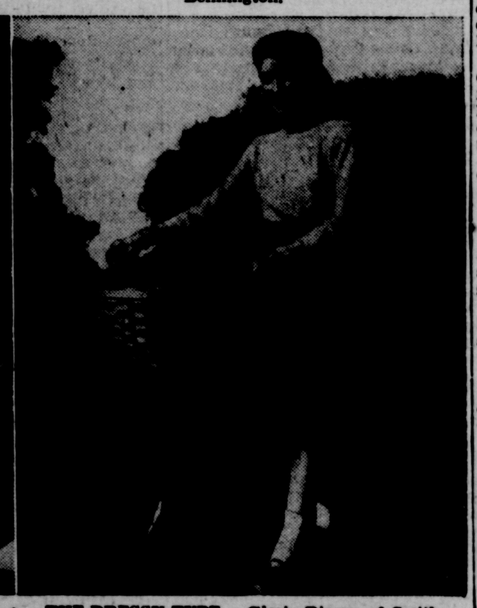
Pictures shown here were taken at random on campuses of leading eastern women's colleges this fall. The smart magazines may cajole and the designers may weep—but the college girl goes her own sweet way, and this is what she really is wearing.

CAMPUS FASHION—Alice Cullingham, of Bennington, Vt., wears gray pedal pushers and sweater.

ALL-TIME FAVORITE—Blue jeans and sweater are choice of Katherine Black for wear at Bennington.



BLUE JEANS remain the No. 1 style at eastern women's colleges. Elizabeth Tauslow, of Skidmore, adds corduroy jacket.



THE DRESSY TYPE. . .Gloria Rivers, of Smith, makes a concession to fashion with Scotch plaid pedal pushers.

Keep Foods Cool And Well Covered

"Keep cool and covered" is the one rule for safe storage of baby's foods which is a reminder that the little container must always be carefully covered when it is placed in the refrigerator. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is the authority for this reassurance on the safety of storing foods in this way—whether they are packed in tin or in glass.

It's an advantage to store leftovers right in the original can or jar, for these convenient containers are clearly labelled. Saves dishwashing, too.

12,000 Babies Are Pride Of New Jersey Doctor

DR. JOELSON—and another new patient.

PATERSON, N. J.—A "horse-and-buggy doctor" meant a wealthy man to Dr. Morris S. Joelson 40 years ago when he was walking to visit his patients. But he has passed through the horse and buggy stage into the automobile era.

He has delivered 12,000 babies and performed thousands of tonsilectomies. Recently 500 attended a testimonial dinner for him and another 2,000 a reception. Many were his "babies," and no one would have been surprised if the guest of honor had been late—delayed by the birth of a child "across the tracks."

17 Clubs Raided, Permits Revoked

A new chapter in the problem of whether West Virginia clubs should be permitted to sell whisky by the drink and operate slot machines was written Saturday at Charleston as 17 Randolph county beer dealers, including ten fraternal and patriotic organizations, lost their licenses.

Revocation of the licenses was announced by Beer Commissioner Fred B. Watkins, the revocations being the result of charges pressed following raids by State Police in Companies "A" and "B", headquarters of which are at Shinnston, and Elkins, respectively.

Effective February 1

The action, effective February 1 in all cases, was taken after hearings on information gathered by State Police in raids on the establishments last fall, Watkins said. Some cases involved charges of whisky sales, some of gambling and some of both.

Club licenses revoked included Amvets, Eagles, American Legion, Moose, Elks, Maccabees, Red Men, Owls and Veterans of Foreign Wars at Elkins, and the Maccabees at Valley Head.

Other revocations were: William H. Bennett, "Anchors Aweigh", Elkins; Guy S. Hammer, "Club Aero", Elkins; Lester Hamrick, Hamrick's restaurant, Valley Head; John Hambley, "Hickory Lick beer garden" Monterville; The Chanticleer Club, Inc., Elkins; Jiggs Miller, "North Pole Inn", Monterville; and Helene George, Possil Park Inn, Elkins.

Others Face Hearings

Fourteen other clubs in Marion, Monnogalia and Preston counties have been ordered to appear today and tomorrow for revocation hearings also based on evidence gathered in State Police raids, Watkins said.

State Police from Company "A" assisted with the raids in Randolph county. Company "A" troopers conducted the raids in Preston and Marion counties.

Following the raid in Preston county patriotic and fraternal clubs in most nearby towns removed all liquors from their premises and also dismantled and removed their slot machines.

Grocer Still "Running" For Emperor Of Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 20—(AP)—Hiromichi Kumazawa is still "running" for emporer of Japan but admitted today that his campaign was losing its public appeal.

The 53-year-old grocer claims he is descended from "legitimate" rulers who were pushed off the throne several centuries ago by ancestors of Emperor Hirohito.

Tried and acquitted on charges of lese majeste, he is stumping the country.

Recently, he admitted, he attracted an audience of 400 in a town in Central Japan. While he talked on and on, his listeners began to walk out, one by one.

"I don't care," he announced from the rostrum. "I'll speak to only five people if they are interested in my cause."

Then he looked again and sat down; there were only four persons left.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling
Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Fort Hill Halts Ridgeley High, 38-29

Fight Threatens To Cancel Game In Second Period

Police Restore Order; 1,150 Witness Tilt

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

The Fort Hill Sentinels dropped the Ridgeley Blackhawks from the ranks of the undefeated with a 38-29 victory before a packed house of 1150 rabid, cheering fans at Fort Hill gymnasium last night.

The game, which was a thriller all the way, was marred by none too good officiating and a fight which threatened to cancel the contest near the end of the second period. The fight was a result of a dispute over whether Elmer Freeland, Fort Hill forward, had four or five personal fouls called against him.

With 3:30 left in the first half, Freeland fouled Roy Comer and the official scorer waved Freeland out of the game on his fifth personal. John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, the Sentinel skipper, protested, claiming that it was only Freeland's fourth personal. Umpire Johnny Angellatta, checking the books, four of them which all showed five personals, claimed that the official scorer had misinterpeted a foul called on Jim Manges, Fort Hill guard, for a personal on Freeland.

Police Restore Order

A short but hot discussion followed and things seemed to be calming down when a fight broke out at the timer's end of the score bench. What caused the outbreak of fistcuffs is not truly known. Maybe some of the boys thought they saw fight promoter Mike Jacobs in the crowd and wanted to show their ability, but whatever the reason, no one took time to find out as about 400-boxing hopefuls mixed it up. After about ten minutes of continuous rounds the police managed to restore order, the game continued, and Freeland remained in the contest.

Ridgeley started out like a "house-on-fire" as Jimmy Flanagan took a pass on the tip-off and scored a basket on a fast break. Before the first minute was up Flanagan hit the basket again on a shot from near mid-court and Ridgeley led 4-0. With 6:40 left Mel Dean scored a fielder on a one-handed shot and converted a gift toss on the play. Dean hit the basket again from the corner and Freeland drove in to hit the net on another one-handed shot to put Fort Hill ahead 7-4 and they stayed there the rest of the game. Bill Brehany hooped a charity toss for the Hawks but Jim Manges and Freeland sandwiched baskets around Dean's free throw to give Fort Hill a 12-7 lead. Dean and "Buddy" Cage tallied from the foul line on gift tosses and Alfred Abe hit on a lay-up basket to put Fort Hill ahead 14-7 at quartertime.

Brehany scored a twin-pointer on a pivot shot as the second canto opened to make the score 14-9, Sentinels. Charlie Lattimer scored at 4:30 as the ball was rifled to him standing alone under the basket and a minute later Freeland fouled Comer in the play that caused all the excitement. Comer converted before the fighting and after the free-for-all Fort Hill scored four more points on "Bub" Frye's basket and Manges' two charity tosses to take a 20-10 halftime lead.

Hold 17 Point Lead

Fort Hill threatened to make a runaway of the game as the third period began. Frye made two free tosses and Lattimer one to push the count to 23-10, Scarlet and White. Abe's one-handed goal closed the margin to eleven points (23-12) and then Dean tallied three consecutive baskets to send Fort Hill into a seventeen point lead at 29-12. Comer's basket and Freeland's charity throw closed the third period with Fort Hill ahead 30-14.

Ridgeley seemed to explode as the final period began. Abe made a gift shot, Joe Moss, held scoreless for three periods, made a basket on a pivot shot, and Abe and Brehany followed with lay-up goals to make the score 30-21, Fort Hill. Freeland converted twice from the foul line to move Fort Hill into an eleven point lead (32-21). Mike Lehman and Lattimer exchanged baskets and then Moss hit twice for twin-pointers on lay-ups to close the Sentinel margin to seven points at 34-27. Cage scored on a sleeper play for Fort Hill but Abe came back for the Hawks with a set shot from the side. With five seconds to go Lattimer closed the scoring with a lay-up basket to give the Sentinels their tenth victory in thirteen starts by a 38-29 count. It was the Blackhawks' first loss in six games.

Ridgeley Reserves Win

In the preliminary the Ridgeley Reserves snapped the four-game victory streak of the Fort Hill Reserves 22-21 in an overtime thriller. Bob Iser's foul toss broke a 21-all deadlock and gave the Little Blackhawks the victory. Ernie Ganoe and Bob Iser split twelve points for Ridgeley while Charlie Hammaker paced the FHR with nine points. The lineups:

Kelley Gets Good Start

Crowell Loses Title Go

Sheehe Stops Hoya Boxer

Bucs Retain Leo And Joe

By C. V. BURNS

Jim Kelley, Jr., had a comparatively easy night at Lewisburg, Pa., when he made his debut as referee of college boxing matches last Friday.

Bucknell's team defeated Georgetown, six matches to two, but only one of the eight matches went the limit, that being in the 155-pound class.

The Hoyas' boxing team is coached by Marty Gallagher, one-time Washington, D. C., heavyweight, who hopes to get Kelley some work at the capital next season.

About 850 persons saw the Bisons and Georgetown teams tangle, according to Kelley.

Jim is slated to return to Lewisburg on Saturday, February 1, to handle the Western Maryland-Bucknell bouts.

George S. Cooper, sports editor of The Tribune, has been elected president of The Johnnies, Inc., operators of the Johnstown Club of the Middle Atlantic League, for the ninth consecutive year.

The club's annual report shows the Johnnies played before 86,000 persons in their 64 home games in 1946.

In four playing years under the Brooklyn Dodgers' tie-up, Johnstown won two pennants, finished second once and finished fifth last season.

One of the oldest basketball coaches in point of service in Western Maryland is Dave "Pickles" Lichliter, who is still handling the reins at Boswell High School.

He learned his basketball at Salisbury (Pa.) High School back in the 1920s and was on the same team with Charles "Rip" Engle, former Waynesboro High mentor, who is now coaching football and basketball at Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Lichliter has been tutoring Boswell teams for about 17 years.

Johnny Crowell, the Washington lightweight, who technically kayoed Jimmie Catanese, decisioned Al Wentz, of Johnstown, Pa., and halted the winning streak of Vance Sinclair, the Morgantown, W. Va., ace, in Legion amateur shows here, was stopped by Pete Cilinski in two minutes, 37 seconds of the third round of the 135-pound final, senior division, Washington (DC) Boys' Club tourney last week.

Umberto Vagarini, of Washington, who lost a decision to Joey Depan, of Johnstown, Pa., in the Legion show here November 11, won the 112-pound novice division title in Washington by whipping Billy Farmer, of the National Training School.

Two thousand stormed Turner's Arena to see finals of the tourney.

Walter Glenn, son of Dr. Marshall "Little Sleepy" Glenn, one-time West Virginia University athlete, is going great guns for Charles Town High School's undefeated quint this season.

Young Glenn has scored over 20 points a game in three of the four games won by the unbeaten Panthers. He banged away for nine fielders and four foul goals in Charles Town's 46-33 triumph over Williamsport the other evening.

When Coach Leo Houck's Penn State College boxers defeated Western Maryland College by the score of 6 to 2 Saturday before 5,000 fans at State College, Pa., Jack Sheehe, of Oakland, Md., registered his second straight triumph fighting for the Nittany Lions.

Competing in the 145-pound class, Jack technically knocked out Jack Eccles in one minute and 31 seconds of the second round.

Penn State swept the first six matches then dropped the light-heavy and heavyweight bouts.

Capt. Carl Ortenzi, former eastern intercollegiate champion of Baltimore, scored a TKO over Wilbert Greene for one of the Western Maryland victories.

Leo Mackey, manager of the Cumberland Colts of the 1931 and 1932 Middle Atlantic League, and Joe Brehany, of Pekin (Nikep), this county, who starred in the Blue Ridge League and Mid-Atlantic loop in bygone days, have been retained as scouts by the new management of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In fact General Manager Roy Hamey and Farm Director Ray Kennedy have announced the signing of eight additional scouts, bringing to 22 the number of full-time ivory hunters on the payroll.

The newcomers include Ted McGrew, formerly of the Dodgers and Braves, "Spud" Davis, Heinie Manush, Ziggy Sears, former National League umpire, and Herman Pillette, former Pacific Coast League pitching star.

Bill Hinchman, veteran of the Bucs' staff has been hunting ballplayers for 30 years. Other holdover scouts include Babe Herman and Lloyd Waner.

During his visit here last week to speak at the ladies' night affair sponsored by the Shriners, Albert K. "Rosy" Rowswell, noted Pittsburgh humorist and lecturer, told us that Jack Craddock will be assisting him with radio broadcasts of the Pittsburgh Pirates' home games for the tenth successive year this summer at Forbes Field.

Craddock did evangelistic work and coached soccer teams in Cumberland once upon a time.

"Rosy" predicted that the Pirates will hit a lot of balls out of the park into Aunt Minnie's petunias this summer.

Fair Association Reports All-Time High Attendance

Daily Average 7,000; Directors Re-Elected

The Cumberland Fair Association averaged 7,000 paid admissions daily during its 1946 ten-day race meeting, it was revealed yesterday at the annual meeting of stockholders at the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce office, Liberty Trust building.

The attendance figure represents an all-time high for a ten-day meeting here. The ten-day sessions were started at Fairgo in 1935.

The financial report showed that the state received $51,562.54 out of the 2 per cent mutuel tax. This tax will be boosted to 4 per cent for 1947 or double that of last year.

Federal and state taxes on admissions totaled $9,774.29. The federal government took $7,025.28 while the state's "take" was $2,749.

Employed 300 Persons

The annual report on expenditures indicated that $80,000 was distributed in purses and that racing expenses for officials, assistants, etc., amounted to $49,470.65. The association employed slightly over 300 persons during the 1946 meeting.

Clifton W. White, president and general manager, pointed out that if materials are available the following improvements are contemplated at the local half mile racing plant this year:

1. Blacktop balance of roads at the plant.
2. Build a barn for 100 thoroughbreds to increase the capacity to 500.
3. Construct additional box seats between the club house and grandstand.
4. Build additional pari mutuel booths.
5. Re-roof agricultural buildings on the property.

Discussing the box seat problem, White pointed out that seats were engaged for next August's meeting before the 1946 session closed. In recent days, the association has received calls from Pittsburgh for box seats, seven months in advance of the 10-day session, August 19 to 30, he added. There are only 44 boxes at the plant and it is hoped to erect additional ones before next season.

Fifteen Directors Re-elected

Stockholders re-elected the following 15 directors for the ensuing year:

Harry J. Barton, J. Glenn Beall, Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., Charles S. Jeffries, Tasker G. Lowndes, Ralph R. McHenry, Clarence O. Miller, Albert O'Neal, Earl C. Robertson, John Schwarzenbach, Carl F. Schmutz, F. Brooke Whiting, Frank Wolfhope, George G. Young and Clifton W. White.

Officers will be elected at a later meeting. Present officers are: Clifton W. White, president and general manager; Tasker G. Lowndes, vice-presndent; John Schwarzenbach, treasurer; Carl F. Schmutz, secretary, and Frank Wolfhope, auditor.

Hold Late Drills

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 20 (AP) John Marshall College might not have the best basketball team in the country, but it puts in a strong bid for having the most unusual practice hours

The only time the Jersey Justices, as Marshall is called, can get together is late at night, with the result that practice sessions usually start at about 10 p. m., and sometimes don't end until after midnight.

MOOSE, FULTON MYERS, CONEY AND MT. SAVAGE WIN GAMES

Interstate 2nd Half Race Is Under Way

Scoring 22 field goals and meshing 16 out of 21 field goals, Jimmie Angellatta's Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose cagers launched their second half campaign in the Interstate Basketball League with a 60 to 55 decision over the Cumberland Amvets last night in the opener of a twin bill on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Joe Wagner's sensational goal-tossing highlighted the battle in which Norman Mason, Wagner and Ray Kammauf collected 18, 15 and 14 points, and Paul Oberhaus racked up 19 for the Amvets, including 9 of 10 free throws. The losers sank 19 of 28 shots at the charity line.

The quarter scores were 14-13, 28-27 and 46-39 with the Moose team on top. Mason was ejected on personal fouls in the final period.

In the nightcap affair, Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, defeated the Cumberland Knights of Columbus, 54 to 44.

Broome and Martin were the "big guns" for Fulton Myers with eight goals each while "Chick" Snider and Johnny Rowan topped the Caseys' offensive with seven and six baskets.

Lonaconing Tops Legion

James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, first half champions, measured Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, at Central High School, Lonaconing, 56 to 46.

In this game the teams were deadlocked at 7-7 at quarter time and 23-23 at the intermission but a 17-point rally gave the Coney Legionnaires a 40-32 edge at the end of the third period and they held that lead until the final whistle.

Bob Johnson, Gus Frizzell and John Muster garnered 14, 13, and 12 points for Coach Thomas's quint while Bob Pence topped the losers with 13. Bill McProuty, former Potomac State star, played with the Cumberland team. Orr, of Coney, and MacFarlane left the game on personal fouls.

Hialeah Prospers Despite Strike

Bets Exceed Million; Yates Is Threatened

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—Grooms and exercise boys remained on strike against Hialeah race course today, but the track enjoyed its biggest day of the 1947 meeting when 17,992 fans wagered $1,200,311—nearly $200,000 more than opening day Friday.

Track Safety Director John Madala reported that "the strike situation had definitely eased" with the return of over one-third of the some 800 grooms and exercise boys who had failed to report to work Friday in protest to the elimination of $10 bonus awards.

Trainers, owners and jockeys who had been feeding, rubbing down and galloping their mounts since Friday reported that many of their grooms and stable help had returned.

Earlier today, Trainer Don Yates, 53, reported to police that he had been threatened by an elderly negro groom this morning at the Tropical Park stable area. He said that the man drew a knife but nothing further occurred when another trainer, armed with a pitchfork, intervened. He said the groom had attempted to call three of his workers from their jobs.

Samuel D. Riddle's Shaker captured the $4,000 feature Venetian Handicap by two lengths to return $11.80 for $2. It was the Glen Riddle Farm's second victory of the day; Merry Lass won the fourth.

Centerville Reds Get Franchise In Interstate

Eight-Club Circuit Is Ready For 1947

The Interstate Baseball League became an eight-club circuit for the 1947 season last night when the Centerville (Pa.) Reds were granted a franchise over two other applicants at a meeting of league representatives at the Loyal Order of Moose Home.

Alton Nave and John Hafer represented the Centerville team which was represented in the Bi-State League in 1946.

John J. Long, league president, said that the Reds were voted in as the eighth team by the margin of 5 to 2, the seven holdover teams casting ballots.

The franchise which was forfeited by Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, of Cumberland, last season, was also sought by the Cumberland All-Stars, a negro aggregation, and Wellersburg, Pa. Robert M. "Sparky" Chisholm acted as spokesman for the All-Stars.

Centerville posted its $50 franchise fee and other fees for the league's operating expense. So did the seven other clubs, namely, Fort Cumberland Post, of the American Legion; the Cumberland Eagles, the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose, Moorefield American Legion, Mt. Savage, Hyndman and Barrelville.

The league voted to raise the salaries of the secretary-treasurer and umpire-in-chief and also voted to compensate President Long for his services during the 1937 season.

The league's executive committee will present the schedule at the next session of the circuit, the date of which is yet to be announced. The league will hold a Shaughnessy playoff as last season. Opening contests will be staged early in May.

Fort Hill Halts Ridgeley High, 38-29

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

The Fort Hill Sentinels dropped the Ridgeley Blackhawks from the ranks of the undefeated with a 38-29 victory before a packed house of 1150 rabid, cheering fans at Fort Hill gymnasium last night.

The game, which was a thriller all the way, was marred by none too good officiating and a fight which threatened to cancel the contest near the end of the second period. The fight was a result of a dispute over whether Elmer Freeland, Fort Hill forward, had four or five personal fouls called against him.

With 3:30 left in the first half, Freeland fouled Roy Comer and the official scorer waved Freeland out of the game on his fifth personal. John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, the Sentinel skipper, protested, claiming that it was only Freeland's fourth personal. Umpire Johnny Angellatta, checking the books, four of them which all showed five personals, claimed that the official scorer had misinterpeted a foul called on Jim Manges, Fort Hill guard, for a personal on Freeland.

Police Restore Order

A short but hot discussion followed and things seemed to be calming down when a fight broke out at the timer's end of the score bench. What caused the outbreak of fistcuffs is not truly known. Maybe some of the boys thought they saw fight promoter Mike Jacobs in the crowd and wanted to show their ability, but whatever the reason, no one took time to find out as about 400-boxing hopefuls mixed it up. After about ten minutes of continuous rounds the police managed to restore order, the game continued, and Freeland remained in the contest.

Ridgeley started out like a "house-on-fire" as Jimmy Flanagan took a pass on the tip-off and scored a basket on a fast break. Before the first minute was up Flanagan hit the basket again on a shot from near mid-court and Ridgeley led 4-0. With 6:40 left Mel Dean scored a fielder on a one-handed shot and converted a gift toss on the play. Dean hit the basket again from the corner and Freeland drove in to hit the net on another one-handed shot to put Fort Hill ahead 7-4 and they stayed there the rest of the game. Bill Brehany hooped a charity toss for the Hawks but Jim Manges and Freeland sandwiched baskets around Dean's free throw to give Fort Hill a 12-7 lead. Dean and "Buddy" Cage tallied from the foul line on gift tosses and Alfred Abe hit on a lay-up basket to put Fort Hill ahead 14-7 at quartertime.

Brehany scored a twin-pointer on a pivot shot as the second canto opened to make the score 14-9, Sentinels. Charlie Lattimer scored at 4:30 as the ball was rifled to him standing alone under the basket and a minute later Freeland fouled Comer in the play that caused all the excitement. Comer converted before the fighting and after the free-for-all Fort Hill scored four more points on "Bub" Frye's basket and Manges' two charity tosses to take a 20-10 halftime lead.

Hold 17 Point Lead

Fort Hill threatened to make a runaway of the game as the third period began. Frye made two free tosses and Lattimer one to push the count to 23-10, Scarlet and White. Abe's one-handed goal closed the margin to eleven points (23-12) and then Dean tallied three consecutive baskets to send Fort Hill into a seventeen point lead at 29-12. Comer's basket and Freeland's charity throw closed the third period with Fort Hill ahead 30-14.

Ridgeley seemed to explode as the final period began. Abe made a gift shot, Joe Moss, held scoreless for three periods, made a basket on a pivot shot, and Abe and Brehany followed with lay-up goals to make the score 30-21, Fort Hill. Freeland converted twice from the foul line to move Fort Hill into an eleven point lead (32-21). Mike Lehman and Lattimer exchanged baskets and then Moss hit twice for twin-pointers on lay-ups to close the Sentinel margin to seven points at 34-27. Cage scored on a sleeper play for Fort Hill but Abe came back for the Hawks with a set shot from the side. With five seconds to go Lattimer closed the scoring with a lay-up basket to give the Sentinels their tenth victory in thirteen starts by a 38-29 count. It was the Blackhawks' first loss in six games.

Ridgeley Reserves Win

In the preliminary the Ridgeley Reserves snapped the four-game victory streak of the Fort Hill Reserves 22-21 in an overtime thriller. Bob Iser's foul toss broke a 21-all deadlock and gave the Little Blackhawks the victory. Ernie Ganoe and Bob Iser split twelve points for Ridgeley while Charlie Hammaker paced the FHR with nine points. The lineups:

Kelley Gets Good Start

Crowell Loses Title Go

Sheehe Stops Hoya Boxer

Bucs Retain Leo And Joe

By C. V. BURNS

Jim Kelley, Jr., had a comparatively easy night at Lewisburg, Pa., when he made his debut as referee of college boxing matches last Friday.

Bucknell's team defeated Georgetown, six matches to two, but only one of the eight matches went the limit, that being in the 155-pound class.

The Hoyas' boxing team is coached by Marty Gallagher, one-time Washington, D. C., heavyweight, who hopes to get Kelley some work at the capital next season.

About 850 persons saw the Bisons and Georgetown teams tangle, according to Kelley.

Jim is slated to return to Lewisburg on Saturday, February 1, to handle the Western Maryland-Bucknell bouts.

George S. Cooper, sports editor of The Tribune, has been elected president of The Johnnies, Inc., operators of the Johnstown Club of the Middle Atlantic League, for the ninth consecutive year.

The club's annual report shows the Johnnies played before 86,000 persons in their 66 home games in 1946.

In four playing years under the Brooklyn Dodgers' tie-up, Johnstown won two pennants, finished second once and finished fifth last season.

One of the oldest basketball coaches in point of service in Western Maryland is Dave "Pickles" Lichliter, who is still handling the reins at Boswell High School.

He learned his basketball at Salisbury (Pa.) High School back in the 1920s and was on the same team with Charles "Rip" Engle, former Waynesboro High mentor, who is now coaching football and basketball at Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Lichliter has been tutoring Boswell teams for about 17 years.

Johnny Crowell, the Washington lightweight, who technically kayoed Jimmie Catanese, decisioned Al Wentz, of Johnstown, Pa., and halted the winning streak of Vance Sinclair, the Morgantown, W. Va., ace, in Legion amateur shows here, was stopped by Pete Cilinski in two minutes, 37 seconds of the third round of the 135-pound final, senior division, Washington (DC) Boys' Club tourney last week.

Umberto Vagarini, of Washington, who lost a decision to Joey Depan, of Johnstown, Pa., in the Legion show here November 11, won the 112-pound novice division title in Washington by whipping Billy Farmer, of the National Training School.

Two thousand stormed Turner's Arena to see finals of the tourney.

Walter Glenn, son of Dr. Marshall "Little Sleepy" Glenn, one-time West Virginia University athlete, is going great guns for Charles Town High School's undefeated quint this season.

Young Glenn has scored over 20 points a game in three of the four games won by the unbeaten Panthers. He banged away for nine fielders and four foul goals in Charles Town's 46-33 triumph over Williamsport the other evening.

When Coach Leo Houck's Penn State College boxers defeated Western Maryland College by the score of 6 to 2 Saturday before 5,000 fans at State College, Pa., Jack Sheehe, of Oakland, Md., registered his second straight triumph fighting for the Nittany Lions.

Competing in the 145-pound class, Jack technically knocked out Jack Eccles in one minute and 31 seconds of the second round.

Penn State swept the first six matches then dropped the light-heavy and heavyweight bouts.

Capt. Carl Ortenzi, former eastern intercollegiate champion of Baltimore, scofed a TKO over Wilbert Greene for one of the Western Maryland victories.

Leo Mackey, manager of the Cumberland Colts of the 1931 and 1932 Middle Atlantic League, and Joe Brehany, of Pekin (Nikep), this county, who starred in the Blue Ridge League and Mid-Atlantic loop in bygone days, have been retained as scouts by the new management of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In fact General Manager Roy Hamey and Farm Director Ray Kennedy have announced the signing of eight additional scouts, bringing to 22 the number of full-time ivory hunters on the payroll.

The newcomers include Ted McGrew, formerly of the Dodgers and Braves, "Spud" Davis, Heinie Manush, Ziggy Sears, former National League umpire, and Herman Pillette, former Pacific Coast League pitching star.

Bill Hinchman, veteran of the Bucs' staff has been hunting ballplayers for 30 years. Other holdover scouts include Babe Herman and Lloyd Waner.

During his visit here last week to speak at the ladies' night affair sponsored by the Shriners, Albert K. "Rosy" Rowswell, noted Pittsburgh humorist and lecturer, told us that Jack Craddock will be assisting him with radio broadcasts of the Pittsburgh Pirates' home games for the tenth successive year this summer at Forbes Field.

Craddock did evangelistic work and coached soccer teams in Cumberland once upon a time.

"Rosy" predicted that the Pirates will hit a lot of balls out of the park into Aunt Minnie's petunias this summer.

Fair Association Reports All-Time High Attendance

Daily Average 7,000; Directors Re-Elected

The Cumberland Fair Association averaged 7,000 paid admissions daily during its 1946 ten-day race meeting, it was revealed yesterday at the annual meeting of stockholders at the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce office, Liberty Trust building.

The attendance figure represents an all-time high for a ten-day meeting here. The ten-day sessions were started at Fairgo in 1935.

The financial report showed that the state received $51,562.54 out of the 2 per cent mutuel tax. This tax will be boosted to 4 per cent for 1947 or double that of last year.

Federal and state taxes on admissions totaled $9,774.29. The federal government took $7,025.28 while the state's "take" was $2,749.

Employed 300 Persons

The annual report on expenditures indicated that $80,000 was distributed in purses and that racing expenses for officials, assistants, etc., amounted to $49,470.65. The association employed slightly over 300 persons during the 1946 meeting.

Clifton W. White, president and general manager, pointed out that if materials are available the following improvements are contemplated at the local half mile racing plant this year:

1. Blacktop balance of roads at the plant.
2. Build a barn for 100 thoroughbreds to increase the capacity to 500.
3. Construct additional box seats between the club house and grandstand.
4. Build additional pari mutuel booths.
5. Re-roof agricultural buildings on the property.

Discussing the box seat problem, White pointed out that seats were engaged for next August's meeting before the 1946 session closed. In recent days, the association has received calls from Pittsburgh for box seats, seven months in advance of the 10-day session, August 19 to 30, he added. There are only 44 boxes at the plant and it is hoped to erect additional ones before next season.

Fifteen Directors Re-elected

Stockholders re-elected the following 15 directors for the ensuing year:

Harry J. Barton, J. Glenn Beall, Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., Charles S. Jeffries, Tasker G. Lowndes, Ralph R. McHenry, Clarence O. Miller, Albert O'Neal, Earl C. Robertson, John Schwarzenbach, Carl F. Schmutz, F. Brooke Whiting, Frank Wolfhope, George G. Young and Clifton W. White.

Officers will be elected at a later meeting. Present officers are: Clifton W. White, president and general manager; Tasker G. Lowndes, vice-presndent; John Schwarzenbach, treasurer; Carl F. Schmutz, secretary, and Frank Wolfhope, auditor.

Hold Late Drills

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 20 (AP) John Marshall College might not have the best basketball team in the country, but it puts in a strong bid for having the most unusual practice hours.

The only time the Jersey Justices, as Marshall is called, can get together is late at night, with the result that practice sessions usually start at about 10 p. m., and sometimes don't end until after midnight.

Hialeah Prospers Despite Strike

Bets Exceed Million; Yates Is Threatened

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—Grooms and exercise boys remained on strike against Hialeah race course today, but the track enjoyed its biggest day of the 1947 meeting when 17,992 fans wagered $1,200,311—nearly $200,000 more than opening day Friday.

Track Safety Director John Madala reported that "the strike situation had definitely eased" with the return of over one-third of the some 800 grooms and exercise boys who had failed to report to work Friday in protest to the elimination of $10 bonus awards.

Trainers, owners and jockeys who had been feeding, rubbing down and galloping their mounts since Friday reported that many of their grooms and stable help had returned.

Earlier today, Trainer Don Yates, 53, reported to police that he had been threatened by an elderly negro groom this morning at the Tropical Park stable area. He said that the man drew a knife but nothing further occurred when another trainer, armed with a pitchfork, intervened. He said the groom had attempted to call three of his workers from their jobs.

Samuel D. Riddle's Shaker captured the $4,000 feature Venetian Handicap by two lengths to return $11.80 for $2. It was the Glen Riddle Farm's second victory of the day; Merry Lass won the fourth.

Centerville Reds Get Franchise In Interstate

Eight-Club Circuit Is Ready For 1947

The Interstate Baseball League became an eight-club circuit for the 1947 season last night when the Centerville (Pa.) Reds were granted a franchise over two other applicants at a meeting of league representatives at the Loyal Order of Moose Home.

Alton Nave and John Hafer represented the Centerville team which was represented in the Bi-State League in 1946.

John J. Long, league president, said that the Reds were voted in as the eighth team by the margin of 5 to 2, the seven holdover teams casting ballots.

The franchise which was forfeited by Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, of Cumberland, last season, was also sought by the Cumberland All-Stars, a negro aggregation, and Wellersburg, Pa. Robert M. "Sparky" Chisholm acted as spokesman for the All-Stars.

Centerville posted its $50 franchise fee and other fees for the league's operating expense. So did the seven other clubs, namely, Fort Cumberland Post, of the American Legion; the Cumberland Eagles, the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose, Moorefield American Legion, Mt. Savage, Hyndman and Barrelville.

The league voted to raise the salaries of the secretary-treasurer and umpire-in-chief and also voted to compensate President Long for his services during the 1937 season.

The league's executive committee will present the schedule at the next session of the circuit, the date of which is yet to be announced. The league will hold a Shaughnessy playoff as last season. Opening contests will be staged early in May.

yes! BRESKO

DOG FOOD NOW HAS IT

We have discovered a special new process, by which we cook fresh raw liver into the famous BRESKO, making it even more palatable and more nourishing than ever.

BRESKO is a correct blend of the needed meat meal vitamins and other essentials.

Don't confuse Fresh Raw Liver with Liver Meal. Fresh Raw Liver is vastly better since the valuable liver juices are preserved. Liver is invaluable for body and blood building in certain dietary deficiencies.

To give your dog the benefit of this essential food to the fullest degree, you must give him BRESKO. He'll like it so well that he'll beg you for more.

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21.—Walter Wanger wasn't kidding when he said he's going to spend money to get the best property available for Susan Hayward. He's just planked down $200,000 for the rights to Henry James' novel, "The Aspern Papers." Part of the cash went to Lenardo Berkovitch, who submitted a fine adaptation, with a new title of "The Lost Love."

Linda Darnell

This will be Susie's next following "Smash Up" and goes into production in February. Wait 'til you see that girl in "Smash Up," my little red-headed friend finally came into her own. Her performance and Lee Bowman's sets a new high for each of them. Martin Gable, no relation to Clark, associate producer of "Smash Up," gets the directing assignment.

This last week when Joe Fields, son of Lou Fields, was handed a check for $80,000 for the rights of a life story of Weber & Fields, a terrific human interest story was revealed.

Joe handed Mrs. Joe Weber, widow of Weber, half of the check, which meant a lot to her, since the 1929 crash practically wiped out all her husband's fortune. She can now take it easy if she doesn't have too pay too much for income tax.

Metro plans to use Van Johnson and Gene Kelly in the roles of Weber & Fields. That would give Van the chance he's wanted, to do a musical comedy.

Ann and Jack Warner are back in Paris and will stay there until they go to London, the 27th of January.

While in Paris, they heard a Parisian favorite, Yves Montand, sing, and Jack signed him pronto. In the cable received today, Monsieur Warner says, "Montand has the charm of Maurice Chevalier, the versatility of Danny Kaye, and he's very handsome."

Well, we'll take a look at him in Hollywood and see if we agree.

Errol Flynn has denied the interview that he was purported to have made to a reporter on a News magazine, saying he was retiring from the movies. He was said to have given a farewell address at Kingston, Jamaica in which he stated, "I am grateful to Hollywood not only for the material things, but for the physical peace it's brought me."

From the Myrtle Bank Hotel in Jamaica, comes this word from Errol. "I'm not retiring. I'm coming back to make pictures. I never talked to a representative of the magazine and never made any such statement."

Well, let them fight it out. I'm just reporting what he said, whether he did or not, I wouldn't be knowing.

Chatter in Hollywood: It's as safe as a government bond that Linda Darnell and Pev Marley will take off on a "second honeymoon" as soon as she finishes "Forever Amber". And you may quote me, kids!

These two have never fallen out of love and I remember that one of the things Linda told me when she gave me their divorce story was that she and Pev didn't have enough time to spend together. "He's always just starting a picture as I finish one," she said, "we never had a chance to take a honeymoon when we were married."

Well, you can make a good safe bet that when they made up, that little detail will be attended to. Travel folders of England and also South America are already strewn all over her dressing room.

Pitiful to hear that Jessie Matthews, London movie star, has suffered such a complete nervous breakdown that she has lost her memory and is in a sanitarium. Jessie is one of the most popular of the English stars and we knew her long before such charmers as Deborah Kerr and Ann Todd came on the scene.

In an effort to help her regain her memory, her ex-husband has written Ray Driscoll, in Hollywood, asking him to send on sketches of clothes she designed for her movies when both were with British-Gaumont.

They are hoping that something, anything—will strike a response that will set her on the road to recovery.

Wedding bells will ring on the set of "My Wild Irish Rose" next Wednesday. Joy Ames, and Dick Landry, dancers, are getting married. Landry was a war hero with eight decorations.

They met while they were making the picture, and pardon me, but I see the publicity hand of Alex Evelove in this. He's the head of Warners' publicity. I was absolutely convinced of it when I was told that Dennis Morgan and Andrea King, the stars of the picture, will be best man and matron of honor.

Here's a poll I call IMPORTANT! Several weeks ago I met Burton Herrington, a veteran paralyzed from the waist down, and we had a talk over whether similarly injured service men would like the idea of living in "Vetville," sponsored by Harry Revel.

"Vetville" is the community within itself where men injured in the war would live and pursue their trades.

"I'm going to talk to some of my pals, Miss Parsons," Burton told me, "and find out." Saturday he telephoned me that he had personally interviewed 715 wounded men. "And out of that number only 36 said they wouldn't want to be segregated."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Nancy Guild and Edward Lasker are coldler than last week's weather. He can't even get her on the telephone. . . . Lana Turner leaves for Mexico Tuesday, and she'll stay until "Captain From Castile" is finished. Tyrone Power, who has been very homesick, won't be any longer. . . . Oh, dear, this I can't bear. Turban Bey and Marilyn Maxwell at a table for two at Ciro's. . . . Very touching when Dorothy Patrick, who plays Mrs. Jerome Kern in "Till The Clouds Roll By," walked over and spoke to Mrs. Kern at the premiere. It was an emotional evening for the widow of the beloved song writer whose happy married life is all told in the movie. . . . Lauri Lupino Lane, a cousin of Ida, was married in England to Kathleen Astor, no relation to the American family. . . . A fortune is being paid Jerry Colonna to do a television broadcast in England. . . . The operation which Leland Hayward has needed for so long, will be performed on Thursday or Friday of this week. He's in much better condition now to stand it. . . . Latest word from Mrs. Walter Lang's bedside is that she's improving. Wonderful news. . . . Great credit goes to Jimmy McHugh for the swimming and diving exhibition he is sponsoring. His idea is to turn over the funds for a youth center in Beverly Hills. Esther Williams, Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Helser, Sammy Lee, and Vicki Manola will compete in this two day event which starts January 23 and 24. . . . Why does Jean Cabin deny that he married Maria Mauban? A French paper carried the news, and some of his closest French friends in Hollywood claim to have had letters from him. Charlie Feldman, however, Gabin's agent, says Jean is not married. I wonder. . . . The Hal Roach dinner dance in honor of Bebe Daniels, my favorite doctor, and himself for their collective birthdays was a great success. Imagine a sit-down affair for 150 people. This three-way birthday celebration started in 1931, and has come on every year except during the war years, when Hal and Dr. Martin were in the army, and Bebe was overseas, also working for the army. No one ever mentions ages. These three always became young and play pranks on each other once a year. Actually, their birthdays were earlier in the week, but Saturday seemed the best time to stay up late.

The weekend was very gay. Harold Janss' party for his daughter, Gina, who is singing in the Palm Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel, brought out both socialites and film celebrities. Harold is justly proud of his daughter. Let me say, the Beverly Hills cuisine is becoming famous in our town.

That's all today.

No Vacations

BELEM, Brazil — (AP) — Living expenses in this northern Brazilian city have risen so high that even the grave diggers are asking an increase in pay. In their petition for better working hours and more money, they complained that they could take no vacation and should be reimbursed for this and for holiday work.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21.—Walter Wanger wasn't kidding when he said he's going to spend money to get the best property available for Susan Hayward. He's just planked down $200,000 for the rights to Henry James' novel, "The Aspern Papers." Part of the cash went to Lenardo Berkovitch, who submitted a fine adaptation, with a new title of "The Lost Love."

Linda Darnell

This will be Susie's next following "Smash Up" and goes into production in February. Wait 'til you see that girl in "Smash Up," my little red-headed friend finally came into her own. Her performance and Lee Bowman's sets a new high for each of them. Martin Gable, no relation to Clark, associate producer of "Smash Up," gets the directing assignment.

This last week when Joe Fields, son of Lou Fields, was handed a check for $80,000 for the rights of a life story of Weber & Fields, a terrific human interest story was revealed.

Joe handed Mrs. Joe Weber, widow of Weber, half of the check, which meant a lot to her, since the 1929 crash practically wiped out all her husband's fortune. She can now take it easy if she doesn't have too pay too much for income tax.

Metro plans to use Van Johnson and Gene Kelly in the roles of Weber & Fields. That would give Van the chance he's wanted, to do a musical comedy.

Ann and Jack Warner are back in Paris and will stay there until they go to London, the 27th of January.

While in Paris, they heard a Parisian favorite, Yves Montand, sing, and Jack signed him pronto. In the cable received today, Monsieur Warner says, "Montand has the charm of Maurice Chevalier, the versatility of Danny Kaye, and he's very handsome."

Well, we'll take a look at him in Hollywood and see if we agree.

Errol Flynn has denied the interview that he was purported to have made to a reporter on a News magazine, saying he was retiring from the movies. He was said to have given a farewell address at Kingston, Jamaica in which he stated, "I am grateful to Hollywood not only for the material things, but for the physical peace it's brought me."

From the Myrtle Bank Hotel in Jamaica, comes this word from Errol. "I'm not retiring. I'm coming back to make pictures. I never talked to a representative of the magazine and never made any such statement."

Well, let them fight it out. I'm just reporting what he said, whether he did or not, I wouldn't be knowing.

Chatter in Hollywood: It's as safe as a government bond that Linda Darnell and Pev Marley will take off on a "second honeymoon" as soon as she finishes "Forever Amber". And you may quote me, kids!

These two have never fallen out of love and I remember that one of the things Linda told me when she gave me their divorce story was that she and Pev didn't have enough time to spend together. "He's always just starting a picture as I finish one," she said, "we never had a chance to take a honeymoon when we were married."

Well, you can make a good safe bet that when they made up, that little detail will be attended to. Travel folders of England and also South America are already strewn all over her dressing room.

Pitiful to hear that Jessie Matthews, London movie star, has suffered such a complete nervous breakdown that she has lost her memory and is in a sanitarium. Jessie is one of the most popular of the English stars and we knew her long before such charmers as Deborah Kerr and Ann Todd came on the scene.

In an effort to help her regain her memory, her ex-husband has written Ray Driscoll, in Hollywood, asking him to send on sketches of clothes he designed for her movies when both were with British-Gaumont.

They are hoping that something, anything—will strike a response that will set her on the road to recovery.

Wedding bells will ring on the set of "My Wild Irish Rose" next Wednesday. Joy Ames, and Dick Landry, dancers, are getting married. Landry was a war hero with eight decorations.

They met while they were making the picture, and pardon me, but I see the publicity hand of Alex Evelove in this. He's the head of Warners' publicity. I was absolutely convinced of it when I was told that Dennis Morgan and Andrea King, the stars of the picture, will be best man and matron of honor.

Here's a poll I call IMPORTANT! Several weeks ago I met Burton Herrington, a veteran paralyzed from the waist down, and we had a talk over whether similarly injured service men would like the idea of living in "Vetville," sponsored by Harry Revel.

"Vetville" is the community within itself where men injured in the war would live and pursue their trades.

"I'm going to talk to some of my pals, Miss Parsons," Burton told me, "and find out." Saturday he telephoned me that he had personally interviewed 715 wounded men. "And out of that number only 36 said they wouldn't want to be segregated."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Nancy Guild and Edward Lasker are colder than last week's weather. He can't even get her on the telephone. . . . Lana Turner leaves for Mexico Tuesday, and she'll stay until "Captain From Castile" is finished. Tyrone Power, who has been very homesick, won't be any longer. . . . Oh, dear, this I can't bear. Turban Bey and Marilyn Maxwell at a table for two at Ciro's. . . . Very touching when Dorothy Patrick, who plays Mrs. Jerome Kern in "Till The Clouds Roll By," walked over and spoke to Mrs. Kern at the premiere. It was an emotional evening for the widow of the beloved song writer whose happy married life is all told in the movie. . . . Lauri Lupino Lane, a cousin of Ida, was married in England to Kathleen Astor, no relation to the American family. . . . A fortune is being paid Jerry Colonna to do a television broadcast in England. . . . The operation which Leland Hayward has needed for so long, will be performed on Thursday or Friday of this week. He's in much better condition now to stand it. . . . Latest word from Mrs. Walter Lang's bedside is that she's improving. Wonderful news. . . . Great credit goes to Jimmy McHugh for the swimming and diving exhibition he is sponsoring. His idea is to turn over the funds for a youth center in Beverly Hills. Esther Williams, Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Helser, Sammy Lee, and Vicki Manola will compete in this two day event which starts January 23 and 24. . . . Why does Jean Cabin deny that he married Maria Mauban? A French paper carried the news, and some of his closest French friends in Hollywood claim to have had letters from him. Charlie Feldman, however, Gabin's agent, says Jean is not married. I wonder. . . . The Hal Roach dinner dance in honor of Bebe Daniels, my favorite doctor, and himself for their collective birthdays was a great success. Imagine a sit-down affair for 150 people. This three-way birthday celebration started in 1931, and has come on every year except during the war years, when Hal and Dr. Martin were in the army, and Bebe was overseas, also working for the army. No one ever mentions ages. These three always became young and play pranks on each other once a year. Actually, their birthdays were earlier in the week, but Saturday seemed the best time to stay up late.

The weekend was very gay. Harold Janss' party for his daughter, Gina, who is singing in the Palm Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel, brought out both socialites and film celebrities. Harold is justly proud of his daughter. Let me say, the Beverly Hills cuisine is becoming famous in our town.

That's all today.

No Vacations

BELEM, Brazil — (AP) — Living expenses in this northern Brazilian city have risen so high that even the grave diggers are asking an increase in pay. In their petition for better working hours and more money, they complained that they could take no vacation and should be reimbursed for this and for holiday work.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling daughter and sister, Virginia Rae Frantz, who passed away two years ago today.

Do not ask us if we miss her,
There is such a vacant place,
Oft we think we hear footsteps
And see her smiling face.
Days of sadness still come over us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps her ever near us
Though God took her home
Just two years ago.

HER DADDY, MOTHER AND SISTER.

In loving memory of our Father and husband, George B. Harris, who died one year ago, January 20, 1946.

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,

Sadly missed by his WIFE AND CHILDREN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling daughter and sister, Virginia Rae Frantz, who passed away two years ago today.

Do not ask us if we miss her,
There is such a vacant place,
Oft we think we hear footsteps
And see her smiling face.
Days of sadness still come over us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps her ever near us
Though God took her home
Just two years ago.

HER DADDY, MOTHER AND SISTER. 1-21-1t

In loving memory of our Father and husband, George B. Harris, who died one year ago, January 20, 1946.

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by his WIFE AND CHILDREN. 1-21-1t

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Aah, The Good Old Days

In the light of current advertising practises, it's illuminating to look back on the early days of advertising on the radio as revealed in a new book entitled "Commercial Broadcasting Pioneer - The WEAF Experiment 1922-1926" by William Peck Banning. WEAF, the first station to accept advertising, was then owned by American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Neither the company nor the public were at all sure in 1922 that advertising was the proper financial support for broadcasting. The press, eying a potential competitor, was both dubious and alarmed.

John Crosby

Consequently, A.T. and T., which was still primarily in the business of selling telephone service, laid down strict rules to avoid offending the public. Mr. Banning reminds us that no direct advertising was permitted in those days. In other words, the sponsor could not invite the public to buy its product. Sales arguments about the virtue of the product, now taken as a matter of course, were totally banned.

About all the sponsor got for his money was the privilege of saying that so-and-so presented the program. However, A.T. and T. relaxed enough to allow sponsors to label various entertainers with their names. This brought out a rash of trade-named singers and comedians which will stir memories in anyone who remembers those days. Remember the Happiness Boys (Billy Jones and Ernest Hare), one of radio's earliest comedy teams, who were sponsored by the Happiness Candy Stores? Those were the days (1923) of the Cliquot Club Eskimos, the Ipana Troubadors, the Gold Dust Twins, and the A. & P. Gypsies. The Cliquot Club Eskimos, incidentally, were the first to introduce sound effects. The program began and ended with the yelping of Eskimo dogs and the jingling of sleigh bells. Some of the trade-named outfits were jaw-breakers, particularly the B. Fischer and Company's Astor Coffee Dance Orchestra.

Ah, the good old days! Back in 1923, WEAF would not permit a vacuum cleaner company to use the phrase "Sweep no more, my lady," contending that this paraphrase of "weep no more, my lady" from "My Old Kentucky Home" would offend music lovers. This item is passed along to all those who today pillage the classics in search of a good singing commercial tune. Anyone who has ever been driven frantic by that B. O. foghorn will be interested in knowing that WEAF once to held up the first program to be sponsored by a toothpaste company for several weeks because the station manager thought the public would be outraged at the mention of anything so personal as toothpaste.

In spite of these careful regulations, advertising on the air was a subject of hot controversy. In the spring of 1922, "Printer's Ink" ran an editorial which, in the light of subsequent developments, has a prophetic ring. "Handled with tact and discretion, radio advertising might become effective and profitable; on the other hand it may easily be handled in such a way as not only to defeat its own purpose but also to react unfavorably upon advertising in general. . .Any attempt to make radio an advertising medium, in the accepted sense of the term, would we think, prove positively offensive to great numbers of people. The family circle is not a public place and advertising has no business intruding there unless it is invited. . . .The man who does not want to read a paint ad in the newspaper can turn the page and read something else. But the man on the end of the radio must listen or shut off entirely. That is a big distinction that ought not to be overlooked."

That, as a matter of fact, is still the biggest distinction between printed and oral advertising—the matter of choice. But, unfortunately, the conclusions reached by "Printer's Ink" were only partially right. As radio commercials became worse and worse, the public certainly became offended but, on the other hand, the advertising did not—as the editor believed—defeat its own purpose.

Advertising men have learned a lot of things about their trade since 1922. One of them is that the customer may be bitterly offended by radio commercials and will still buy the product. Some of the greatest sales results have been achieved by some of the world's worst commercials. LS MFT, an irritating attention-getter which has been excoriated by countless radio listeners, brought a tremendous increase in sales to Lucky Strike cigarettes.

The fact that advertising on the air intrudes whether you want it or not has been proved to be one of its strongest, not weakest, points. You can hardly blame the sponsors for attempting to push sales as high as possible but the broadcasters can hardly be excused for permitting it.

Anyway radio advertising has come a long, long way since 1923—most of it straight down. To quote that old chestnut of Alexander Pope:

Vice is a monster of so frightful mein
As to be hated needs but to be seen.
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace.

Boston Symphony Orchestra To Be On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—In going to the early time of 8:30 p. m. for its hour concert, the Boston Symphony orchestra on Tuesday night via ABC will take on its second sponsor. The program will originate from Boston under the guest direction of Bruno Walter. Beethoven, Haydn and Strauss music will include the schedule, as Gene Hamilton continues as announce.

One detective yarn, Michael Shayne, having gone off at 8, MBS is replacing it with another under the title of Scotland Yard. It will deal wtih English crime cases, and Basil Rathbone, an ex-portrayer for the radio of Sherlock Holmes, will be given the lead.

Ruth Etting of bygone days of musical comedy, augmented by a radio series, will get back on the air at 8 via NBC. She will be guest of the Rudy Vallee varieties. Incidentally Rudy's show is to be replaced March 11 with a new Milton Berle comedy program.

More ABC changes, due to the shift of the Boston symphony to an hour earlier. The time at 9:30 goes to Rex Maupin's music, while that at 10 is taken by Hank D'Amico's band.

American Forum of MBS at 9:30, with its usual panel of four, is to bring up this question: "Should there be compulsory arbitration in Public service industries?"

More Fibber and Molly comedy for the listeners who tune into NBC at 9:30 . . . Vox Pop of CBS at 9 go to the U. of Washington for their questions . . . Norman Corwin's World Flight in its CBS second appearance at 10 will treat on "Need for World unity."

Instead of the usual Harlem club at 3:30 p. m. MBS has listed a March of Dimes broadcast from a New York fashion show.

The Cliquot Club Eskimos, incidentally, were the first to introduce sound effects. The program began and ended with the yelping of Eskimo dogs and the jingling of sleigh bells. Some of the trade-named outfits were jaw-breakers, particularly the B. Fischer and Company's Astor Coffee Dance Orchestra.

Ah, the good old days! Back in 1923, WEAF would not permit a vacuum cleaner company to use the phrase "Sweep no more, my lady," contending that this paraphrase of "weep no more, my lady" from "My Old Kentucky Home" would offend music lovers. This item is passed along to all those who today pillage the classics in search of a good singing commercial tune. Anyone who has ever been driven frantic by that B. O. foghorn will be interested in knowing that WEAF once to held up the first program to be sponsored by a toothpaste company for several weeks because the station manager thought the public would be outraged at the mention of anything so personal as toothpaste.

In spite of these careful regulations, advertising on the air was a subject of hot controversy. In the spring of 1922, "Printer's Ink" ran an editorial which, in the light of subsequent developments, has a prophetic ring. "Handled with tact and discretion, radio advertising might become effective and profitable; on the other hand it may easily be handled in such a way as not only to defeat its own purpose but also to react unfavorably upon advertising in general. . .Any attempt to make radio an advertising medium, in the accepted sense of the term, would we think, prove positively offensive to great numbers of people. The family circle is not a public place and advertising has no business intruding there unless it is invited. . . .The man who does not want to read a paint ad in the newspaper can turn the page and read something else. But the man on the end of the radio must listen or shut off entirely. That is a big distinction that ought not to be overlooked."

That, as a matter of fact, is still the biggest distinction between printed and oral advertising—the matter of choice. But, unfortunately, the conclusions reached by "Printer's Ink" were only partially right. As radio commercials became worse and worse, the public certainly became offended but, on the other hand, the advertising did not—as the editor believed—defeat its own purpose.

Advertising men have learned a lot of things about their trade since 1922. One of them is that the customer may be bitterly offended by radio commercials and will still buy the product. Some of the greatest sales results have been achieved by some of the world's worst commercials. LS MFT, an irritating attention-getter which has been excoriated by countless radio listeners, brought a tremendous increase in sales to Lucky Strike cigarettes.

The fact that advertising on the air intrudes whether you want it or not has been proved to be one of its strongest, not weakest, points. You can hardly blame the sponsors for attempting to push sales as high as possible but the broadcasters can hardly be excused for permitting it.

Anyway radio advertising has come a long, long way since 1923—most of it straight down. To quote that old chestnut of Alexander Pope:

Vice is a monster of so frightful mein
As to be hated needs but to be seen.
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace.

Boston Symphony Orchestra To Be On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—In going to the early time of 8:30 p. m. for its hour concert, the Boston Symphony orchestra on Tuesday night via ABC will take on its second sponsor. The program will originate from Boston under the guest direction of Bruno Walter. Beethoven, Haydn and Strauss music will include the schedule, as Gene Hamilton continues as announce.

One detective yarn, Michael Shayne, having gone off at 8, MBS is replacing it with another under the title of Scotland Yard. It will deal with English crime cases, and Basil Rathbone, an ex-portrayer for the radio of Sherlock Holmes, will be given the lead.

Ruth Etting of bygone days of musical comedy, augmented by a radio series, will get back on the air at 8 via NBC. She will be guest of the Rudy Vallee varieties. Incidentally Rudy's show is to be replaced March 11 with a new Milton Berle comedy program.

More ABC changes, due to the shift of the Boston symphony to an hour earlier. The time at 9:30 goes to Rex Maupin's music, while that at 10 is taken by Hank D'Amico's band.

American Forum of MBS at 9:30, with its usual panel of four, is to bring up this question: "Should there be compulsory arbitration in Public service industries?"

More Fibber and Molly comedy for the listeners who tune into NBC at 9:30 . . . Vox Pop of CBS at 9 go to the U. of Washington for their questions . . . Norman Corwin's World Flight in its CBS second appearance at 10 will treat on "Need for World unity."

Instead of the usual Harlem club at 3:30 p. m. MBS has listed a March of Dimes broadcast from a New York fashion show.

2 Tri-State Men Held In Georgia For Auto Theft

Durr Also Wanted in Garrett County

Two tri-state area men being held in Atlanta, Ga., on an automobile larceny charge are also wanted in Garrett County on the same count, and one may be wanted in connection with a crime in this city along with two more local men, a reliable source said last night.

The two men being held in Fulton County, Ga., Jail, were identified as Edison Durr, Finzel, Md., and Lewis B. Hacker, 12 Carpenter avenue, Ridgeley, W. Va. Sheriff A. B. Foster, Fulton County, said the men were arrested in Pikeville, Ky., after stealing two cars in Atlanta, and are also wanted in Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., on similar charges.

Wanted By State Police

Maryland State Police placed a detainer against Durr on charges of stealing a car owned by his uncle, Mason Durr, Grantsville, November 25, Sheriff Foster said, and later selling it in Washington, D. C. Durr reportedly returned to Cumberland after disposing of the car and met Hacker, E. E. Andrews, Solicitor General of Fulton County said.

Both men started for Florida shortly after that and allegedly stole an automobile in Jacksonville, Fla., and a motorcycle in Miami, before returning to Atlanta, Ga., where they admit stealing a car from in front of the Atlanta railroad terminal, Georgia officers asserted. The car broke down and they pushed it against a curb near the city's post office, with the help of some passers by, Solicitor Andrews declared, and then changed the wiring on another car which they drove to Pikeville.

After being arrested, they were returned to Atlanta on December 30. Hacker told authorities that Durr spoke to him of a holdup in Cumberland, Md., when a man was "slugged over the head and robbed of $250," and also spoke of stealing cattle from nearby West Virginia which he slaughtered and sold on the black market while meat was scarce, the News was informed last night. Durr is also understood to have been accompanied by another man when he stole his uncle's car.

Hacker in his statement is alleged to have involved two other Cumberland men in the holdup. The holdup referred to was committed on Williams street, when a man was allegedly struck on the head and robbed of $250, the News was informed.

Held On $3,000 Bond

R. S. Lorentz of the Solicitor General's Office said the two men are being held under $3,000 bond for action of the Superior Court after being indicted by the grand jury, on a charge of stealing two cars in Georgia.

Hacker's father said last night he had visited his son in the Fulton County Jail, and was sure that he was innocent of the charges and is being held only as a material witness. He declared that he had sworn statements from local authorities proving that his son had never been arrested before and had never been in trouble.

The father declared that he will attend the trial, expected to be held the last of this month, and added he expects to bring his son home with him after he has testified against Durr.

Hacker's parents declared that Hacker did not know Durr until he made arrangements to go to Florida, and they added that they knew their son was going to make the trip, but declared they did not know Durr had been in trouble or they would not have let their son travel with him.

R. B. Doak, a county official in Pikeville, arrested the two men, Solicitor Andrews declared, on a pickup that was sent out by the Atlanta Police Department.

Hacker's mother declared yesterday that there is a great deal of talk about the trouble, and said she wished authorities would arrest the other two men believed to be implicated in the local holdup, so her son could be cleared.

Mrs. Chambers Is Struck By Car

Mrs. Marie Chambers, 133 Liberty street, cashier at the Garden theatre, suffered slight injuries yesterday when she was struck by an automobile at the corner of Dexter place and South Centre street, police reported last night.

The car which was reportedly driven by Mrs. William Winters, Midlothian, struck Mrs. Chambers as she stepped from the curb on Centre Street, police said. After stopping, the driver left the scene without giving assistance, and police said last night the accident had not been reported, but added that the driver has 24 hours in which to make the report.

Mrs. Chambers walked to her home, police said, but later went to a local physician for treatment for a bruised left leg and complained of pain in her left side. She was advised to return for further treatment today, police declared.

The accident is being investigated by Detective Edwin R. Lilya, of the City Police Department, who declared that the driver identified herself as Mrs. Winters when she stopped. He said he traced the ownership of the car through the license number which was given him by a person who saw the accident.

Police Search For Deaf Negress

Local police were searching last night for Edna Clark, deaf negress, who has been missing from the home of Mrs. Blanch Snyder, 36 Greene street since 11 a. m. yesterday.

Police said she was placed in the care of Mrs. Snyder, by the court. She was described as weighing 130 pounds and four feet, five inches tall. She was wearing a yellow dress and new brown shoes when she disappeared police said.

Local Pilots Take Part In Air Tour

Four more local pilots are taking part in the Sixth annual Gulf Air Tour to Florida, it was announced yesterday by Al Williams, head of the Gulf Aviation Department.

The pilots are, Dr. R. Rhett Rathbone, Fort Cumberland Hotel; W. Ewald Ruehl, Park Heights; Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Braddock Road, and Joseph A. Schriver, 174 Baltimore street.

Designed to encourage cross-country flying, this air tour is open to any pilot of a plane of 125 horsepower or less. Several thousand private pilots from all over the country are expected to take part in this flight. Pilots will use the nearest of four especially worked out Gulf Airways to Florida, all of which will converge at Orlando, branching out from that city to both Florida's east and west coasts. Pilots should complete the tour by January 26. They can fly individually or in groups of their own choosing and can visit any part of Florida they desire.

Ridgeley Legion To Discuss W. Va. Education Tonight

Teachers' Pay Bill Will Be Outlined

Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion of Ridgeley, W. Va., will meet tonight to study proposed legislation for increased pay for teachers in public schools, and to view a number of war films to be shown by Cumberland Navy recruiters.

William L. Dailey, post adjutant said last night the post, along with numerous other West Virginia organizations has been asked to endorse and help finance a program of getting legislation passed for pay raises for teachers. Dailey and Jack Murrell, post commander have gathered considerable information to be presented to the post membership, designed to show the plight of the teachers, the condition of schools and the state's education system.

Dailey said last night, teachers are grossly underpaid and West Virginia rates 47th in the United States in public education.

Below National Averages

Records also indicate that West Virginia's investment in education is $26.56 short per child, of the national average. Fifty-one West Virginia counties, with 95 percent of the state's population provide below average investments in education.

Actual figures show that the United States average investment in school property per student is $404, while West Virginia's average is $260, leaving the state $144 per pupil short.

Current average expenditures per pupil in the United States is $116.99, while West Virginia spends only $90.43 per student, being $26.56 below the national figure.

The percentage of adults in the United States completing one year of high school is 39.1, while in West Virginia the percentage is 27.2, ranking 47th in the country.

In the United States, 29.1 per cent of the population has finished high school, while in West Virginia, only 17.6 percent have high school diplomas, ranking 42nd in the country.

In the country, 4.6 percent have completed four or more years of college, while in West Virginia 3.4 percent have this much education, ranking 41st in the nation.

Even now, reports show, over two-thirds of West Virginia children entering school, quit before high school graduation.

Dailey declared last night that West Virginia's public school system and pay for teachers is nothing to be proud of, and he believes the young veterans, most of whom are now beginning to raise families should take the lead in a program of improved conditions and pay raises for teachers.

More Teachers Needed

He stated he has learned in his study, that 60,000 boys and girls in the state, at the beginning of the current school term, were being taught by teachers with sub-standard training. Two thousand of the state's teachers have less than two years of college and 600 classroom teachers have only high school training. A total of 3,000 West Virginia boys and girls are without teachers and 265 teaching positions could not be filled this year, he explained.

Various organizations in the state are combining in an effort to have legislation passed, Dailey stated, to improve public school system conditions and to increase pay for teachers. The program calls for no increase in real estate, farm or property taxes, but would divert funds from the state's two percent sales tax for the purpose.

Following the discussion on the education question tonight, the post membership will view the war film, "Sea Power in the Pacific," Lt. Com. Hedrick of the Naval Reserve will explain plans for organizing the Cumberland Naval Reserve Division.

Veteran Seeks Divorce And Custody Of Child

Two bills of complaint were entered on the equity docket in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday, for divorce proceedings.

Clifford Howard Shaffer, a veteran, is seeking divorce from Odessa Cline Shaffer whom he married in Westminister, August 2, 1935. Shaffer, claims in the bill, filed by his attorney Earl E. Mangus, that he and his wife lived together in Hyndman, Pa., until October 1945, when he went overseas with the Army. Shaffer says he returned September 11, 1946 and found that his wife had moved to this county in December 1945 and has lived here since. Shipley seeks an absolute divorce and custody of their only child.

Bertha E. Saperstein, represented by Clarence Lippel, seeks divorce from Harry M. Saperstein. The couple claim they married in Baltimore December 28, 1936 and lived for sometime in Buffalo, N. Y. They have no children.

Johnson Reports District Forest Fire Loss In '46

369 Acres Burned Over In 121 Blazes

District Forester William H. Johnson yesterday completed a record of forest fires for 1946 in District No. 1, which embraces Allegany, Garrett, Frederick and Washington counties.

The report shows that during the calendar year, there were 121 fires in the four counties, burning a total area of 369 acres of woodland. Damage was estimated at $1,106 in actual loss of timber, and the fires cost the state and county a total of $1,538.98 to extinguish.

Most of the fires occurred in Allegany county with 44 listed. In Garrett county there was 37, with 19 in Frederick county and 21 in Washington county.

Causes of fires are listed as follows: Smoking, 40; Burning Brush, 27; Camp Fires, 3; Incendiary, 29; Railroads, 9; Miscellaneous Causes, 13.

In connection with the 121 fires there were 30 arrests made and 25 settled by payments of claims. There were five court cases, resulting in three convictions, one acquittal, with one case pending.

The report also indicates that the Spring of the year was the worst period for fires. Seventy-seven of the total of 121 woods fires occurred in the Spring and 44 in the Fall of the year. Brush Burning accounted for most of the early-year fires, with 24 reported, while 23 were caused in the Spring by careless smokers. Only one of the three caused by camp fires was reported in the Spring, the other two in the Fall. Railroads accounted for four in the Spring and five in the Fall. Twenty-one of the 29 incendiary blazes occurred in the Spring.

The report for 1946 follows the trend of the past three or four years, when the District's losses have been the lowest in history. Greater protection, education, more equipment, modern methods and pumpers and radio communications have all been contributing factors to the decrease in fire loss here, Johnson commented.

Nominated at the last meeting of the group were Louis Marrale, Division 1; Arthur Robison, Division 2; George Allen and M. T. Emmart, Division 3; L. A. Robertson, Division 4; D. G. Deffenbaugh, William E. Plummer and Roy E. Davy, Division 5; Division 6, open, and R. C. Burkhart and Richard Kauffman, Division 7.

Members will also take necessary action Sunday on proposed amendments to the 1946-47 agreement between the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and Local 26, Johnson said.

The local will also elect a committee to take charge of balloting on the special assessment, he added.

Army Recruiters Mail 20,000 "Comparo-grams"

In a movie in behalf of Army recruiting, 20,000 "comparo-grams," which compare civilian expenses and savings to financial benefits gained in Army strvice, have been mailed to residents of the tri-state area, Capt. Trinity Lutheran Church Elects Officers First Time In 94 Years

Ernest M. Schaidt Named President

For the first time in its 95-year history, Trinity Lutheran Church, North Centre street, has elective officers to preside at official church functions.

The election was held last night at the first annual voters' meeting under the recently amended church constitution, and resulted in the naming of Ernest M. Schaidt as president, Henry E. Burkhart, vice president, and Clarence F. Hiserman, secretary.

Three new members of the church council also were elected. They are Carl Kiffner, Peter Klavuhn and Jesse George.

For the past 94 years, the pastor has served as chairman of the church council, which meets monthly, and chairman of the voters' meeting, held quarterly.

However, the present pastor, Rev. Philip C. Priester, took the initiative in amending the constitution to provide for elective officers, pointing out that such a system worked satisfactorily at churches where he formerly held pastorates.

Under the rules of the church, the proposed constitutional amendment was first read and passed by a two-thirds majority vote at a voters' meeting six months ago. Three months later it was read and passed, again by a two-thirds vote of a voters' meeting, and became the law of the church.

The president, under the amendment, will be the presiding officer at voters' meetings, which make up the ruling body of the church.

The vice president will preside over the church council, which formulates plans for action and presents them to the voters' meeting in the form of recommendations.

Officers, who will serve one-year terms, also will serve as members of the church council.

Shipley Fails To Appear In Court

The case of James W. Shipley, indicted on a paternity charge was called in Circuit Court yesterday, but Shipley, who was at liberty under bond failed to answer. He had previously, according to the court docket, entered a plea of guilty.

The court ordered him to pay the mother $100 for medical expenses and $8 per month for the child until it is 16 years of age. He was sentenced to serve a year in the Maryland House of Correction in event of default.

Late yesterday afternoon, Sheriff's deputies took Shipley into custody and he was lodged in County Jail last night, pending his appearance before the court.

The court clerk was instructed to enter on the docket that Shipley's bond was forfeited with the right to strike out if necessary.

Leo J. Stemp Faces Trial On Manslaughter

Death-Car Auto Case Scheduled For Today

Several criminal cases were disposed of yesterday in Circuit Court and other indictments returned by the January grand jury will come before the Court today and tomorrow. Only one case yesterday was tried before a jury, the others being heard before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson. Several guilty pleas were entered.

Leo J. Stemp, 22, Piedmont, W. Va., is scheduled to go on trial today on a charge of manslaughter. The young man is said to have been the driver of a coupe which was wrecked December 5, on the McCoole - Westernport road, near McCoole, when two young veterans, James T. Hughes, 22, and Robert L. Dancer, 27, both of Piedmont were killed. Both the victims were passengers in the car.

The trial of three young men, charged with taking $50 from Wilmont Loadman on a local street last October 31, was scheduled to start yesterday but was continued until today. The trio includes Daniel Thomas White, George Stewart and Raymond Gray. They have retained Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., as their attorneys. The case was continued due to the absence of a state witness.

Robbery Trials Wednesday

Robert Logue and Albert Schimminger, charged with robbery, are to be tried Wednesday, court attaches said. They are accused of participating in two holdups of grocery stores, one on Pennsylvania avenue here and the other in Westernport.

According to indictments the two men are charged with armed robbery and accused of taking $250 from Lloyd E. Norris, local grocer; $57 from Anna Mae Newlon, a customer in the store and $20 from Howard Kerns, Westernport grocer. The pair was captured December 19 by Westernport, shortly after the grocery holdup there.

Rejecting the offer of Circuit Court judges to have an attorney appointed to defend him, Festus Albert Jenkins, 32, Berryville, Va., acted as his own counsel yesterday, but failed to convince a jury of his innocence on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Jenkins, an ex-convict, displayed considerable knowledge of court procedure, and officers later commented that "he has been in enough trials to know all the ropes."

The jury, after deliberating less than 30 minutes, returned a verdict of guilty, and Jenkins was taken back to the County Jail, to await sentence. When he refused the offer to have an attorney appointed, Jenkins asserted: "No, I want to tell the truth."

Stole Evening Dress

Jenkins, a former employe of Memorial Hospital, was indicted on a charge of taking an evening dress, valued at $42, from a local cleaning shop, on December 31. He was quoted as saying he took the dress "for a girl friend who didn't have anything to wear to a dance." The garment, of gray silk, was later located in a locker at the hospital and was exhibited in court today.

Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney, who arrested Jenkins, said the man accosted him outside Police Headquarters and inquired about bus schedules. The officer, recognizing the man from a "pick up" bulletin, escorted him to a cell.

When State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris started to give a history of previous convictions against Jenkins, the amateur attorney raised vigorous objections, asserting: "I'm not on trial today for any of those charges."

Police said Jenkins once aroused a resident of Frederick county at night, saying he was "Sergeant May of the State Police," and when the man came to the door, Jenkins jammed a pistol against his chest and took about $200 from him.

Herman Raley, charged with paternity, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned today.

The Court ordered him to pay the mother of the child $69 medical expenses and $8 per month until the child is 16 years of age.

Miller Is Acquitted

Tried before the Court, Raymond Miller, 19 Emily street, was acquitted of a charge of burglary. Miller was indicted with Joseph E. Dorsey, 21, Mt. Savage, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of taking barber tools and supplies worth $48 from the barber shop of Elmer McKenzie, Mt. Savage, November 26. Dorsey testified Miller "acted as lookout" while the shop was entered, but Miller emphatically denied the charge.

Miller was defended by Milton Gerson. Dorsey acknowledged that he served time for law violations.

Roscoe Dewey Leslie, charged with robbing the Virginia avenue store of Elmer G. Beck, Christmas morning of $1,200 withdrew his plea of not guilty, entered Saturday, and entered a plea of guilty yesterday.

George E. Legeer, indicted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses through bogus check transactions, was tried before the Court and found guilty.

Private Trial Started

At noon, the judges retired to the office of Chief Judge Huster and conducted a private trial for Claude Kimmel, Jr., this city, charged with paternity. He was defended by Ed-

Foresters Study District Plans At Conference

Two-Day Session Being Held At Court House

Opening a two-day session in Allegany County Court House here, foresters employed in District No. 1, Department of State Parks and Forestry, began yesterday a series of discussions on forest fire prevention, preservation and conservation of timber and woodland and other problems of interest to the department.

The conference opened yesterday in the Juvenile Court rooms, with roundtable discussions led by State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor, Assistant State Forester H. C. Buckingham, former district forester here, and District Forester William H. Johnson.

Johnson submitted figures showing the number of fires and the total acreage burned each year from 1926 to 1945 inclusive, in this district. During that period, 160,139 acres were burned over for an average of 8,039 acres per year. The number of fires in 20 years totalled 5,813 or an average of 290 fires per year.

The report shows a marked decrease in the number of fires and acreage burned in recent years. In 1945 there were 87 fires burning 640 acres, compared to 111 fires burning 635 acres in 1944.

In 1943, there were 247 fires, burning 2,565 acres, while in 1941 there were 389 fires burning 11,230 acres.

The highest number of fires in any single year of the two decades was in 1930 when 682 forest fires were reported and 43,518 acres were burned. The lowest number of fires was 87 in 1945 and the lowest figure on acreage was 635 in 1944.

Education Program Lauded

Kaylor asked the foresters if they can contribute the rapid decrease in number of fires to any particular cause, and if they can account for the decrease in the amount of timber acreage lost by fire.

Detailed comments by Herman D. Toms, forest supervisor of Frederick county; Elmer Uphole, supervisor of Garrett and Brooke Bidgin, supervisor of Allegany county, disclosed that more modern methods, better equipment, education and FM radio are among the contributing factors.

Kaylor explained that in the past couple of years, a broad program of forestry education and woodland fire prevention has been inaugurated in public schools throughout the state. This program includes visual education such as motion picture films, demonstrations and books and literature of particular interest to school children.

The youngsters not only learn to prevent fires, but also pass the information on to their parents at home, who likewise profit from the program.

Foresters agreed at the conference that the installation of the department's statewide FM two-way radio system has helped fires and getting the organization in motion to combat it. With this rapid means of communication, inter-lacing all the state's woodlands and in constant reach of all department employes, fires are controlled before they spread over wide areas.

Other foresters praised the use of Panama Pumper trucks, with which they are now equipped. These pumps, attached to fan belt of truck engines, and drawing water from 75 gallon tanks on the trucks, make it possible to extinguish fires quickly and without delay.

Kaylor Praises Foresters

Kaylor said the constant vigilance of employes of the department, and their efforts in the education program have been important contributing factors to the decrease in fire loss of the state's timberland and woodland, and has resulted in great savings to counties, state and individuals.

At today's session, there will be further roundtable discussion with some demonstrations including proper methods of cutting lumber. A miniature sawmill has been installed in the Court House basement for demonstration purposes.

Other topics will include future plans of the department and other various means of preventing and combatting forest fires.

Durr Also Wanted In Garrett County

Two tri-state area men being held in Atlanta, Ga., on an automobile larceny charge are also wanted in Garrett County on the same count, and one may be wanted in connection with a crime in this city along with two more local men, a reliable source said last night.

The two men being held in Fulton County, Ga., Jail, were identified as Edison Durr, Finzel, Md., and Lewis B. Hacker, 12 Carpenter avenue, Ridgeley, W. Va. Sheriff A. B. Foster, Fulton County, said the men were arrested in Pikeville, Ky., after stealing two cars in Atlanta, and are also wanted in Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., on similar charges.

Wanted By State Police

Maryland State Police placed a detainer against Durr on charges of stealing a car owned by his uncle, Mason Durr, Grantsville, November 25, Sheriff Foster said, and later selling it in Washington, D. C. Durr reportedly returned to Cumberland after disposing of the car and met Hacker, E. E. Andrews, Solicitor General of Fulton County said.

Both men started for Florida shortly after that and allegedly stole an automobile in Jacksonville, Fla., and a motorcycle in Miami, before returning to Atlanta, Ga., where they admit stealing a car from in front of the Atlanta railroad terminal, Georgia officers asserted. The car broke down and they pushed it against a curb near the city's post office, with the help of some passers by, Solicitor Andrews declared, and then changed the wiring on another car which they drove to Pikeville.

After being arrested, they were returned to Atlanta on December 30. Hacker told authorities that Durr spoke to him of a holdup in Cumberland, Md., when a man was "slugged over the head and robbed of $250," and also spoke of stealing cattle from nearby West Virginia which he slaughtered and sold on the black market while meat was scarce, the News was informed last night. Durr is also understood to have been accompanied by another man when he stole his uncle's car.

Hacker in his statement is alleged to have involved two other Cumberland men in the holdup. The holdup referred to was committed on Williams street, when a man was allegedly struck on the head and robbed of $250, the News was informed.

Held On $3,000 Bond

R. S. Lorentz of the Solicitor General's Office said the two men are being held under $3,000 bond for action of the Superior Court after being indicted by the grand jury, on a charge of stealing two cars in Georgia.

Hacker's father said last night he had visited his son in the Fulton County Jail, and was sure that he was innocent of the charges and is being held only as a material witness. He declared that he had sworn statements from local authorities proving that his son had never been arrested before and had never been in trouble.

The father declared that he will attend the trial, expected to be held the last of this month, and added he expects to bring his son home with him after he has testified against Durr.

Hacker's parents declared that Hacker did not know Durr until he made arrangements to go to Florida, and they added that they knew their son was going to make the trip, but declared they did not know Durr had been in trouble or they would not have let their son travel with him.

R. B. Doak, a county official in Pikeville, arrested the two men, Solicitor Andrews declared, on a pickup that was sent out by the Atlanta Police Department.

Hacker's mother declared yesterday that there is a great deal of talk about the trouble, and said she wished authorities would arrest the other two men believed to be implicated in the local holdup, so her son could be cleared.

Mrs. Chambers Is Struck By Car

Mrs. Marie Chambers, 133 Liberty street, cashier at the Garden theatre, suffered slight injuries yesterday when she was struck by an automobile at the corner of Dexter place and South Centre street, police reported last night.

The car which was reportedly driven by Mrs. William Winters, Midlothian, struck Mrs. Chambers as she stepped from the curb on Centre Street, police said. After stopping, the driver left the scene without giving assistance, and police said last night the accident had not been reported, but added that the driver has 24 hours in which to make the report.

Mrs. Chambers walked to her home, police said, but later went to a local physician for treatment for a bruised left leg and complained of pain in her left side. She was advised to return for further treatment today, police declared.

The accident is being investigated by Detective Edwin R. Lilya, of the City Police Department, who declared that the driver identified herself as Mrs. Winters when she stopped. He said he traced the ownership of the car through the license number which was given him by a person who saw the accident.

Police Search For Deaf Negress

Local police were searching last night for Edna Clark, deaf negress, who has been missing from the home of Mrs. Blanch Snyder, 36 Greene street since 11 a. m. yesterday.

Police said she was placed in the care of Mrs. Snyder, by the court. She was described as weighing 130 pounds and four feet, five inches tall. She was wearing a yellow dress and new brown shoes when she disappeared police said.

Ridgeley Legion To Discuss W. Va. Education Tonight

Teachers' Pay Bill Will Be Outlined

Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion of Ridgeley, W. Va., will meet tonight to study proposed legislation for increased pay for teachers in public schools, and to view a number of war films to be shown by Cumberland Navy recruiters.

William L. Dailey, post adjutant said last night the post, along with numerous other West Virginia organizations has been asked to endorse and help finance a program of getting legislation passed for pay raises for teachers. Dailey and Jack Murrell, post commander have gathered considerable information to be presented to the post membership, designed to show the plight of the teachers, the condition of schools and the state's education system.

Dailey said last night, teachers are grossly underpaid and West Virginia rates 47th in the United States in public education.

Below National Averages

Records also indicate that West Virginia's investment in education is $26.56 short per child, of the national average. Fifty-one West Virginia counties, with 95 percent of the state's population provide below average investments in education.

Actual figures show that the United States average investment in school property per student is $404, while West Virginia's average is $260, leaving the state $144 per pupil short.

Current average expenditures per pupil in the United States is $116.99, while West Virginia spends only $90.43 per student, being $26.56 below the national figure.

The percentage of adults in the United States completing one year of high school is 39.1, while in West Virginia the percentage is 27.2, ranking 47th in the country.

In the United States, 29.1 per cent of the population has finished high school, while in West Virginia, only 17.6 percent have high school diplomas, ranking 42nd in the country.

In the country, 4.6 percent have completed four or more years of college, while in West Virginia 3.4 percent have this much education, ranking 41st in the nation.

Even now, reports show, over two-thirds of West Virginia children entering school, quit before high school graduation.

Dailey declared last night that West Virginia's public school system and pay for teachers is nothing to be proud of, and he believes the young veterans, most of whom are now beginning to raise families should take the lead in a program of improved conditions and pay raises for teachers.

More Teachers Needed

He stated he has learned in his study, that 60,000 boys and girls in the state, at the beginning of the current school term, were being taught by teachers with sub-standard training. Two thousand of the state's teachers have less than two years of college and 600 classroom teachers have only high school training. A total of 3,000 West Virginia boys and girls are without teachers and 265 teaching positions could not be filled this year, he explained.

Various organizations in the state are combining in an effort to have legislation passed, Dailey stated, to improve public school system conditions and to increase pay for teachers. The program calls for no increase in real estate, farm or property taxes, but would divert funds from the state's two percent sales tax for the purpose.

Following the discussion on the education question tonight, the post membership will view the war film, "Sea Power in the Pacific," Lt. Com. Hedrick of the Naval Reserve will explain plans for organizing the Cumberland Naval Reserve Division.

Johnson Reports District Forest Fire Loss In '46

369 Acres Burned Over In 121 Blazes

District Forester William H. Johnson yesterday completed a record of forest fires for 1946 in District No. 1, which embraces Allegany, Garrett, Frederick and Washington counties.

The report shows that during the calendar year, there were 121 fires in the four counties, burning a total area of 369 acres of woodland. Damage was estimated at $1,106 in actual loss of timber, and the fires cost the state and county a total of $1,538.96 to extinguish.

Most of the fires occurred in Allegany county with 44 listed. In Garrett county there was 37, with 19 in Frederick county and 21 in Washington county.

Causes of fires are listed as follows: Smoking, 40; Burning Brush, 27; Camp Fires, 3; Incendiary, 29; Railroads, 9; Miscellaneous Causes, 13.

In connection with the 121 fires there were 30 arrests made and 25 settled by payments of claims. There were five court cases, resulting in three convictions, one acquittal, with one case pending.

The report also indicates that the Spring of the year was the worst period for fires. Seventy-seven of the total of 121 woods fires occurred in the Spring and 44 in the Fall of the year. Brush Burning accounted for most of the early-year fires, with 24 reported, while 23 were caused in the Spring by careless smokers. Only one of the three caused by camp fires was reported in the Spring, the other two in the Fall. Railroads accounted for four in the Spring and five in the Fall. Twenty-one of the 29 incendiary blazes occurred in the Spring.

The report for 1946 follows the trend of the past three or four years, when the District's losses have been the lowest in history. Greater protection, education, more equipment, modern methods and pumpers and radio communications have all been contributing factors to the decrease in fire loss here, Johnson commented.

Trinity Lutheran Church Elects Officers First Time In 94 Years

Ernest M. Schaidt Named President

For the first time in its 95-year history, Trinity Lutheran Church, North Centre street, has elective officers to preside at official church functions.

The election was held last night at the first annual voters' meeting under the recently amended church constitution, and resulted in the naming of Ernest M. Schaidt as president, Henry E. Burkhart, vice president, and Clarence F. Hiserman, secretary.

Three new members of the church council also were elected. They are Carl Kiffner, Peter Klavuhn and Jesse George.

For the past 94 years, the pastor has served as chairman of the church council, which meets monthly, and chairman of the voters' meeting, held quarterly.

However, the present pastor, Rev. Philip C. Priester, took the initiative in amending the constitution to provide for elective officers, pointing out that such a system worked satisfactorily at churches where he formerly held pastorates.

Under the rules of the church, the proposed constitutional amendment was first read and passed by a two-thirds majority vote at a voters' meeting six months ago. Three months later it was read and passed, again by a two-thirds vote of a voters' meeting, and became the law of the church.

The president, under the amendment, will be the presiding officer at voters' meetings, which make up the ruling body of the church.

The vice president will preside over the church council, which formulates plans for action and presents them to the voters' meeting in the form of recommendations.

Officers, who will serve one-year terms, also will serve as members of the church council.

Death-Car Auto Case Scheduled For Today

Several criminal cases were disposed of yesterday in Circuit Court and other indictments returned by the January grand jury will come before the Court today and tomorrow. Only one case yesterday was tried before a jury, the others being heard before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson. Several guilty pleas were entered.

Leo J. Stemp, 22, Piedmont, W. Va., is scheduled to go on trial today on a charge of manslaughter. The young man is said to have been the driver of a coupe which was wrecked December 5, on the McCoole - Westernport road, near McCoole, when two young veterans, James T. Hughes, 22, and Robert L. Dancer, 27, both of Piedmont were killed. Both the victims were passengers in the car.

The trial of three young men, charged with taking $50 from Wilmont Loadman on a local street last October 31, was scheduled to start yesterday but was continued until today. The trio includes Daniel Thomas White, George Stewart and Raymond Gray. They have retained Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., as their attorneys. The case was continued due to the absence of a state witness.

Robbery Trials Wednesday

Robert Logue and Albert Schimminger, charged with robbery, are to be tried Wednesday, court attaches said. They are accused of participating in two holdups of grocery stores, one on Pennsylvania avenue here and the other in Westernport.

According to indictments the two men are charged with armed robbery and accused of taking $250 from Lloyd E. Norris, local grocer; $57 from Anna Mae Newlon, a customer in the store and $20 from Howard Kerns, Westernport grocer. The pair was captured December 19 by Westernport, shortly after the grocery holdup there.

Rejecting the offer of Circuit Court judges to have an attorney appointed to defend him, Festus Albert Jenkins, 32, Berryville, Va., acted as his own counsel yesterday, but failed to convince a jury of his innocence on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Jenkins, an ex-convict, displayed considerable knowledge of court procedure, and officers later commented that "he has been in enough trials to know all the ropes."

The jury, after deliberating less than 30 minutes, returned a virdict of guilty, and Jenkins was take back to the County Jail, to awa.. sentence. When he refused the offer to have an attorney appointed, Jenkins asserted: "No, I want to tell the truth."

Stole Evening Dress

Jenkins, a former employe of Memorial Hospital, was indicted on a charge of taking an evening dress, valued at $42, from a local cleaning shop, on December 31. He was quoted as saying he took the dress "for a girl friend who didn't have anything to wear to a dance." The garment, of gray silk, was later located in a locker at the hospital and was exhibited in court today.

Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney, who arrested Jenkins, said the man accosted him outside Police Headquarters and inquired about bus schedules. The officer, recognizing the man from a "pick up" bulletin, escorted him to a cell.

When State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris started to give a history of previous convictions against Jenkins, the amateur attorney raised vigorous objections, asserting:" I'm not on trial today for any of those charges."

Police said Jenkins once aroused a resident of Frederick county at night, saying he was "Sergeant May of the State Police," and when the man came to the door, Jenkins jammed a pistol against his chest and took about $200 from him.

Herman Raley, charged with paternity, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned today.

The Court ordered him to pay the mother of the child $69 medical expenses and $8 per month until the child is 16 years of age.

Miller Is Acquitted

Tried before the Court, Raymond Miller, 19 Emily street, was acquitted of a charge of burglary. Miller was indicted with Joseph E. Dorsey, 21, Mt. Savage, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of taking barber tools and supplies worth $48 from the barber shop of Elmer McKenzie, Mt. Savage, November 26. Dorsey testified Miller "acted as lookout" while the shop was entered, but Miller emphatically denied the charge.

Miller was defended by Milton Gerson. Dorsey acknowledged that he served time for law violations.

Roscoe Dewey Leslie, charged with robbing the Virginia avenue store of Elmer G. Beck, Christmas morning of $1,200 withdrew his plea of not guilty, entered Saturday, and entered a plea of guilty yesterday.

Foresters Study District Plans At Conference

Two-Day Session Being Held At Court House

Opening a two-day session in Allegany County Court House here, foresters employed in District No. 1, Department of State Parks and Forestry, began yesterday a series of discussions on forest fire prevention, preservation and conservation of timber and woodland and other problems of interest to the department.

The conference opened yesterday in the Juvenile Court rooms, with roundtable discussions led by State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor, Assistant State Forester H. C. Buckingham, former district forester here, and District Forester William H. Johnson.

Johnson submitted figures showing the number of fires and the total acreage burned each year from 1926 to 1945 inclusive, in this district. During that period, 160,139 acres were burned over for an average of 8,039 acres per year. The number of fires in 20 years totalled 5,813 or an average of 290 fires per year.

The report shows a marked decrease in the number of fires and acreage burned in recent years. In 1945 there were 87 fires burning 640 acres, compared to 111 fires burning 635 acres in 1944.

In 1943, there were 247 fires, burning 2,565 acres, while in 1941 there were 389 fires burning 11,230 acres.

The highest number of fires in any single year of the two decades was in 1930 when 687 forest fires were reported and 43,518 acres were burned. The lowest number of fires was 87 in 1945 and the lowest figure on acreage was 635 in 1944.

Education Program Lauded

Kaylor asked the foresters if they can contribute the rapid decrease in number of fires to any particular cause, and if they can account for the decrease in the amount of timber acreage lost by fire.

Detailed comments by Herman D. Toms, forest supervisor of Frederick county; Elmer Uphole, supervisor of Garrett and Brooke Bidgin, supervisor of Allegany county, disclosed that more modern methods, better equipment, education and FM radio are among the contributing factors.

Kaylor explained that in the past couple of years, a broad program of forestry education and woodland fire prevention has been inaugurated in public schools throughout the state. This program includes visual education such as motion picture films, demonstrations and books and literature of particular interest to school children.

The youngsters not only learn to prevent fires, but also pass the information on to their parents at home, who likewise profit from the program.

Foresters agreed at the conference that the installation of the department's statewide FM two-way radio system has helped fires and getting the organization in motion to combat it. With this rapid means of communication, inter-lacing all the state's woodlands and in constant reach of all department employes, fires are controlled before they spread over wide areas.

Other foresters praised the use of Panama Pumper trucks, with which they are now equipped. These pumps, attached to fan belt of truck engines, and drawing water from 75 gallon tanks on the trucks, make it possible to extinguish fires quickly and without delay.

Kaylor Praises Foresters

Kaylor said the constant vigilance of employes of the department, and their efforts in the education program have been important contributing factors to the decrease in fire loss of the state's timberland and woodland, and has resulted in great savings to counties, state and individuals.

At today's session, there will be further roundtable discussion with some demonstrations including proper methods of cutting lumber. A miniature sawmill has been installed in the Court House basement for demonstration purposes.

Other topics will include future plans of the department and other various means of preventing and combatting forest fires.

District No. 1, embraces Allegany, Garrett, Frederick and Washington counties, which comprise most of the state's woodlands and forests.

The foresters held an informal dinner party last night at Cottage Inn.
